IT'S HANDS OFF FOR UNCLE SAM

United States Doesn't Intend to Intervene in Mexico.

State Department Issues Circular for Purpose of Stopping Rumors of Intervention—Sincere Friendship Is Expressed for Mexico.

Washington, February 13.—"Foolish stories" about American intervention, circulated in Mexico through erroneous press dispatches, have aroused so much feeling throughout the troubled southern republic and so endangered the safety of American residents there, that the state department today issued a circular to its diplomatic and consular representatives in Mexico denying all such stories and reiterating expressions of good wil and sincerest friendship for Mexico.

Circular Issued by United States.

The circular, which went to nearly every one of the American consular officers in Mexico, as well as to the embassy at Mexico City, was as follows:

"You are authorized officially to deny through the local press and otherwise, as under instructions to do so, all foolish stories of intervention, than which nothing could be further from the intentions of the government of the United States, which has the sincerest friendship for Mexico and the Mexican people, to whom it hopes will soon return the blessings of peace, which is not concerned with Mexico's internal political affairs, and which demands nothing but the respect and protection of American life and property in the neighboring republic.

"You will observe the strictest impartiality and in nowise interfere between contending forces, counselling Americans in your district to act likewise. You will use the language of this instruction."

"Loose Talk" by Army Officers.

"Loose talk" by army officers and officials of the army on the situation in Mexico also is a menace to the friendly relations existing between the United States and that government, according to Representative Slayden, democrat, of Texas, member of the house military affairs committee. In a speech in the house today he protested against incendiary language used by certain officials, whom he did not mention by name.

"I protest against this inexcusable effort to disturb the peace," he said; "this blatant yellow journalism with official or semi-official approval."

Mr. Slayden feared that a continuance of such talk "might bring about a situation in which congress would be forced into war."

Anti-American Feeling.

Reports to the state department during the day from Mexico indicated that the situation in the south was substantially the same, though in Vera Cruz, Oaxaca and Michoacan conditions probably were worse and anti-American feeling seemed to have arisen at San Luis Potosi.

Foreigners at Colima were reported to fear an outbreak of lawlessness. Considerable apprehension was felt among the Americans at Guanajuato. From Monterey came a report that bandits had taken some small towns between Parras and Saltillo, and that a railroad bridge had been burned. Telegraphic communications were reopened between Torreon, Durango, Chihuahua and Monterey.

WILLIAM HUNTER SUCCEEDS HAFER

Becomes Assistant to Commissioner of Immigration.

Announcement is made by Colonel Sam C. Dunlap, commissioner, Georgia bureau of industries and immigration, of the appointment of William B. Hunter as assistant to the commissioner, to succeed Ed M. Hafer, resigned.

Mr. Hunter's experience has been one to make him peculiarly fitted for the duties upon which he is entering. After graduating from the Iowa state agricultural college he entered daily newspaper work in the city of Chicago, serving in various reportorial and editorial capacities..

When W. H. Truesdale left Chicago to accept the position of president of the Lackawana railroad he took Mr. Hunter with him to establish first the advertising and afterwards the industrial department of that railroad.

After devoting several years to well-known advertising campaigns Mr. Hunter came to Georgia and established and developed what is now considered one of the best of the large peach orchards in the state. He was prominent in the work which resulted in the formation of the Georgia fruit exchange, of which he is now the president.

Mr. Hafer retires from the bureau to become the actuary of the Cosmopolitan Life Insurance Company, of Atlanta, of which he was one of the incorporators and organizers. Mr. Hafer has been connected with the bureau since its organization in June, 1905.

HE SAYS TEDDY CAN'T COME BACK

M'Veagh Confident That Roosevelt Will Not Oppose Taft.

"Only National Crisis," Declares Secretary of Treasury, "Would Justify Such a Change of Front, and This Roosevelt Must Know."

Lansing, Mich., February 13.—Franklin MacVeagh, secretary of the treasury, firing an administration preconvention campaign gun here tonight at the annual dinner of the Zach Chandler Republican Club, where he was the guest of honor, came out flatly with the expressed belief that Theodore Roosevelt "would not—and with his make-up, could not—run against Taft," for the republican presidential nomination this year.

Secretary MacVeagh confined his confidence to the present contest, however, insisting that there might come a time when the former president would be justified in re-entering a presidential race. Averring that Colonel Roosevelt had placed himself out of the presidential arena by his declaration of 1904, the secretary said:

"It may be difficult to explain away the present appearance created by Roosevelt's silences and the volubilities of his insurgent visitors; but that to my mind is not so difficult as it is to believe that Roosevelt would accept a nomination this year under any conceivable circumstances. For it must be admitted that nothing short of a national crisis—such as may come in the future, but is not within the range of sane imagination now—would ever be accepted as justification for such a change of front—and this Roosevelt must know."

Progressive Defined.

The secretary of the treasury undertook to define "what is a progressive," giving to President Taft that title and calling the republican insurgents reactionaries. His conclusions regarding republican progressives were epitomized in these words:

"We have today a progressive administration and a progressive president; and we have a reactionary opposition within the party—reactionary notwithstanding the honest belief of those who are carrying it on that they are progressives and not reactionaries at all."

Mr. MacVeagh argued that there were various kinds of progressives. One set, he said, put their weight upon agitation and education, another upon legislation and achievement. Both, he regarded as necessary to progress.

"There is a third class of progressives," he continued, "who give constant emphasis to the title of progressive, but who haven't the invariable scent for progress; and who are liable to trail off and bark up the wrong tree— the reactionary tree—now supporting the old log-rolling system of tariff legislation and now attacking the supreme court. Our present insurgents are of this class."

Mr. MacVeagh argued that President Taft had assumed and had been faithful to the policies of his predecessor —"the platform of the progressives in the republican party"—augmenting them by "another distinguished list of great policies of his own."

"Taft and Roosevelt," Mr. MacVeagh continued, "have been two eminent presidents, and their administrations

W. J. BURNS ASKS ATLANTA BRANCH

Famous Detective Petitions Police Commission for Permission.

William J. Burns will establish an Atlanta branch of his famous detective agency, if a petition to the board of police commissioners for permission under the city laws is acted on favorably at the next regular meeting.

The petition was presented to the board last night, and fulfills a statement which Burns made some weeks ago in Washington, at the Lorimer investigation, that he would shortly take steps to maintain an office here. The board took the usual course of procedure, referring the petition to a committee for a report. Commissioners Johnson, White and Fain compose the committee.

With the first intimation that Burns would make an effort to get into Atlanta, the labor forces in the city became active, and it is said that no little opposition was exhibited at that time. Now that the formal petition has been presented a fight is expected to develop.

Whether the fight will be waged in the committee room or carried before the board when the committee's report is made, remains to be seen. The committee's investigation will be more or less of a perfunctory nature, as the objects of the agency, to do bank and other legitimate work, and their intention to abide by the city laws, refrain from any part in divorce and similar cases, has been stated in the petition.

The petition to the board was signed by C. E. Sears, as "special agent American Bankers' association," but it was understood and so stated that Sears is a Burns man, and that Burns is at the head of all the work for the association named.

The petition was made in Sears' name because of the city law which requires that any detective agency doing business in the city shall be headed by a citizen of Atanta.

Seven prominent banks stamped their recommendations on Sears' petition. They were the Central Bank and Trust Company, Atlanta National Bank, American National Bank, Lowry National Bank, Third National and Fourth National Banks, and the Fulton National Bank.

SHE PUT BABY IN STOVE AND BURNT IT TO DEATH

Halifax, N. S., February 13.—Mrs. Ada McCarren put her 5-weeks-old baby in the stove and burned it to death, according to a confession which the police say she made today when arrested on suspicion that she could account for the disappearance of her child, which had been missing for nine days. Small bones, found in an ash barrel in the house, led to the arrest of the woman, who had previously explained the child's disappearance by saying that it had been kidnaped. The police believe she is mentally deranged.

Hoodooed by 13.

Judge Nash R. Broyles entered the court room yesterday afternoon, looked at the big calendar on the wall and shivered as he drew his coat collar.

"J-just thirteen years ago today, on the 13th of February, the thermometer went down to 13 below zero," he said. "That is, it did unofficially. The weather man said it was 8 below, I believe, but my thermometer said it was 13—and nearly everybody believed mine! We had mighty little court that day, too."

J. J. FLYNT SEEKS HILLYER'S PLACE

Prominent Spalding County Lawyer Will Offer for Commission.

Judge James J. Flynt, of Spalding county, stated last night that he would make formal announcement, within the next few days for the railroad commission.

His entrance into the race follows the published statement of Judge Hillyer, that he is out of politics, and will not offer for reelection.

Of Spalding, who will run for railroad commissioner.

Judge Flynt is now the judge of the city court of Griffin. He served at one time as president of the Georgia state senate and for several terms was a member of the legislature.

M. J. Johnson, of Bartow, is also in the race.

NORFOLK SOUTHERN GOING TO CHARLOTTE

Charlotte, N. C., February 13.—The first four options on property aggregating $88,000 which would have expored tomorrow, were taken up today by the Norfolk Southern railroad, and and it is announced tonight that options on adjoining real estate, swelling the total to $275,000 will follow in sequence. The entire property is to be used for depot and terminal facilities for the extension of the road from Raleigh to Charlotte and the real estate deal today means that the extension of the road to Concord and Charlotte is an assured fact.

Charlotte citizens in two days raised the $50,000 bonus demanded by the railroad. The further definite announcement was made tonight that the actual work of construction on the extension would begin within two months.

WOULDN'T BE "FIRED" BY THE UNITED STATES

Washington, February 13.—Thomas Brown, a negro laborer in the capitol, and who twelve years ago declined to be "fired," died today of old age.

Brown entered the service of the government in 1865, but more than a decade ago Colonel "Dick" Bright, then sergeant-at-arms of the senate, sought to discharge him.

"Go 'way from here with all that foolish talk," retorted Brown. "I haven't got time to talk to you. I've got my work to do."

Several senators interceded for Brown and the order of dismissal was withdrawn. The old negro was one of the characters of the capitol.

NO BANNERS FLY FOR THE REPUBLIC

Chinese Apparently Indifferent to Change of Government.

There Is Not the Slightest Difference in the Demeanor of the Masses—Ching Hwa Republic Is Now the Official Name.

Pekin, February 14.—(12:45 a. m.)—The indifference of the Chinese masses to the form of government is very evident in the capital. They accept the news of the republic without any demonstration either favorable or unfavorable. There is not the slightest difference apparent on the streets. The police did not instruct the people to hang out flags in celebration of the new regime and therefore no bunting was displayed.

Owing to the preparations for the Chinese new year on February 18 the people have no time to take the abdication of the throne into consideration except in regard to the prospect of the soldiers marring the festivities of the only holiday in the year. More than 30,000 troops are in Pekin or stationed around the city walls. Their discipline has always been lax and it is now less stringent than ever and this fact makes looting possible. Nevertheless Yuan Shi Kai is expected to succeed in averting this.

Chinese officeholders are confident than Yuan Shi Kai controls the political situation and believe that the south will accept what he offers. The south, however, has not yet signified its acceptance of the proposed coalition.

Yuan Shai Kai officially informed the foreign legations here today that the throne had instructed him to form a republican government which will for the time being continue to be carried on with his former cabinet.

CHING HWA IS NAME ADOPTED FOR THE CHINESE REPUBLIC

Washington, February 13.—The Ching Hwa republic is the official name of the new Chinese government. Ching Hwa means Chinese.

Formal announcement of the passing of the great Ta Ching dynasty, which has ruled China for about 300 years, and the erection of a modern republic on its ruins was made at the state department today by the Chinese legation, which supplied a copy of an official telegram from Pekin to the following general effect:

"While a provisional government is being established all ministers accredited to foreign governments shall act provisionally as diplomatic representatives and continue to perform their duties as heretofore.

"All members of the legation staff and consular officers (in America) shall temporarily retain their present posts."

It is not known here if the appointment of Alfred Sze to be minister to Washington, which was made in the last days of the tottering dynasty, will stand and the belief is that he will give place to some pronounced republican.

The state department will instruct its officers in China to do business in a provisional way with Yuan Shi Kai in the north and President Sun in the south until a complete fusion of the two elements is effected, when the regular government of all China will be duly recognized.

Man Burned to Death.

Wilkesboro, N. C., February 13.—Joel McMeekin was burned to death at 8 o'clock last night when his residence near Strotners was destroyed by fire. He is supposed to have been overcome by the smoke and found himself unable to leave the dwelling. He was 80 years of age and a well-known citizen.

MERCHANTS URGE FARMERS TO CUT COTTON ACREAGE

"Another 16,000,000 Bale Crop Will Bankrupt Hundreds," Says James Smith.

AVOID FINANCIAL TROUBLE BY CROP DIVERSIFICATION

Southern Merchants Are Welcomed to Atlanta by Governor Brown, Mayor Winn and President Moore—Visitors Will Be Guests at Theater Party Tonight.

The Rock Hill plan of cotton reduction was indorsed by the Southern Merchants' convention at their first meeting, in the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, The south made 15,000,000 to 16,000,000 bales of cotton in 1911, 3,000,000 more than the spinners need in any one year; and,

"Whereas, The European mills generally and many American mills are now buying the surplus of the last crop to carry over into 1912; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we, the Southern Merchants' convention, deem it unwise to encourage the production of a large crop in 1912, because another bumper crop would certainly sell for a very low price, which, in turn, would cause general and serious demoralization in business. Be it further

"Resolved, That we indorse the 'Rock Hill plan' of cotton acreage reduction and pledge ourselves to work for it."

"Another 16,000,000-bale crop of cotton will bankrupt half the farmers in the state and hundreds of merchants," said a speaker at the Southern Merchants' convention yesterday and the 500 and more of the most progressive business men in Dixie gathered in the hall at the time subscribed to the statement.

"Plant only so much cotton as can be raised at a profit and devote the remainder of your endeavor to the raising of corn and other crops needed at home," said another speaker, and the convention went on record as believing that this is the only certain method of avoiding the financial stringency which is now following in the wake of the south's record cotton crop.

Rock Hill Plan Favored.

Not only did the convention go on record as believing that the reduction of the cotton crop is the farmer's only salvation in the matter of better crops, but it went further and adopted a resolution favoring the Rock Hill plan of reduction, following strong addresses by prominent men from different sections of the state, showing the absolute necessity of drastic and immediate action to remedp existing conditions relative to the price of cotton.

The convention met in the convention hall at the Piedmont hotel at 10:30 o'clock, and when the meeting was called to order there was hardly standing room for the merchants who have come to Atlanta to discuss problems of interest, both to them and the farmers.

The session was opened by an invocation by the Rev. John E. White, after which J. K. Orr, the chairman, in a short but telling speech summed up the situation and outlined the purpose of the convention.

Limit Crop and Credit.

Farmers should plant no more cotton than they can sell at a profit, said Mr. Orr, nor should merchants sell more than they can comfortably finance.

In summing up, Mr. Orr said:

"This convention would not be in vain if it do no more than to adopt and live up to a platform that would send this message to the south.

"The farmer should plant no more cotton than is profitable. He should buy no more on credit than he can pay for promptly, even on a short crop and a low price.

"That the merchant should sell no more than he can finance comfortably and meet his bills promptly."

The Governor's Welcome.

In the name of the state Governor Brown extended to the merchants a hearty welcome to Atlanta.

"You are convening in the greatest state in the union," said the governor, "and I am filled with pride as I stand here and look into the faces of so many Georgians who have helped our great state to take her proper place among those of the nation.

"You are convened in a state where 200 bushels of corn or 5 bales of cotton may be raised on an acre; whence marble has been shipped thousands of miles to go into public buildings of other states, and Georgia pine into homes from Brazil to Germany.

"Pride, pardonable I feel certain, animates me as I stand here and say to you that Georgia has always kept pace and more with the progress of her sister states and by your efforts I believe she will do even greater things in the future."

For Home Industries.

Mayor Courtland S. Winn, in his address of welcome on behalf of the city, made a plea for the patronage of home industries by all Georgians and southerners.

It was only a few years ago, the mayor showed, since it was necessary to send cotton, iron, wool and practically every raw product to the north or east to have it manufactured. Now

WHAT rhyme running glad as the gleam of a rill
When Spring her rose-journey's beginning,
For the April-bright skies
In the dreams of her eyes—
All the doves of the Loves to her rose-realm take wing,
Love's vision Elysian—the Sweetheart of Spring!

II.

And dimpled-cheeked Joy in glad tether;
A world for the bliss
Of the dream of a kiss,
And the smile for which Love highest heaven would miss
In the blossomy, Spring-woven weather!
Oh, Love is her Valentine-vassal, and bright
He dreams of her face in the lilies and light.

AND take you this heart, Dream o' Love, if you will;
Saint Valentine waits to confess you;
But I pledge him today
You will lead him astray!
He'll lift you and kiss all confession away—
He's a saint who would sin to caress you!
Sweet vision Elysian, how glad your commands—

A Word From Mr. Bergdoll

In design and construction the Bergdoll "30" is simplicity itself and will give the reliability, efficiency and comfort of cars of double its market value. It embodies in a popular priced car all the practical features and advantages of the best foreign and domestic development.

In manufacturing nothing has been forsaken that has proven its worth and we have adopted nothing without the most relentless tests.

It is not remarkable in any one particular at the expense of all others and will meet the reasonable requirements of the average automobilist.

Contrary to the customary rule of building from one to three experimental cars, we built fifty of these machines and put them into taxicab service and they were turned over to inexperienced operators.

These cabs at this writing have covered in the neighborhood of fifteen thousand miles with the best results.

One of the strongest claims which we make to any prospective buyer of our product, is that we recognize our obligations to that customer as only the beginning when he contracts for one of our cars, and we make every possible effort to care for each owner and see that he continues to obtain from his cars the satisfaction that he is entitled to.

We consider the buyer the "court of last resort" and from his decision as to the merit of our cars there is no appeal.

The satisfied owner is the best salesman and it is our hope to have fifteen hundred persons this coming season engaged in selling Bergdoll "30's" to their acquaintances, explaining the points of superiority and proudly demonstrating their efficiency.

An Honest Statement of Facts

No American manufacturer of motor cars gives as much value for the money as is given in the Bergdoll.

It compares favorably in quality of material, design and workmanship with any car built and will endure under the most severe test.

Every part is of material which gives the greatest strength, is correctly proportioned and fashioned according to the latest accepted practices of construction.

Bergdoll cars show the utmost efficiency in service and economy. They have speed and endurance, ride comfortably and are easily managed. We know of no owner who would not endorse our claims, because Bergdoll owners are satisfied.

While there are many things which enter into the building of a satisfactory automobile, there is, however, no mystery or secret in connection with the manufacturing of motor cars at the present date.

It is simply a question of whether or not the manufacturer desires to give the purchaser value.

At the present stage of the industry most cars use a good quality of material.

The design and accuracy of workmanship of these units enter largely into the cost of manufacture.

Therefore, the real essential in selecting a car which will give the best results is to note the practice of construction of the several units.

It follows if these units are correctly designed on well established principles and the quality is of the best and the machining done accurately, that the car should give satisfactory service.

It has been our aim to build a machine for general use which would answer the full requirements of the most exacting user—a car that will give constant service with the least cost of maintenance.

FARMERS URGED TO CUT ACREAGE

this is no longer the case, he pointed out, since the south is coming to the front as is no other section in the matter of manufacturing industries.

"And," said the mayor, "if you can buy as good goods, and buy them as cheaply right here in Georgia, wh, go to the east for them?

"If Atlanta furnishes you as good market as does New York is there either reason or patriotism in going to the latter city?"

Entire Nation Interested.

"The matters you are to consider," said President Wilmer L. Moore, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, in his address of welcome, "are of interest not only to yourselves and to all Georgians, but to the nation at large.

"It is fitting that this meting should be held in Atlanta, for this is already the commercial center of the south and is soon to become the financial center. The matters which are to be discussed at this convention are of vital interest not only to the farmers and the merchants of the state, but to every citizen of this country.

"The south has grown to such proportions that her welfare affects that of the nation and the problems which you Georgians have gathered to discuss are being faced today by every southern state."

Bankruptcy for Farmers.

That another crop of cotton as large as that of last year will bankrupt almost half the farmers of the south and hundreds of merchants was the opinion set out in a letter from James M. Smith, and in the address of J. G. Anderson, of Rock Hill, S. C., the originator of the Rock Hill plan for the reduction of cotton acreage.

"It is my candid opinion," said Mr. Smith, in his letter, "that another 16,000,000-bale crop of cotton will bankrupt half the farmers and thousands of business men in the south."

"Every farmer in the south," continued the letter, "should do what he knows to be the sensible thing, determine to reduce his cotton acreage at least 33 1-3 per cent and then stick by his determination."

Rock Hill Plan.

J. G. Anderson, the originator of the Rock Hill plan for the reduction of cotton acreage, went thoroughly into the plan and its workings for the benefit of the convention.

The plan, explained Mr. Anderson, has spread to a number of southern states and the present outlook for its success is very bright. He gave it as his opinion that the farmers of the south have become so thoroughly aroused over conditions that next season will see a cut of at least 15 per cent in the cotton production, and possibly 25.

Mr. Anderson also went into the matter of manipulation of cotton prices by speculators and read a number of newspaper clippings to show that the cotton bears are attempting to spread the impression that there will be no cut in next year's crop—this for the purpose of keeping the price of cotton down.

Yancey Hill, of Montezuma, followed Mr. Anderson and used figures showing the advantage of a small crop at a large price over a large crop at a small price. He showed that a 10,000,000-bale crop at 15 cents will bring $110,000,000 more than a 16,000,000-bale crop at 8 cents.

Grain Raising.

The close of the day's session was taken up with the discussion of grain as a money crop, and it was shown by more than one speaker that grains in Georgia can not only be made to pay, but to pay as well or better than cotton in many instances.

W. A. Brannon, of Moreland, Ga., showed by actual figures that he had netted a larger profit from an acre of corn than from an acre of cotton planted alongside it, and gave it as his opinion that this is not an unusual case. The south's evil, he said, is an over-production of cotton and an under-production of corn.

Today's Program.

The convention will meet again this morning and both a morning and an afternoon session will be held. Many matters of more than ordinary interest will come up. In fact, it is believed that today's meetings will develop matters of more importance than did the first.

This afternoon the visitors at the convention will take in the big department and wholesale houses of the city, while in the evening they will be entertained at the Forsyth theater.

Cuthbert Sells Cotton.

Cuthbert, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—The recent advance in price of cotton has resulted in about 2,000 of the 5,000 bales stored in Cuthbert's warehouses being sold. That remaining will have to be moved at even better prices.

government remains precisely the same and is confined to extreme watchfulness and preparedness for any emergency.

UNITED STATES BEING URGED TO INTERVENE IN MEXICO

Berlin, February 13.—The reported murder of E. Hans Angleman, German ranch owner, at El Provenir, in Mexico, has attracted attention of the newspapers here to conditions prevailing in Mexico.

The general impression is that the United States will be forced ultimately to interfere in that country.

The Boersen Zeitung says:

Die Post declares it would be shameful for Germany to leave the United States to exact punishment for the murder of a German, and demands the immediate dispatch of the German cruiser Bremen to Mexico to take action.

GREAT ACTIVITY IS SHOWN BY THE MEXICAN REBELS

Mexico City, February 13.—Pascual Orozco's personality has served to subdue the rebels at Casa Grandes, according to an official dispatch from Chihuahua, but the improvement in the situation indicated by this is more than offset by reports from other parts of the republic, especially Torreon. On the government side, the score since Sunday shows 20 prisoners taken at Meoquil, Chihuahua, and 26 killed, and 46 prisoners taken yesterday afternoon in a fight near Lerdo, seven miles from Torreon.

Against this the rebels have overrun the Laguna district in the state of Coahuila and appeared in the states of Durango, Zacatecas and Guanajuato, while Antonia Rojas and Braulio Hernandez in Chihuahua continue to evade the government troops. In the south the Zapatistas continue the campaign of pillage and in Guerrero the followers of Jesus Salgado showed remarkable activity today after repeated avowals on the part of the government forces that his insurrection was practically at an end.

In the state of Durango the rebel ranks have been filled for the most part by field hands who have joined in looting the haciendas on which they have been employed. Today the consuls in the city of Durango, capital of the state, sent messages to their diplomatic representatives in Mexico City, appealing to them to secure additional military protection.

In the state of Zacatecas the rebel outbreak is characterized, as it is in the south, by raiding and looting, in many instances the mobs committing their depredations to the cry of "Viva Zapata."

REBELS PROCLAIM GOMEZ AND ASK TORREON TO YIELD

Torreon, Mexico, February 13.—Rebels in the Laguna district, estimated at one thousand, today formally proclaimed Emilio Vasquez Gomez president of the republic and Rafael Garza Aldape vice president, and demanded the surrender of this city. Their demand for surrender is not taken seriously by the local authorities, who place confidence in the loyalty of the garrison, believed to be strong enough to resist attack.

Since effecting an organization the rebels have displayed a remarkable change in tactics. Looting and indiscriminate raiding are not reported so frequently and the belief here is that someone is directing their energies along more definite lines. Early in the day reports reached here that the Vasquistas had robbed the American Smelters Securities Company at Terneras, and the Penoles Mining Company, at Mapimi, both American concerns.

Railway traffic in and out of Torreon has been practically abandoned.

Many American women and children are ready to leave on the first train sent north. The Chinese residents, fearing another massacre like that of last spring, are greatly alarmed and many have already left for Monterey and towns along the frontier.

REV. MR. PATTON SPEAKS AT MISSION CONVENTION

Winston-Salem, N. C., February 13.—The Laymen's Missionary Convention, which opened here yesterday, came to a close tonight with addresses by the Rev. J. O. Revis, of Columbia, S. C., and J. Campbell White, of New York. Meetings for both men and women were held in the afternoon. At the morning session addresses were made by Dr. Paul Des Chweinitz, of Bethlehem, Pa., on "How to Make Missions Interesting to Men;" W. E. Doughty, of New York, on "Important Features of the Educational Policy of the Laymen's Movement," and the Rev. W. R. Patton, of Atlanta, department secretary of missions of the Protestant Episcopal church in the south, on "The Necessity of a Great Advancement."

Don't Let Skin and Hair Show Your Age

"Don't look old until you have to. A clear, soft complexion makes any woman look younger than she is. To preserve your complexion, use powders and creams sparingly, if at all. In the morning, rub the face, neck and arms gently with a lotion made by dissolving a small original package of mayatone in half a pint of witch hazel. It won't harm the most delicate skin, and it gives a dainty natural color that is most attractive.

"If any treatment will make hair grow, dry shampooing with therox will. Just put a cupful of cornmeal in a fruit jar, mix in well an original package of therox, sprinkle a little of the mixture on the head once a week, and brush out thoroughly. It makes the hair clean, soft, silky and lustrous—and easy to do up.

BANTAMS BOX IN WHIRLWIND STYLE

Tremendously fast and clever boxing marked the ten-round go between Eddie Sherman and "K. O." Eger, the New York bantamweights, in the windup at the second stag of the Gate City Athletic Club. When the limit had been traveled both boys were fresh, neither was marked to any extent and the draw decision of Referee Burke proved popular with the big crowd that saw the mill.

While the slugging that Atlanta boxing fans so dearly love was absent in the windup, there was enough cleverness, good foot work and lightning flashing of gloves in the go to keep the crowd yelling from gong to gong.

Sherman took an early lead by beautiful infighting and not until the fifth did Eger show any very considerable offense. They boy with the "K. O." title adopted the left handed form used by Knockout Brown and began to cut loose long range uppercuts with his left hand, varying this with right swings to the face that puzzled Sherman. He, however, flashed back in the eighth and ninth and by rushing and pretty hits from difficult angles earned these two rounds. The tenth was all Eger and once or twice Sherman's knees sagged, but he was going fast at the bell.

In the semi-windup, Young Seymour, who was scheduled to meet Jack Dougherty, of Chattanooga, failed to put in an appearance and to fill in Bobbie Van, the well-known Atlanta boxer, volunteered to fill the gap. Van was evidently in poor shape and his usual good judgment of distance was lacking. Nevertheless, he was even with the Chattanooga lightweight in the first and jolted him without serious return in the second. He started the third like a winner, but his wind gave out, as well as his strength. He was dropped for the count of nine with a light blow and was counted out a few seconds later when he fell more from exhaustion that the force of Dougherty's wallop.

In the first event, Nat Dewey, the Chattanooga negro heavyweight, met "Rough House" Ware, another Senegambian, in eight slow rounds. Referee Burke called it a draw.

As the headliner for next week the management of the club announced Al Kubiak, the Michigan Giant, against Soldier Dulaney, of New York.

THOUGHT HE WAS BOXING CHAMP

New York, February 13.—John Bals, a young prize fighter, who says that he is in training for a world's championship battle next September, is confined in Bellevue hospital today undergoing a five days' inspection at the hands of the alienists there. He was committed to the hospital following his arrest on Broadway for ripping up signs and other street ornaments. He explained to the magistrate that he was merely indulging in a little exercise.

"Why, judge," he said, "can it be that you don't know me? I'm the millionaire prize fighter. I'm in training to lick Wolgast. You know I've been the lightweight champion for twenty years. It would be against pugilistic policy to send me to Bellevue for it might spoil my chance to lick Wolgast."

A Few Tiger Facts.

Detroit, February 13.—Here are a few facts concerning the Tigers:

Hughie Jennings has been in baseball longer than any other man on his team's roster. He has seen twenty-one years of service. Other veterans are Sam Crawford, 12 years; Jim Delehanty, 11; Wild Bill Donovan, 17; Davy Jones, 10; George Mullin, 11, and Boss Schmidt, 10.

Pitcher Donovan is the oldest player on the team. He is 35 years old. Five men are on the pay roll who have not obtained their majority.

Crawford is the heaviest, weighing 195 pounds. Owen Rush is the lightest. He tips the scales at 148 pounds.

Some Good Bouts Here.

PEACE IS PLEASING EVEN IN PUGILISM | SOME INVADERS DON'T STEAL ALL THE COUNTRY

By FUZZY WOODRUFF

Peace in pugilism is a thing to be abhorred. Too many times have the patrons of fistic things paid their hard-earned money to see bosom friends lock themselves in loving embrace for any number of rounds with nary a serious blow struck, only to leave the ring unsoiled to begin fighting in earnest for their respective shares of the gate receipts.

But peace in the promotion of pugilism is a thing to be greeted with loud and enthusiastic shouts, especially in Atlanta, and now, after dark war clouds have threatened the manly art in these diggin's for several weeks, tranquility again reigns and the dove is flapping its wings, both at Harry Staten's club and the Gate City Athletic organization.

Staten has agreed, after constant urging of his friends, to hold his bouts on Friday night and leave Tuesday night to the Gate City people. In this he showed himself a true friend of boxing, as he has always done.

For it was Staten who, by the hardest kind of work, revived the boxing game in Atlanta and restored it in the confidence of the enthusiasts, after they had been cruelly imposed upon.

With the Gate City and Staten running on Tuesday night, as they were, one or both was bound to go under. Sooner or later the game would have expired through the animosity caused by the decease of either organization.

Under conditions, as they exist now, there is no reason why the game should not progress merrily and Atlanta be made the center of real classy boxing in the south.

While John Arthur Johnson is picking his easy money with poor Pueblo Jim Flynn, he might well be getting in shape for a regular battle that he must face in the course of some eight or ten months. No follower of boxing with enough gray matter in his steeple to tell the difference between a fresh and an over-ripe egg, after tasting both, can possibly see anything more than a pot-boiler for both champion and challenger in the Flynn-Johnson go. Flynn's size, age and the dozens of beatings he has taken from second raters prohibit his being dangerous in any respect before the big black.

But Monday night saw the development of a real "white hope," when Carl Morris handily trimmed big Jim Stewart in ten rounds. Morris has been coming steadily and surely. He was a green boxer when he was beaten by Flynn, but in that engagement he showed a wonderful ability to assimilate punishment and a gameness that promised things. It is also true that Flynn could not hit him hard enough to make him back up to any degree.

Morris was carefully handled after that and since then he has won all his battles handily, showing improvement in each go. Monday he had a real test. Stewart is big, strong, can hit and is a regular boxer. Still, before Morris' onslaughts he could not stand and only saved himself from being knocked cold by hanging on and doing a foot-race.

Considering that Morris is bigger, every [illegible] is strong, lots younger, and certainly as game as Johnson, and has a capacity to learn, the champion may well look to him. For Jo[illegible] life has been merry since he lowered Jeffries' colors and a merry life it's ne'er helped a scrapper.

The invading hordes of the north will in two short weeks be turning their beaks southward and the south will greet the invasion. Once before it greeted a northern invasion, but it was with curses and minnie balls, and a few other things of a more or less inhospitable nature. In two weeks, though, the Northrons will be cheered as they come. Their weapons of offense and defense will be gazed upon with glee. The only thing to annoy the invaders will be a constant effort on the part of the natives to become better acquainted with the outlanders. For they come to warm their stiffened limbs in the South's sunshine in order to entertain the populace with America's national pastime, and the pastime has done more to cement national relations than joint reunions of the blue and gray, bumper watermelon crops and the bringing in of billions of Yankee capital to develop this fair land. And just as a suggestion to certain gentlemen who are seeking a coveted place that the people give away every four years—put a national subsidy for baseball in your platform and then begin drawing Mr. Taft's salary. What'll you give me for the idea.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, "Buck" O'Brien and "Marty" O'Toole were the pitching sensations of 1911.

Two of these "phenoms" are in the National and one is in the American League.

The Phillies own Alexander, the Boston Red Sox own O'Brien and the much-advertised Mr. O'Toole belongs to little Barney Dreyfuss in Pittsburg.

Now, what would a big league owner give for the three?

A baseball man was asked. His reply was:

"One hundred thousand cash."

Not long ago these three pitchers belonged to one club. This club sold them all, and the total sum received for the trio was $750. The difference that just a few seasons make is $99,250, which is a pretty fair rate of increase in valuation.

The case of these three pitchers shows how scouts can go wrong in their judgment, and now the best of judges often go astray.

Indianapolis is the club that owned Alexander and O'Toole and O'Brien. W. H. Watkins, who gave Detroit her world championship team, is the owner of the Indianapolis team. Charley Carr, who played in the big leagues, at one time for Detroit, and who is to manage Kansas City in the association this year, was manager of the Indianapolis club. Both Carr and Watkins looked these three pitchers over thoroughly and passed them up. They brought a draft price which totals $750.

Other clubs as well as Indianapolis went wrong on these three men. They were wandering around in the "bushes" for several years before they drew attention from major league clubs. And then, with the exception of O'Toole, they did not develop until they were launched in the major leagues.

Detroit had a chance at all three of them. It had a draft in for Alexander. He cost the Phillies $500. One other major league club besides Detroit and Fogel's club put in a draft for him. He had been tipped off to Detroit, but careful investigation did not make his out-and-out purchase appear like a good venture. Just to cover the minor league field thoroughly, Detroit put in a draft. He went to the Phillies by draft and not another magnate envied Fogel for getting him. Nine months later any of those clubs would have been willing to pay something like $25,000 for Alexander.

A peculiar thing about Alexander. He pitched overhand in the minor leagues. He did not show more than the average "bush" pitcher. One day he hurt his arm and could not pitch overhand, so he developed a side-arm delivery which he figured would not be much strain on his arm. It was this side-arm delivery that pitched him to the top notch in the majors last season.

O'Brien, pronounced the best pitcher in the league by Tyrus Cobb, knocked around the minors for several years. Carr had him with his Indianapolis team in Cuba. Frank Navin and Carr talked about O'Brien, but Carr did not see enough in him to advise Detroit to pick him up. The Detroit club also had a scout look O'Brien over when he was pitching down east, but the scout's report did not favor O'Brien.

O'Toole's story is known. Nobody wanted him. They all agreed that he was not fit for major league society. Then suddenly somebody awakened to the fact that he was a great pitcher. Result: Record sale price.

Alexander, O'Toole and O'Brien. these three were a long time coming and were overlooked many times, but when they did arrive, a certain major league magnate would willingly give $100,000 for the three.

CRACKERS INSTRUCTED TO REPORT HERE NOT LATER THAN MARCH 10

Before leaving the city on a hunting trip yesterday, Manager Charley Hemphill mailed instructions to all his players that he will expect them to report for practice here at the latest on March 10. He sets this as the final date of reporting, but expects some of them to arrive just about the time the Yankees do, March 4.

The Yankees and the Crackers will divide the practice hour times at the local park. The Crackers will occupy the morning hours and the Yankees the afternoon until they start their series of spring games, when they will both use the morning for work-outs and play in the afternoon.

BALL PLAYERS LEAVE FAMILY IN POVERTY

Thirty-four old-time ball players are reported to have died during the year 1911, and out of that number all but two are said to have left their families in comparative want, some in abject poverty. Scores of former diamond idols are today laboring for a meager existence. The harvest of dollars which they garnered during the heyday was squandered long ago, and lacking mental equipment for the professional or commercial world, a great many are compelled to fall back upon their only resource—common labor.

COLUMBUS CHAMPS WIN FROM KNOXVILLE FIVE

Knoxville, Tenn., February 13.—(Special.)—Columbus, the undisputed champion basketball team of the south, in a whirlwind game defeated Knoxville Y. M. C. A. tonight by a score of 56 to 41.

Mid-Continent Franchises.

Muskogee, Okla., February 13.—Mid-continent Baseball League men in session here today rejected the application of Abner Davis, of Oklahoma City, who recently sold the Oklahoma City berth to A. E. Maroney and C. W. Kelsey, who propose to build a new park. The franchises now accepted are Muskogee, Fort Smith, Okmulgee, Shawnee, Oklahoma City, Tulsa and Bartlesville. McAlester is an applicant and probably will be accepted.

AMERICAN LEAGUE MOGULS MEETING

Chicago, February 13.—All of the American League club owners and most of the managers are expected to arrive in Chicago today for the league schedule meeting, which is to be held tomorrow.

The playing schedule which has already been drafted, it is expected, will be adopted and the changes in the national agreement ratified. The meeting is not expected to last more than one day.

A change in the agreement which is expected to meet the approval of all clubs makes it imperative for each owner to give new recruits a try-out before they are sent back to the minors.

Elberfeld on War Path.

Chattanooga, Tenn., February 13.—(Special.)—Second Baseman Flick was purchased from Detroit today by the Chattanooga club. He played with Boise, in the Union Association, last year. It is understood that the management is having trouble with Elberfeld and Flick is likely to be the regular second baseman.

Palzer Bests Sailor White.

STATEN'S CARD GOES ON FRIDAY

The Pioneer Boxing Promoter Changes Date From Tuesday to Friday.

Harry Staten, the pioneer boxing promoter of Atlanta, has made another bid for popular favor. Heeding the popular clamor, he has changed the date of his stags from Tuesday to Friday nights, and in so doing he has insured himself the support of the boxing fans of the city in large numbers. Many were the expressions of congratluation when Staten announced his change.

On Friday night he offers a good card. For his main bout he has matched Jackie Clarke, of Hagewich, and Frank Whitney, of Iowa, a boy who ha sgained much fame on the coast.

Charlie Lee, the terror of the preliminary boys, has graduated from an opening bout boy to a semi-windup lad. Staten has imported Bob Mahon from New York to meet Lee and this should prove to be as great a bout as the main bout.

The opening bout of the evening will be a four-round go between Jim Stewart and Eddie King. This bout will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

For the second preliminary Staten has matched Clarence Collins and Joe Griffin.

Staten did not make his announcement of his change in dates until Tuesday morning, the sudden illness of Jerry Murphy, who was attacked with appendicitis, being the cause of the change.

NATIONAL LEAGUE ADOPTS SCHEDULE

Season Will Be Three Days Shorter Than Last Year. Murphy Displeased.

New York, February 13.—The National League baseball schedule for 1912 was adopted and made public at the meeting of the club owners here tonight. The schedule provides for 154 games, as usual, but the season will be three days shorter than last year, beginning one day earlier and closing four days earlier. The season will open April 11, New York at Brooklyn, Philadelphia at Boston, Pittsburg at St. Louis, and Chicago at Cincinnati. The season closes October 8.

Although the schedule was adopted unanimously, it was discussed for hours with heated protests on the part of almost every owner at some of the dates assigned them, with the exception of Mrs. H. R. Britton, the only woman baseball owner in the big league, who represented the St. Louis club. Instead of objections, she had only compliments for the members of the schedule committee upon their work.

Charles W. Murphy, of Chicago, was the most dissatisfied member, because of conflicting dates with the American League on five Sundays during the season.

The only other work accomplished by the league meeting today was the approval of a staff of umpires, including two new arbiters. Clarence Owens, of Kansas City, formerly with the American Association, was appointed to take the place of Hank O'Day, who has become manager of the Cincinnati club, and G. C. Bush, of Davenport, Iowa, was appointed an emergency umpire. All the veterans will be retained.

The league will meet again tomorrow.

Whiffs

We Thought They Would.

HARRY STATEN made a bid for popular favor yesterday when he decided to change the nights of his prize fight bouts from Tuesday to Friday night. There was no sense in the two [illegible] running on the same night [illegible] is not big enough to su[illegible] operating on the sa[illegible] ten finally realized it. In [illegible] his stags will be run on Friday night. The boxing fans of Atlanta extend him a vote of thanks for his wisdom in changing.

May Make Record.

THE CARLISLE INDIANS are expected to shatter all existing records during the coming football season. Usually the Indians run up 50 or 60 points in their preliminary games, even under the old rules. It is believed that next fall the aborigines will run several scores higher than the century mark, particularly against Muhlenberg, their first opponent. Lebanon Valley, too, may come in for some fleeting fame as a figure in a huge score.

Continuous Ball.

BIRMINGHAM has followed the step taken by New Orleans, and will have continuous ball during the coming summer. The Southeastern League is going to locate a club at Ensley, a suburb of Barontown. With Birmingham in the Southeastern and New Orleans in the Cotton States, it will not be long now until Atlanta enters the Sally League.

Double Umpire System.

TWO UMPIRES in charge of the games in the Southern League during the coming season, will be in vogue, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. Judge Kavanaugh has admitted as much. With Rudderham, Pfenninger, Kellum, Carpenter and Hart, of last year's staff, signed up and the signing of Umpire O'Toole, from the New York State League, but one more position remains to be filled to have eight umps on the staff. As the league head has the applications of several umpires on his file, he should have no trouble in securing the eighth man.

Asks Reinstatement.

DUCKY HOLMES, former Mobile manager, who stands suspended by the Southern League in the absence of a fine imposed by the league directors last season, for various causes, including alleged violation of the salary agreement, has filed an application for reinstatement. As the application was not accompanied by a check, the black mark against his name still stands, and will remain there until the fine is paid in full. He cannot participate in any games within the protective limits of organized baseball as long as the Southern League suspension stands.

Wants Berth Here.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., has abandoned all hopes of getting in either the Central or Kitty Leagues again, and is now working with the idea in view of getting a franchise in the Southern League, realizing of course, that it will be 913 before they can even put in a bid for a franchise in this circuit. Evansville was in the old Southern League which was abandoned some time about 1899. In those days Evansville supported a Class A club very well, and they want to prove they can support it better now. Maybe they will get the chance, too.

Two Seasons Again.

THE SALLY LEAGUE is going to have two seasons again this year, as in the past two seasons. The first season will open on April 18 and close on June 27. The second will start immediately and wind up on Labor Day. The schedule as drafted at the meeting in Albany will not be made public until next week some time.

Trade Is Pending.

PAT DOUGHERTY, the veterin outfielder of the Chicago White Sox, may land in the camp of Bobby Wallace. It is said that he will be traded for Francis Laporte, the chubby French utility gentleman of the Browns. Patrick is about done as a player, but Laporte has nothing on him.

Cubs Still Strong.

THE MAJORITY of the fans around the National League circuit are doping the Cubs to finish in fourth or fifth place this season. They point to the fact that the pitching staff is gone and that the infield is a second division one. However, they are wrong in their dope if they think that Chance's team isn't going to make it warm for the other pennant contenders. With Miner Brown on the job, the Cubs can be considered dangercus all the time. They will hardly win the pennant, but with Brown on the job they can always be counted to be near the top.

Taking to Golf.

BALL PLAYERS are slowly but surely learning that golf in the off-season is one of the best means of keeping in condition, at the same time proving a pastime interesting, instructive and entertaining. McGraw and Mack get up tournaments for their players on the spring training trips, and there are some mighty good players in the two line-ups.

MIKE GIBBONS WINS FROM FREDDIE HICKS

New York, February 13.—Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul welterweight, won a hard-fought ten-round bout from Freddie Hicks, of Detroit, here tonight. A majority of the ringside crowd gave Gibbons the better of every round but the seventh.

In the first round Gibbons took the honors with hard straight punches. Gibbons beat Hicks badly for several rounds, but the Detroit man fought back gamely. In the sixth Hicks stirred Gibbons with a hard left to the jaw. Then Gibbons tore into Hicks and punished him severely.

Hicks forced Gibbons to the ropes in the seventh and battered him about the head, but the latter managed to return several good blows. Hicks was groggy in the eighth and in the ninth Gibbons opened a gash over Hicks' eye with a hard left hook. He tried hard for a knockout in the last round and the bell found Hicks holding on.

Billiter Defends Title.

Toledo, Ohio, February 13.—Johnny Billiter, of Toledo, successfully defended his title as champion lightweight wrestler here tonight against Henry Wirth, of Chicago. Only one fall was required. Billiter got a toe hold on Wirth, forcing the latter to give up in 14 minutes and 38 seconds. Physicians said the ligaments in Wirth's ankle and leg were twisted thereupon awarded the match to Billiter.

Grim and Nelson Draw.

Chattanooga, Tenn., February 13.—Joe Grimm, of Baltimore, and Terry Nelson, of Philadelphia, fought eight round to a draw before the Chattanooga Athletic Club here tonight. Grim seemed to have a shade the better of the fight in several of the rounds, but not sufficiently so to give him the decision.

GUS RUHLIN IS DEAD; HE DEFEATED SHARKEY

New York, February 13.—Gus Ruhlin, famous a decade ago as a pugilist, conqueror of Tom Sharkey and other men of lesser note, died suddenly today in his cafe in Brooklyn as the result of a stroke of apoplexy.

Ruhlin fought his last big fight on November 16, 1901, in San Francisco when Jim Jeffries defeated him in five rounds. His fight with Sharkey took place in 1900, when Ruhlin made the sailor throw up the sponge after fifteen hard rounds. In 1897 Ruhlin fought a twenty-round draw with Jeffries; in 1898 he lost to "Kid" McCoy in twenty rounds; to Tom Sharkey the same year in one round and in 1900 he was knocked out by Bob Fitzsimmons in six rounds.

Ruhlin was born in Canton, Ohio, 40 years ago and fought his first fight in 1896. His wife is active and well-known in suffragist circles.

SEWANEE ELEVEN GIVES OUT SCHEDULE

Sewanee, Tenn., February 13.—(Special.)—The Sewanee football management has announced the schedule for 1912. The University of Chattanooga has been substituted for Texas and Tulane. Aside from this, there are no other changes from last year's schedule, save that no prep schools will be played by the university this year.

Here is the complete schedule:

October 12—Southwestern Presbyterian university at Sewanee.

October 19—University of Chattanooga at Sewanee.

November 2—Georgia Tech at Atlanta.

November 9—University of Georgia at Athens.

November 16—University of Alabama at Birmingham.

November 28—Vanderbilt university at Nashville.

Thomas Robert MacQuoid, the English artist, who is nearing his ninety-second year, is still able to use his pen and brush effectively.

M'VEY SIGNS FOR TWO BOUTS

Sydney, Australia, February 13.—Sam McVey, the California pugilist and heavyweight champion of Australia, has signed articles for a match with James Barry, the Chicago heavyweight, to be fought on March 9, and also for a match with Sam Langford, to be fought on Easter Monday, April 8.

MILL OWNERS TO MEET COMMITTEE OF STRIKERS

Lawrence, Mass., February 13.—Agents of six of the large mills against which the textile strike is directed have agreed to conferences with committees of their own employees selected by the Central Labor Union. In response to letters sent out by the Central Labor Union, agents of the Wood, Washington, Prospect and Ayer mills of the American Woolen Company, the Pacific and Arlington mills, will meet the committee tomorrow. The Atlantic, Everett, Lawrence Duck and Kunhardt mills have yet to be heard from, but Central Labor Union officials confidently expect a favorable reply:

While representatives of the American Federation of Labor were announcing their plans to settle the strike the general strike committee of the Industrial Workers of the World was in session declaring the strike all but won and still maintaining that the strikers would abide by no agreement that is not reached through a conference of the general committee with the entire body of mill agents.

Chairman William Yates, who presided at the meeting of the industrial workers' committee, told the members to prepare themselves for other strikes, declaring "this is not the only strike that will take place in Lawrence this summer."

Episcopalians Meet.

Chicago, February 13.—Bishops, priests and laymen of the Protestant Episcopal church met here today for a three days' session of the board of missions. This is the first meeting of the board of missions held outside of New York in the eighty years of its existence. One of the features of the gathering is a banquet tomorrow evening, at which Right Rev. Charles Henry Brent, bishop of the Philippines, will speak on "The Awakening of the Orient."

TAFT CHOOSES.

In the most tensely gladiatorial mood he has yet exhibited to the nation, President Taft, in his address before the Republican Club, of New York City, raises his battle-cry against the democrats, burns the bridges between himself and the "progressive" element of his own party, and virtually defies Roosevelt and the Roosevelt enthusiasts. The ring, the aggressiveness, the warrior-clang to his sentences recalled his turbulent predecessor. Coming from the president described as "good-natured, smiling, in love with the line of least resistance," they may foreshadow unexpected chapters in the republican nomination fight and in the presidential campaign, should Taft be the nominee of his party.

Clearly, the menacing specter of Roosevelt, as brought out and galvanized by the recent conference of western governors and "insurgents" generally, has moved Taft to give over what lingering hope he might have harbored of reconciling either the "insurgents" or the colonel. The former were unhesitatingly flayed as "neurotics" and "political emotionalists," and it does not require very much reading between the lines to see that the president is indifferent whether or not his predecessor interprets the terms as applying to himself. "The French revolution" and "bubbling anarchy" were conditions to which the progressives would lead us, according to the president, and it, therefore, became the duty of all old-line republicans to take arms against them. We may admire the president's courage, but question his wisdom. To lump the entire creed of the "progressives" as index expurgatorius confesses a defective construction of American advancement, not to say American sentiment. So far as the colonel goes, there is little doubt about his "emotionalism," but it is generally a tolerably crafty, well-thought-out emotionalism, and unless he has changed considerably, it does not interfere with the exercise of certain talents which make him one of the coolest and most effectual practical politicians of modern times.

It is when the president lands on the democratic party and lauds the republican party as the "party of achievement and not of broken promises," that he is likely to make the judicious grieve, and the independent voter indulge a cynical smile. If the republican party has done anything but break promises, so far as concerns the paramount issue of the tariff and covering the last two presidential campaigns, we are unable to locate the date or the performance. On the other hand, the democracy, under the leadership of Oscar Underwood, in the house, has put up to the president tariff revision schedules which embody the country's demand, and which, for obviously partisan reasons, he straightway vetoed.

Mr. Taft, then, while swapping the robes of the political dove of peace for the armor of the fighting man, is still pursued by the Nemesis of ill-judgment, so far as politics pure and simple goes. Certain rabid tendencies of "progressivism" are, of course, to be brought under the ban, and excoriation of them would have probably won Mr. Taft sympathy. But to break entirely with that element of his own party which is so powerful in the nation, and to claim for republicans what the veriest school-boy knows it has not accomplished—is to hit a stride not calculated to advance the fortunes either of Mr. Taft or his party. Belligerent? Yes; he appears well in that role. But to be effectual, belligerency should be tempered with judgment.

PENSION COURAGE IN THE SENATE.

When the Sherwood so-called "dollar a day" pension grab bill left the house it provided for added expenditures of $75,000,000 to the annual pension roll of the country. As it has been trimmed and amended by the senate pension committee, it will carry one million dollars less than a third of that sum and, if a proviso introduced by Senator Bryan, of Florida, passes the senate, it will also make public the names of the 900,000 individuals now on the federal pension list.

As The Constitution commented when the measure passed the house, it is indefensible in principle, and the alterations made by the senate committee, changing the degree only, do not make more palatable the inherent viciousness of the bill. As drafted by its author, it puts a premium upon the bounty-jumper, the deserter, the camp-follower. The Constitution has never opposed adequate federal pensions for deserving and bona fide veterans, their widows or other dependents. But the Sherwood bill is so obviously a political sluice-gate enterprise as not to offer one redeeming feature.

Would it have obtained such easy sledding either in house or senate, had it not been a general election year? We doubt it. Failing to understand how the house democrats, as a body, could have gained their consent to vote for a measure that absolutely riddles the party's program of economy, we do not forget that Oscar Underwood, of Alabama, was one party leader who stood out fearlessly and to the end against this pipe-lining of the treasury.

It will be well if the senate rejects the Sherwood bill in its entirety, even as modified, and stands pat against the house on its rejection. But if both bodies, haunted by the ghost of the "old soldier vote" back home, should get together and jam through a measure characterized by the Sherwood feature, the Taft stock will mount perceptibly should he develop the courage to veto it.

A PREMATURE POLITICAL FUNERAL.

The pathos of La Follette's collapse at the now famous Philadelphia banquet, and the subsequent confusion brooding over the "insurgent" national camp, moves The Indianapolis Star, as follows, to virtually dismiss the Wisconsin senator from the larger sphere of public consideration:

It was an ill-starred day for La Follette and for the people when fell ambition marked him for its prey. The wild and whirling words of his latest speech betrayed the depth and cruelty with which the iron of disappointment has pierced his soul. As a wonderful orator and captivating leader of men, whose vaulting ambitions, unfulfilled, leave him a misanthropic mourner in a heedless world, he is in a goodly company of great names. The ailment that has fastened on him no rest can drive away, no medicine can heal.

The early-morning catastrophe in the Quaker City certainly offered all the elements of the dramatic and of the unfortunate. It is not pleasant to think of a man of La Follette's undoubted ability wrestling with hysteria before a resentful and hostile audience, lashing out, right and left, in causeless denunciation, as the penalty of strain, long endured, descended on him suddenly and shut off, as though with a valve, his discretion, his sense of perspective and his power of analysis. The scene is the more pitiful when one recalls the eminence to which the man had risen.

But it is too early, we think, as yet, to brand La Follette as a "misanthropic mourner in a heedless world." He may not—indeed, his natural limitations indicate that he will not—be able to mount to and maintain place upon a commanding station in the national sense. That conceded, it remains that he has too keen a brain, too high a courage and too full a mastery of the knack of popular appeal to argue that he is headed straightway toward political oblivion. His career in his own state shows he has too much vitality to furnish the corpse for a political funeral. He may have mounted to his perihelion. It will be some time, however, before he sinks to the vanishing point in the horizon.

Old Sweethearts.

I.

'Bout Saint Valentine—his day,
'Specially if their hair is gray.

II.

But—'i jings! a feller feels,
When the day old times reveals,
Same old joy, which round him steals.

III.

Here's to sweethearts who are old—
Locks of brown, or locks of gold;

Valentine Day in Billville.

Had a high old time of it in town when the valentines began to come in. Folks were hit that never were hit before—some o' them knocked "six ways fer Sunday"—as the sayin' goes. For instance, the only red-headed widder in the settlement got the idee that Major Jinkins sent hers—which was of a advanced widder tryin' to run a husband down; an' as soon as that idee took holt of her she waylaid the old Major on his way to the postoffice an' give him a tongue-lashin' that would have made a balky mule jump a ten-rail fence with a new plow, in Springtime.

The Major climbed the first tree that come handy, an' did his explainin' from a convenient limb, the widder all the time threatenin' to set fire to the tree an' smoke him down; but a committee of suffragettes finally come to the rescue, and after tellin' the Major in the treetop that he was as clost to heaven as he'd ever git, they led the widder home, cryin' to beat the band; then the Major slid down and made a bee-line for the wilderness.

Candidates for office got hit harder than any others, but since they're always standin' right where lightnin' can strike 'em, they just laughed and went on savin' the country as usual.

The editor received a few, but he was too tough for 'em to make any impression, an' he merely took a extra drink with our representative in the legislature, who had received a bushel of valentine-advice about its being high time for him to rise up and go to work for a living.

The Red Fire Burners.

I.

They burn red fire till they dunno what to do;
Better watch it blazin'—'twill be burnin' of you, too!
Got to light the pathway fer votin'-folks, like you,
So they'll burn red fire night an' mornin'!

II.

Better watch the weather, or 'twill put the fire out

LETTERS EXCHANGED BY SPEER AND ERWIN

Macon, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) Friendly letters have been exchanged between Judge Emory Speer and Hon. Marion Erwin in regard to the latter's resignation as United States attorney for the southern district of Georgia.

In advising Judge Speer that he had taken the step, Mr. Erwin expresses thanks for the consideration and friendship given him by the judge during many trying years.

Replying, Judge Speer regrets the severing of their official connection, but considers the step not only appropriate, but inevitable. Continuing he writes:

"From no counsellor in all these years have I received more valuable aid in the law, in the work of no other have I witnessed more careful mastery of the facts. In the mightiest civil causes I ever tried these qualities rescued for the righteous owners many millions from lawless hands; in one mighty criminal trial gave peaceful title to millions of acres and brought prosperity to thousands in many counties; in another detected, punished and redressed the greatest theft of public funds the country has ever known and gave a precedent to safeguard the future appropriations for the public welfare, the most signal and conspicuous the country has ever seen. Not surprised then am I that the attorney general elsewhere finds service for my district attorney, and no matter now far he is sent or how long he stays he will bear with him the confidence and good wishes of the judge he leaves behind."

HIGH COST OF LIVING WILL BE INVESTIGATED

Washington, February 13.—The high cost of living is to be investigated by the department of justice to determine in what measure it is due to trusts or other combinations. Special agents have been instructed to observe all effects of combinations upon prices to the consumer, and to ascertain, as far as possible, who is making undue profits.

46 PERSONS DROWN WHEN SHIP IS LOST

Nagasaki, Japan, February 13.—In a collision between two Japanese steamers today forty-six passengers and sailors were drowned. The crush occurred between the Rycha Maru and the Mori Maru. Both are old steamers of comparatively small tonnage.

Gossip at the Capitol

Hezekiah Stevens, of Clarke county, must suffer the penalty imposed by the lower court for the murder of his wife, according to a decision of the supreme court delivered yesterday.

Stevens, spying on his wife, accused her of infidelity. She admitted it, he says, and told him she didn't care, or words to that effect, whereupon he seized a shotgun and killed her. One of the principal grounds upon which the appeal was taken was that the court below failed to charge the law of voluntary manslaughter.

The supreme court declares the lower court was right in this case, and that the crime was a "shocking, brutal murder." Words, the supreme court declares, are not sufficient provocation for manslaughter.

The supreme court also confirmed the sentence of the lower court in the case of At Dickens, of Walton county, convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Switching Track Hearing.

The state railroad commission yesterday heard argument in the case of the A. P. Morgan Grain Company and others against the Western and Atlantic railroad, which is a complaint against a proposed rearrangement of the switching tracks back of the stores of the plaintiffs. The Western and Atlantic claims it is obliged to rearrange these switching tracks because the Georgia railroad has notified it that it must discontinue the use of a switch which is on its property. The A. P. Morgan Grain Company and others say if the proposed changes are made it will seriously interfere with the unloading and loading of cars at their warehouses. The commission took the case under advisement.

Commissions Are Issued.

Commissions were issued from the office of Adjutant General W. G. Obear yesterday to newly elected officers of the Fifth infantry regiment, as follows:

Captain Theodore Toepel, Company I, German-American Guards.

First Lieutenant Geo. W. McCarthy, Company F. Fulton Blues.

Second Lieutenant George H. Bonnell, Company F. Fulton Blues.

Second Lieutenant Wm. S. Coburn, Company H, Fulton Fusileers.

Insurance Laws of Country.

When the insurance commission appointed by the legislature last summer to examine and report as to revision of the state's insurance laws meets on April 23 it will have before it the complete insurance laws of those states in which law on this subject has been brought to the highest state of perfection. Insurance Commissioner W. A. Wright wrote yesterday to the insurance commissioners of New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Illinois, Michigan, Kansas, Wisconsin and Missouri, asking for eight copies of the insurance laws of each of these states. He desires one copy for each member of the joint committee, and will furnish them in advance of the meeting so that they may study them in advance and be prepared for action when they come together.

SYSTEMATIC ROBBERY SEEN IN BOX CAR CASES

Eleven more arrests yesterday brought the total number of railroad men arrested on charges of being implicated in a systematic breaking and robbing cars up to sixteen. The number includes several conductors, two foremen, a number of car repairers, switchmen, laborers and others. The value of goods recovered amounts to close on to $1,000, with indications that more will be found later.

The arrests yesterday rounded up the gang, it is believed. Detectives Shaw and Vickery, with Special Officer Burke, of the southern railway, made most of the arrests early yesterday morning, before daybreak. Warrants were sworn out in a justice court yesterday afternoon, and the men will be committed to jail at once.

Sworn and signed testimony has been obtained by the detectives from a number of the suspects, and with this as a lever the majority of the prisoners have admitted their complicity in the robberies.

Those arrested yesterday charged with suspicion were B. B. Bishop, 35 Krogg street; W. H. Fowler, 489 Simpson street, and H. W. Kline, 354 South Boulevard, conductors; Otis Casey, R. F. D.; R. F. Ransom, 54 Berean avenue; E. F. Durham, 106 Powell street; W. P. Smith, 12 Oxford street, switchman; J. B. Hairston, 62 South Delta place, conductor; C. L. Dixon, 159 Old Wheat street, and Albert Cook, a negro.

EUFAULA SCHOOLS CLOSED BY SMALLPOX

Eufaula, Ala., February 13.—(Special.)—A smallpox scare has closed the Eufaula schools indefinitely. The schools were ordered closed Monday morning by the superintendent, following the discovery that children of an infected family had attended school last week. The mother of this family is now suffering with a very virulent case of the disease.

Because of the discovery the board of health held a hurried meeting Sunday, while the board of education also met, and it was decided to close the schools. Every precaution will be taken to prevent the spread of the disease or anything like an epidemic. Vaccinations have been advised by the physicians wherever one has not been performed or wherever these performed have not been successful. No orders as yet have been issued making vaccination among the school children compulsory.

FRENCHMAN CONVICTED UNDER WHITE SLAVE ACT

New Orleans, February 13.—Henri Leluin, of Paris, France, who first came to New Orleans as a member of the French Opera Company's orchestra, was convicted in the United States district court today of violating the so-called "white slave" act in bringing to this country Marie Leluin, alias Mrs. Journee, for immoral purposes.

The court is expected to overrule a motion for a new trial, and to sentence Leluin to a long term in the Atlanta federal prison. Deportation charges have been filed against both Leluin and the girl.

NINE O'CLOCK CURFEW TO RING FOR BLOOM

New York, February 13.—The 9 o'clock curfew will ring for a year for Wilfred Bloom, an employment agency manager, as the result of a court pronouncement here. His failure to report home at that hour every night will result in a workhouse sentence.

Bloom was brought into court on his wife's complaint that he abused her and stayed out nights.

"For twelve months," said the magistrate, "you will have to be home nights by 9 o'clock, and you will have to treat your wife properly."

MOTHER OF NINE LITTLE ONES ADOPTS SERVIAN FOUNDLING

The ownership of a pretty little 2-year-old Servian gipsy girl, who had been found without clothes in a vacant room of a Decatur street lodging house, was violently in dispute yesterday afternoon before Judge Broyles until a mother of nine already said she wanted the child and would provide for her.

"I tek her an' gif her shoes, clo'es. I got money," she said, as she patted a jingling pocket with a happy little laugh. "Plees, Meester Joodge," she added as an after-thought, "can't you gif me leetle write, leetle paper?"

"Give the woman an order for one baby," announced Judge Broyles, and Clerk Preston wrote out a "This is to certify" with quantities of legal phrasing in it.

Appearing before the judge were two younger women, the husband of one of them, another child, the old woman and a Russian who acted as interpreter in the pinches. The two younger women put the responsibility for the child on each other.

"Her child, her step-child," said the woman with the husband, pointing to the other woman.

"No mine; her husband's," was the quick rejoinder.

"No my baby, no my girl, no, plees, no mine," said the startled husband.

"I tek it," spoke up the old woman, and the judge inquired what the child's name was. "Katerina" was the nearest approach to it in English, and she was called Katerina Adams after her foster mother.

The child was found in 130½ Decatur street without clothes, and report had it that she belonged to the gipsy people who have opened a small fortune telling tent on Decatur street and live farther down this thoroughfare. They were brought to court gorgeous in red dresses and shawls, blue head shawls and magnificent black braids of hair. Swastika bracelets and long strings of beads completed the picturesque costumes.

SEAFARING PARROT SHOCKS QUIET ATLANTA NEIGHBORHOOD

Atlanta can grow bananas and oranges—has done it, in fact—but no one but the residents of a certain well-known street know that parrots roost in Atlanta trees and sing sweet ditties in sailor language.

"D—n it, d—n it, d—n it, Polly wants a cracker! Furl that sail, lubber!" swelled out over the roof of a lawyer's home two days ago, and the entire family went out to investigate.

Perched on the eave of the piazza was a parrot of brilliant plumage and strident voice. It was a tame bird, too, even in company to which it was evidently not accustomed, and was corralled by the cook with no difficulty.

Since that time the parrot has become a fixture in the kitchen, where it was considerately placed because of the tropic temperament of the atmosphere. It is growing fat, and its vocabulary correspondingly slim, all of which goes to show what environment will do. The poor, lonely bird has obtained a home far from a yardarm and every ring of the door bell brings dread to the family and the family's cook. If an owner turns up they will require a complete list of the bird's unique vocabulary as identification.

COMMERCIALIZED SAINT MAKES HIS YEARLY PARADE IN ATLANTA

Mush and coarse jest will have their full sway in Atlanta today. Once was when heart weary verse and gallantries would have been the ruling features, but today Atlanta will be as covered with mush as it was with slush Sunday and as burdered with coarse jest as a minstrel show of tank town tendencies.

For it's Valentine's day, the day when Cupids used to flutter impudently around and dent unsuspecting hearts with their poisoned arrows, when long-haired swains wrote sighing sonnets to somebody's eyebrow and didn't have the nerve to sign their names to their poetical effusions. It was the day when timid damsels got out their Tennyson and faked an original verse to some worthless rapscallion upon whom the family wrath had fallen.

But St. Valentin'e day became commercialized. Rhymesters saw a chance to make money out of their art for the benefit of lover-lorn men, whom the muse hadn't moved. The result was the ready-to-mail valentine. Then they began to make 'em from celluloid and pink ribbons, and artificial flowers, and charged the price of eight or ten square meals for them.

This in turn gave that eminent humorist, the practical joker, a chance and he, instead of sending the perfumed missive of adoration, sent a bona drawing in which the recipient was called things.

Atlanta's Valentine's day has degenerated like everybody else's. Still there are some that still send the mushy store-bought sonnets or the insulting caricatures and then, too, it gives fair hostesses a chance to pin pretty red hearts on their guests at card parties, showing that there is a real use even for Valentine's day.

COST OF LIVING SO HIGH ANIMALS LOSE LUXURIES

New York, February 13.—The latest complaint over the high cost of living comes from the Central park menagerie, where it appears that the monkeys, lions and hippos are leading the simple life owing to the curtailment of expensive luxuries from their bills of fare. The monkeys have not seen an egg in two months. They used to get one apiece every day before breakfast, but it would be like offering them pearls now to feed them eggs, according to Overseer Keenan. The only luxury they have is milk, and that with plenty of water in it, for the supply is but five quarts a day, and there are sixty monkeys to drink it.

"Ten years ago," explained Mr. Keenan, "we could board a monkey for 7 cents a day and a hippo or elephant for 60 cents. Now it costs 12 cents for the monkeys, $1 for the hippos and $2.75 a day for the elephants. The big item in the menagerie bill, however, is the meat. The tigers and lions need from 12 to 18 pounds of meat a day and the cost runs close to 10 cents a pound. A decade ago the zoo was able to buy the necessary 250 ponnds a day at about 4½ cents a pound."

NO MONEY ALLOWED FOR 25 ARMY POSTS

Washington, February 13.—The twenty-five army posts, which experts of the war department advocate abolishing, will not be provided for in the army appropriation bill now before the house. By a vote of 52 to 13, today, money for their maintenance or repair was withdrawn. A reduction of $100,000 in the fund for barracks and quarters also was made.

Dismantled Schooner Rescued.

Key West, Fla., February 13.—The three-masted schooner Otis, lumber-laden from Scranton, Miss., for Havana, was caught in a squall last Saturday 30 miles north of Loggerhead Key and had her three masts and jibboom carried overboard. The ship's crew of seven rigged up a jury mast and succeeded in reaching Rebecca shoal, where the lighthouse tender Mangrove went to their rescue last night in response to their signals of distress.

TUESDAY IN CONGRESS.

Senate:

In session at 2 p. m.

Chairman Bourne, postoffice committee, announced his opposition to one-cent letter postage.

Senator Lee objected when unanimous consent asked for vote next Tuesday on election committee's report in Senator Stephenson's case because minority report was not ready.

President Taft withdrew nomination of C. P. Swain as United States marshal for Delaware, against whom charges of bribery had been made.

Lorimer committee agreed to consider and vote March 23 upon a report to be presented to senate.

Adjourned until Wednesday, 2 p. m.

House:

Met at noon.

Resumed consideration of army appropriation bill.

James J. Hill said at steel trust hearing he did not bother much about stocks and bonds.

Investigation of Florida Everglades land case resumed.

Missouri delegation in statement set forth Speaker Clark's public record and urged him as candidate for democratic presidential nomination.

Democratic chemical tariff bill, revising dutiable and free lists to increase revenue $4,000,000, made public.

Adjourned at 5:44 p. m. until noon Wednesday.

FLORIDA EVERGLADES ARE BEING INVESTIGATED

Washington, February 13.—Engineering investigations of the Florida Everglades have cost the government $11,017 to date, according to A. Zappone, chief disbursing officer of the department of agriculture, today before the house committee, which has undertaken a complete Everglades inquiry.

Chairman Moss was forced to adjourn the session early because of the failure of J. O. Wright, chief drainage officer of the state of Florida, to arrive. Mr. Wright was formerly connected with the department of agriculture. He had been served with a subpoena, but was unable to make train connections at Jacksonville, Fla., in time to reach Washington today.

Representatives Clark, of Florida, and Bathrick, of Ohio, investigators of the charges which brought about the investigation, obtained the consent of the committee to interrogate witnesses and participate in the investigation.

ALL REFORM SCHEMES ATTACKED BY LODGE

Springfield, Ill., February 13.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, in a speech last night at the annual banquet of the Lincoln Centennial Association assailed the initiative and referendum and the recall of judges.

"I take the stand that the adoption of a compulsory initiative and referendum means the destruction of representative government," said the senator. "The cry for this is based on the plea for 'progressiveness.' Progress does not necessarily indicate anything good. Further than this, legislation by direct vote is an old system. It has been tried and has failed. The plan was familiar to the Greeks. The development of representative government has been due to the English-speaking people.

"In England, in early days, judges held their offices at the will of the king. It was against this very system that the makers of the declaration of independence revolted in their phrases relative to judges. A judge is on the bench to do justice between man and man. Make him fearful of the will of a fretful and ever-changing voting constituency and see how long a condition like that would last."

DIRECTORS OF BANKS LIABLE FOR EXCESS LOANS

Washington, February 13.—Comptroller of the Currency Murray today announced he would strictly enforce the law which holds directors of national banks liable for losses sustained through loans in excess of legal amounts. He instructed national bank examiners when such losses are discovered in the future to request the board of directors of the institution affected to pass a resolution setting forth the names of the directors responsible for the excess loan, amount of loss and a promise that the loss will be met by the directors who authorised the illegal loan.

BRITISH COAL MINERS THREATEN TO STRIKE

London, February 13.—A conference of representatives of the 800,000 coal miners in the United Kingdom, held in London today, confirmed the decision reached during the recent ballot to bring about a national stoppage of work in the coal mines on February 29 unless in the meantime the mine owners accept the principle of a minimum wage for all men and boys employed underground.

Upwards of 40,000 colliers employed in the mines in Derbyshire this morning handed in their quit notices and by Wednesday all the men employed in the mines throughout the country will have followed suit.

There is still, however, hope that a way out of the difficulty will be found before extreme measures are taken.

CITY NEWS

Robbed on Street Car.—W. W. Wilson, 18 Dixie avenue, was robbed of his purse and $11, which was taken from his pocket as he got on an Inman park car late yesterday afternoon at Pryor street and Edgewood avenue.

Rothschild Made Receiver.—Gerson Rothschild, of Columbus, was yesterday named by Judge Newman, of the United States court, receiver for Whatley Bros., of Fort Gaines, dealers in general merchandise, a bond of $10,000 being required. Involuntary proceedings in bankruptcy were filed against the Whatley Bros. by H. B. Clafflin Company, of New York, and others on February 9 in the federal clerk's office at Columbus. The papers indicate liabilities approximating $15,000.

Eugene Crawford Here.—Eugene L. Crawford, representing one of the largest houses in New York, is in the city for a few days, a guest at the Kimball. Mr. Crawford visits Atlanta two or three times a year and has many friends in Atlanta. Mr. Crawford is a native of Virginia.

Says Conductor Was Rough.—Mrs. Minnie . Anderson filed suit for $5,000 damages against the Georgia Railway and Electric Company in the Fulton superior court Tuesday morning. She alleges that while boarding a street car at the junction of Peachtree and Decatur streets she was swung around when the car started suddenly and then drawn roughly on board by the conductor, injuring her permanently. Her husband also brought suit for $5,000.

Marbut Made Deputy.—The place of Marcellus M. Anderson, which was vacated when he announced his opposition to Ordinary John R. Wilkinson at the next primary has been filled by Arthur R. Marbut, who will act as deputy clerk of the ordinary's court. The new deputy clerk is police commissioner from the third ward and is a son of the late Samuel B. Marbut, who was for a number of years custodian of the county courthouse. He will begin his duties on March 10.

Deserter Surrenders.—Freedom is not what it is cracked up to be, says Frank Williamson, member of the marine corps. After leaving his post and hiding for two days, he has given himself up to the police and wants to go back. Regularity of life, good food and clothes appeals to him after his little flyer in the outside world. Williamson deserted at Charleston and came straight to Atlanta. He says that his punishment for running off will probably be about thirty days' confinement, after which he will be restored to his rank in the corps.

Celebrate Labor's Birthday.—The Atlanta Federation of Trades will meet in regular session tonight at the Labor temple and will hear the initial report from the committee preparing for the coming celebration of the twenty-first anniversary of Atlanta's Federation of Labor Association. It has been determined to hold the exercises in Taft hall, the Auditorium-Armory, on March 6. There will be musical numbers, literary features and an address or two.

Asks Damages for Fall.—A string or wire stretched across the sidewalk six inches above the pavement caused him to trip and land on his hands and knees, and receive injuries, says John T. Rowland in a suit for $2,500 damages, filed against Mrs. M. L. Cobbs in the city court. The petition alleges that Mr. Rowland was walking to his office in the Candler building when he passed a structure being erected by agents of Mrs. Cobbs, near the corner of Peachtree and Baker streets. The wire or cord, he alleges, was stretched across the sidewalk, and when he tripped against it so violent was his fall that he did not regain total consciousness for thirty minutes.

$32,216 Damages Asked.—Damages amounting to $30,216 were asked by Dr. G. R. Luke in a suit filed against J. C. Williams, proprietor of a hotel at 69½ Mitchell street, in the city court of Atlanta Tuesday. He alleges false arrest and false charges. Dr. Luke says he brought a lady to the city to have a surgical operation performed, registered her at Williams' hotel, and explained the matter to him. He went out to get some medicine and when he returned was arrestted, he states. He was bound over by the recorder, but acquitted in the higher court, he declares.

Grady Officers Named.—The annual election of officers for the Grady hospital medical board was held in the hospital building last night. The followig officials were selected: Dr. L. B. Clarke, president; Dr. C. W. Strickler, vice president; Dr. L. B. Stephens, secretary.

FAMILY OF R... ZAPATA ARRESTED BY GOVERNMENT

Cuernavaca, Mexico, February 13.—Mrs. Emiliano Zapata, wife of the chief of the southern rebels, her son and her mother and two brothers, were brought here today from Ayala by order of General Juvenico Robles, federal commander. He has made no announcement of any character against them.

Determined, apparently, to prevent the movement of troop trains between here and points in the state of Guerrero, followers of Jesus Salgado today blew out a steel viaduct over the Iguala canon, a reverse curve bridge 7 miles north of Iguala. The viaduct was more than 400 feet long and 100 feet high. The rebels also destroyed the telegraph instruments at Naranjo station, 3 miles from Iguala. One train was marooned between Balsas and Iguala. General Robles left here this afternoon on a special train for the south with a force of infantry and artillery. An ambulance corps also accompanied him.

"THE MAN FROM HOME" GIVEN GREAT RECEPTION AT GRAND

First and foremost let me tell you—and I am not at all confidential in my remarks and do not mind how many persons you confide the statement to—that "The Man From Home," as presented at the Grand last night, is a great play, a play which you will be the better for having seen. If it does not thrill you with little waves of patriotism, if indescribable feelings do not chase up and down your spine as they do when you are a long way from home and unexpectedly see the Stars and Stripes rippling from a flag pole; if you leave the theater without feeling proud you are an American, you are not a citizen of the desirable class.

Again, if you are one of our new rich who delight in disparaging American institutions—in a word, if you have recently joined the increasing parade of the parvenus—if you find yourself looking the other way when some friend of homely speech and manners whom you knew in other and less prosperous days, greets you, "The Man from Home" will hold up the mirror and reflect your egregious snobbery and help you to save yourself from being that most insufferable of all things, a cad.

"The Man from Home" was written with a distinct purpose in view. The authors, Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson, went abroad that they might reflect the proper atmosphere. In Italy they found it. And right skilfully did they handle it. America will be better for the play. Wonderfuy true to life as is the acting of William Hodge, the play itself is so splendidly drawn that it will doubtless live and continue to inspire better ideals long after that capable actor has abandoned it for other things.

"Melodramatic—a play to the gallery?" you ask. Possibly so, at times. But let us not disparage the gallery. It contains some unerring critics.

"The Man from Home" was given a splendid reception at the Grand last night. At the conclusion of the third act, after the curtain had gone up repeatedly, Mr. Hodge responded with a brief and humorous speech in which he told an amusing anecdote.

Space forbids a lengthy description of "The Man from Home." Perhaps when I quote the Grand Duke Vasili Vasilvitch and say of Daniel Voorhees Pike, of Kokomo, Ind.: "I call him an egoist, because he is so content with being what he is that he will not pretend to be what he is not," you will get a rough outline of the dominating character. How he appears on the scene at the right moment and by his shrewdness outwits a gang of English adventurers and prevents the marriage of his ward to a worthless scamp, and how the eyes of the girl—

But really, that is for you to find out.

William Hodge is a wonderfully convincing actor. In the ungainly, shrewd young country lawyer who has been "too busy to even see Niagara Falls," but who is a match for the scheming, titled persons on their own ground, he is everything the authors had in mind. His voice is wonderfully toned and his accent is true to type.

The supporting company as a whole is an excellent one. Those whose acting stood out conspicuously were Harold Russell, Arthur Bell, E. P. Gayner, J. J. G. Gardner and Miss Ida Vernon.

"The Man from Home" will be seen this afternoon and again tonight.

SIDNEY ORMOND.

WILLIAM HODGE,

"The Fortune Hunter."
(At the Atlanta.)

This afternoon a matinee performance of "The Fortune Hunter" will be given at the Atlanta theater and all who have not seen this very fine comedy will miss a treat if they do not take advantage of the opportunity. "The Fortune Hunter is one of the finest and cleanest, brightest and most original comedies in recent years. It is presented by a company which all the critics have commended, which means an excellent and enjoyable performance. The last night of the play will be given tonight.

Keith Vaudeville.
(At the Forsyth.)

Willis Clark, the young English actor, who is portraying the most difficult role of "Scrooge" in the great sketch of that title that is the headline feature at the Forsyth this week, is the best actor that has ever been on the stage of the most popular theater. Heading a company of selected English players, this young man has become the idol of Dickens students in Atlanta, and even the vaudeville patrons who have exhibited more interest in the song and dance teams and the comedy playlets of the past and of the future, too, do honor to the young man, by joining in the tremencous applause that follows the magnificent work of Mr. Clark. George Austin Moore and pretty Cordelia Hager, in a "Neat Idea," are offering a great act.

"The Arrival of Kitty."
(At the Lyric.)

"The Arrival of Kitty," a comedy of complications interspersed with clever specialties is drawing good audiences this week to the Lyric. The author has proven that it is not necessary to go to French farces to get an idea, but has handled his subject in a most ingenious manner, using for the central idea the absurd complications arising out of mistaken identity. He places his characters in a fashionable hotel at a summer resort in the Catskill mountains and although his characters get considerably tangled up they are made to act in a rational way and the comedy situation are funy.

"The Spring Maid."
(At the Atlanta.)

The coming of the Vienese operetta, "The Spring Maid," has excited considerable enthusiasm among the music-loving people of Atlanta and those who enjoy the best of musical comedies. Seats are now selling at the Atlanta for the four performances which start Thursday night. The demand has been heavy and the indications are a big crowd fill welcome Mizzi Hajos and her fifty-odd associates. An augmented orchestra of twenty-five musicians will play the music and the engagement of "The Spring Maid" should prove quite an event.

compliment each other and are practically one. Roosevelt came first as he should have come, and Taft came next as he should have come. Roosevelt blazed the way and Taft has made that way a highway."

The motto of the republican opponents to the president, the secretary declared, was "Anything to beat Taft."

"When it was found impossible," continued Mr. MacVeagh, "to make headway with La Follette or Cummins, because they failed to touch the national imagination, the insurgents looked about again and then thought of Roosevelt. This unauthorized, happy-go-lucky Roosevelt movement is the latest way 'to beat Taft.' It is the new club, the new bludgeon. Why they wish to 'beat Taft' at all is beyond reasonable human comprehension. They don't want to nominate La Follette or Cummins or Roosevelt. The 'anything to beat Taft' movement was begun as a vendetta—and it has more or less of that blood in the eye character still.

"Unless I am gravely mistaken they will find a different man to deal with in Roosevelt. I believe the 'anything to beat Taft' people will never succeed in getting Roosevelt to lead them. They are dealing with one who knows politics and with a man who has a wealth of great things of the past to look after, to cherish and to protect. A third term—even if a third term were legitimatized by the authority of an unanimous demand of the people—would be of far less value to him than the undimmed record of the two terms he has served. I was an uncompromising Roosevelt man when Roosevelt was president, and I am his political friend today. And it is because I have so long trusted his political and patriotic instincts that I have not wavered in my belief that Roosevelt would not—and with his make-up could not—conceive a reason why he should run against Taft.

"The record of Taft cannot be impeached before the people. And Roosevelt is not as I measure him the man to be caught with the thin chaff of a thin opposition movement. There is no progressive crisis in the republican party—and no progressive quality in the 'anything to beat Taft.'

"He Will Not Come Back."

"Moreover Roosevelt has laid down the course of his future political career. He stated himself out of the presidential arena when he made his declaration in 1904. And he will not come back into it—and surely he ought not to come back into it—to contest for mere political honors nor to help a factitious revolt; nor for any but some imperative reason which will incontestibly justify in the calm judgment of all high-minded men, the change of a deliberate high conviction and the withdrawal of a deliberate profound promise."

Secretary MacVeagh said that as a tariff reformer he had advised the president to sign the Payne bill, "though it was disappointing and only a beginning." "He knew, however, when that bill was signed," the secretary continued, "that the cause of tariff revision downward was the remedy the party assured and that the republican party had forever changed front—changed its high and higher tariff policy. And I said that in a Boston speech which the president applauded."

Alleged Brewers Work for Taft.

Governor Charles E. Osborn, of Michigan, who followed Secretary MacVeagh, charged that the brewers of the state, with whom the governor is engaged in a controversy, are trying to control the state in the interest of President Taft's renomination.

"Take back notice to your respected chief," said the governor addressing the secretary, "that an agent of the brewery interests went to Washington and said they would deliver Michigan for Taft—a thing the breweries cannot do. The people will decide that question."

Honduras to Pay Damages.

Washington, February 13.—The Honduran government assured the state department that it would reimburse the Valentine syndicate, a United States corporation, for any damage sustained to the corporation's railroad and wharf properties. The acute situation growing out of the seizure of the property by the Honduran government has abated, and the United States gunboat Petrel has left Honduran waters for Bluefield, Nicaragua.

LEADING PHONE OFFICIAL WILL VISIT ATLANTA TODAY

Union N. Bethell, president of the New York Telephone Company and Vice President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, in direct charge of all the departments of that vast corporation, arrives in Atlanta this morning on a short visit to the headquarters of the Southern Bell Telephone Company.

Mr. Bethell is en route to New York, after having made a business trip to Nashville and New Orleans and a pleasure sojourn of ten days in Florida.

While in Atlanta he will be entertained by Colonel W. T. Genttry, president of the Southern Bell Company, and other telephone officials.

In the telephone world Mr. Bethell stands next in rank to Theodore N. Vail, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company. He is regarded as one of the leading telephone experts of the world, and during his twenty-five years' telephone service he has risen rapidly to the first rank of the profession.

The Ideal American Woman.

In undertaking to analyze or discover the ideal American woman, one must necessarily divide and subdivide the subject until we have several types, writes Ella Wheeler Wilcox in McCall's Magazine for February.

Consider first the ideal woman of wealth and fashion. Having been born to fortune and position, and possessing an average mind and a good modicum of common sense and power of reasoning, our ideal woman feels the responsibility of her place in life. She is conscious that her manners will be studied as models by those in less conspicuous circles, and that hundreds of people who are unknown to her will nevertheless be influenced in their ideals and morals by her conduct and deportment. Noblesse oblige will be her motto, and without loss of individuality or sacrifice of real liberty of action, she develops the very best and noblest qualities of womanhood, and endeavors to leave an impress of admirable characteristics upon the public, rather than of astonishing costumes or dazzling jewels or daring behavior.

Not that beautiful garments and precious gems are to be disregarded. When by birth, inheritance or honest achievements, men and women possess material wealth, fine apparel and beautiful adornments belong to them by right, as brilliant plumage belongs to certain species of birds. Since nature brightens the woods and fields with magnificent birds of paradise, gorgeous peacocks, luxurious pheasants and a hundred other decorative fowls, why should man declare it obligatory upon every feathered thing to wear only the livery of the barnyard chanticleer or the little brown wren? Even the waters of the ocean show the varieties of raiment which the Great Creator gave to the finny tribe, and since sea and jungle and meadow are beautified by these different expressions of the One Cause, may not human beings display individual tastes and ideals in their raiment and their homes, without condemnation from the censorious?

The ideal woman of wealth would be highly accomplished. She would be a linguist, and know the intellectual foundation of music if she were not a performer on any instrument. She would know something of art and litrature, for in her position she would feel ashamed at not being able to discuss music, art or books with intelligence and understanding. And she would possess the good sense and large view of life, which would save her from the error of ignorance in regarding the man or woman of genius as her inferoir, unless that man or woman failed to live worthily of the talent bestowed.

It is mainly in America, the land of the newly rich, that such errors are common; or that women in high social stations and possessing large wealth are to be frequently found so sadly lacking in culture and accomplishments. In European countries, women born to such positions seem to feel a sense of responsibility, and their parents and guardians begin early to render them fit for their social leadership. Wonderful musicians, artists and scholars are quite common in many families of wealth abroad, and the mere possession of money is never a passport to the best of circles there. Everywhere in the older countries the man or woman gifted with artistic talents, coupled with good manners and unoffending habits, is recognized as a social equal of the best.

America would welcome an ideal millionairess who emulated the queen of Roumania. Born a princess, this lovely lady, Elizabeth, set her goal to be the most cultured, accomplished and good princess and queen of her time. So she developed her artistic tastes until they became talents, and distinguished herself in music and literature. She also studied the needs of her people, and resolved to build a city for the blind, where the sightless ones should be taught the arts and trades and professions.

The Selfish Kind.
(From Judge.)

"What is a 'fair-weather friend,' pa?"

"One who won't lend you his umbrella."

Very Ignorant.
(From Hampton Magazine.)

Shortly before his death the late Chief Justice Fuller presided at a church conference. During the progress of a heated debate a member arose and began a tirade against universities and education, thanking God that he had never been corrupted by contact with a college.

"Do I understand the speaker thanks God for his ignorance?" interrupted the chief justice.

"Well, yes," was the answer, "you can put it that way if you want to."

"All I have to say, then," said the chief justice, in his sweetest musical tone, "is that the member has a good deal to thank God for."

For generations fires were so commonplace in Japan that they were accepted as necessary evils, but the increased value of modern structures and the general progress of the people have rendered it imperative, in the large cities at least, to install Western fire-fighting apparatus.

Don't Let Your Feet Trouble You

Use Johnson's Foot Soap, the only safe remedy for the feet. It gives immediate relief in every form of foot trouble, and used according to directions two or three times a week will cure any case. It is guaranteed to contain none of the injurious elements commonly used in alleged foot remedies. There is not one particle of alum or salicylic acid in Johnson's Foot Soap, and no excessive alkalies that would harm the skin and sub-cuticle.

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded

JOHNSON'S FOOT SOAP
ACTS LIKE MAGIC

Sold for forty years by leading druggists

For Corns, Callouses, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Excessive Perspiration, Tender Feet

Johnson's Foot Soap was originated over forty years ago by Dr. Wm. Johnson, graduate of the London Chemical Laboratory, and one of the most expert and famous chemists of his times. He succeeded where all others had failed in combining Borax, Iodine and Bran with an emulsion of oils. The remedy took the form of a very high-grade soap, although not originally intended for cleansing purposes. Every form of foot trouble yields at once to the soothing, healing effects of Johnson's Foot Soap;—once used, you will use no other remedy—it is so easy to use and so beneficial.

The action of Johnson's Foot Soap is immediate. The Borax opens and sterilizes the pores so that the Iodine may enter and remove all inflammation. It heals while it soothes. The Bran has a softening and beneficial effect on the skin, and removes the surface irritants that lead to serious ills.

Used as a bath soap it is unequaled. It cools the skin and cures humors and rashes of all kinds. It also takes out the surface lameness that so many people suffer from and consider as rheumatism.

A box of Johnson's Foot Soap is a most complete treatment, and sells at 25c. Your money back if not entirely satisfied.

During his fifty-eight years of service as captain of coastwise vessels he never met with an accident nor was any man under his command injured. He has commanded fourteen vessels.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES, DAY BY DAY

ALL THE NEWS OF REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

With two days of good weather the real estate market has opened up somewhat and the inquiries which have recently been held up by adverse weather conditions have again begun to pour in. Agents say that the number of inquiries this far exceed that of any season for several years.

The leading sales announcement of Tuesday was that of half a dozen Ansley park lots for a consideration of $20,000.

J. H. Ewing, of Edwin P. Ansley's agency, sold the six lots to a client whose name is withheld. The lots front on Maddox drive and the Prado and have an average dimension of 75x150 feet each.

Colonial Hill Notes.

The work of improving Colonial Hill subdivision, between Oakland City and East Point, is progressing rapidly and all of the three miles of water mains, which arrived several days ago, will soon have been laid. This will give the subdivision all of the advantages of city lots, sewerage, sidewalks and electric lights having already been installed.

The bungalows of John D. Hamrington and George Wright are practically complete and several more will be started within a few days.

R. L. Reed, lot 17, in block I, $850; W. L. Johnson, lot 15, in block U, $550; S. H. Goboy, lot 20, in block D, $1,200; Mrs. J. M. Allen, lot 7, in block H, $1,100; Della H. Quinn, lot 17, in block H, $850; P. H. G. Wilkie, lot 15, in block I, $700; J. C. Stanford, lot 11, in block I, $700; H. R. Bean, lot 10, in block I, $700; F. C. Myers, lot 20, in block I, $900.

Imperial Hotel To Be Remodeled.

Plans for remodeling the Imperial hotel have been drawn which will call for about $45,000 worth of work. It is understood, however, that the owners do not contemplate executing the plans for a year or more yet, but the fact that the hotel, which has only been opened a short time, is already crowded to its capacity has led them to take this provisional step.

The plans will mean the remodeling of the entire front of the building with an addition of nearly twenty-five rooms between what is now the front of the building and the sidewalk. A front of a new and imposing design, the principal feature of which will be massive granite columns, will be put in and the building, when complete, will set even with the sidewalk.

Friday Night's Banquet.

The regular monthly dinner of the Atlanta Real Estate Men's Association will be held next Friday night from 6:30 to 8 o'clock in the dining rooms of the Young Women's Christian Association in the Emery-Steiner building on Peachtree street.

Harris G. White will preside. Among other matters, the advisability of appointing a nominating committee will be discussed. Whether it is better to have officers nominated by the body of the association or by committee has been the subject of some discussion among members of the association. The advisability of recommending a change in the system used in official record of the property in the city will also be discussed.

Record Price for Ponce de Leon.

It was learned Tuesday that the sale of the corner of Ponce de Leon and Kearsarge avenues at $82.50 a front foot, as announced by the Greene Realty Company several days ago, sets a new record for frontage rates on Ponce de Leon avenue east of the bridge. The next closest price is $70. It is expected that property in this section will reach the $100 mark before the summer has past.

AN OPPORTUNITY

THERE is an old saying that you can tell a man by the clothes he wears. It is equally true that you can tell his circumstances by his place of habitation. Be that as it may, if you are feeling prosperous this spring and wish to give an outward manifestation of your success, here is your opportunity.

On Ponce de Leon, near Druid Hills, a magnificent residence with over 75 feet frontage on the avenue. Twenty thousand dollars would not be too much to ask for it, but we believe that it can be bought now for something in the neighborhood of $16,000. Attractive terms.

To Have Your Wife Become an Ad Reader Is Better Fortune for You Than an Increase of Salary!

FOR the ad-reading housewife makes the family expense money "go farther"—makes it buy more and better things—and, in the course of a year, will have saved a surprising sum, without curtailing home supplies in the least.

The ad-reading housewife simply applies business methods to buying the needed home supplies. She learns when, where, how much to buy at a time. She manages her buying.

And the habit of wise buying—practiced by ad-readers exclusively—lends to wise and systematic and frictionless management of all home routine and affairs. So that the man whose wife becomes an ad reader is, indeed, lucky—for the whole outlook for him is bettered and brightened!

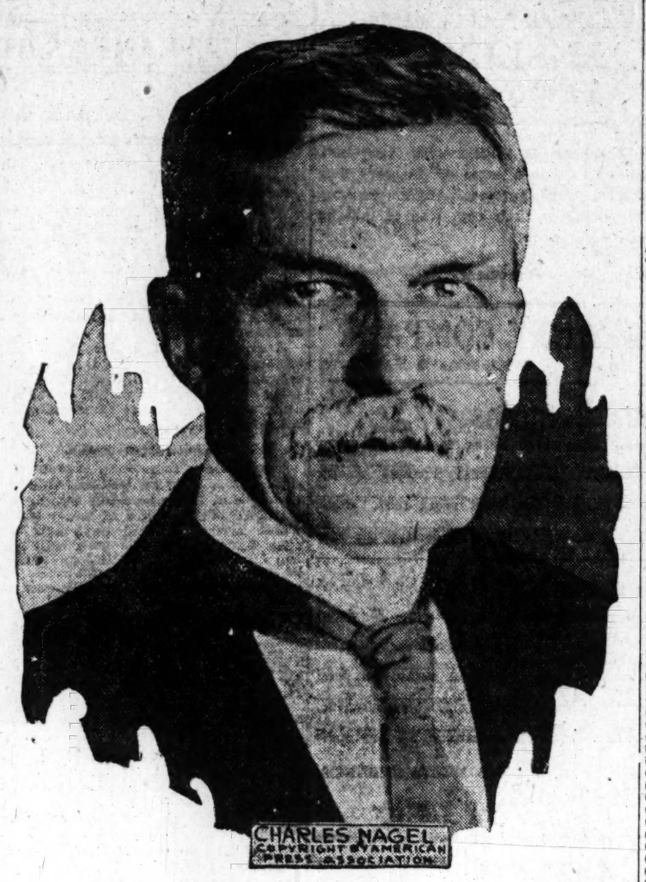
SECRETARY CHARLES NAGEL FOR THE SUPREME COURT



Charles Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor, will probably be appointed associate justice of the supreme court as the successor of the late John M. Harlan. President Taft has eliminated United States Circuit Judge William C. Hook, of Kansas, from the list of candidates and has turned toward Secretary Nagel. The president on two occasions has been on the verge of sending Judge Hook's name to the senate for the supreme court vacancy, and his elimination now comes as the result of a jimcrow decision rendered by him. Attorney General Wickersham has urged the president to appoint Secretary Nagel from the beginning, and the president has been favorably inclined toward his cabinet officer on all points except his age. Mr. Nagel is sixty-two years old, and Mr. Taft believes he ought to name a man under sixty.

HANGMAN'S NOOSE LIFTED ROGUE TO MOST EXALTED HEIGHTS

Moscow, February 13.—Sixty-seven husbands and fathers of this city have lodged with the holy governing synod sensational complaints against the Most Consecrated Archimandrite Makarius, prior to Spassky monastery. They say he is a wicked man. Spassky monastery lies on the edge of Mother Moscow, by the muddy Yausa's brim, it dates from the fourteenth century, and was visited by Dmitri Donskoi, the warrior prince, who raised the Kremlin's walls, and, by routing the Tartar hosts of Mamy Kahn, began the liberation of Russia. In theory, Spassky monastery is a super-monkish hermitage, which regards all human weakneses severely, curses vodka, and condemns women as accursed things to be banned and barred from its precincts. But sixty-seven husbands and fathers affirm that their wives, daughters, nieces, housemaids and cooks have been lured and kidnaped into Spassky monastery to provide a most consecrated Archimandrite with the amenities of secular life.

And the wives, daughters, nieces and housemaids admit that the Most Consecrated Makarius is a desperate rogue, who prays by day, but spends his nights in orgies; that he lives like a Florentine price in Renaissance times; wears cambric under his horsehair shirt; profanes the sacred images; has the best troika of Orloff trotters in Russia, and spends the monastery's treasure in building stately pleasure domes in secret forest retreats. And they add that he is a patron of art, who keeps a choir of thirteen handsome songstresses to sing him to sleep over his post-prandial port. And that he presents deserving monks who serve him well with songstresses whose voices he has got tired of. And that he . . . But, in short, Archimandrite Makarius is an amazing man, whose exploits would supply irreverent Boccaccio with material for a dozen years of busy pen-pushing.

The sixty-seven husbands and fathers demanded that the most consecrated should be put on trial. And they began to look up his antecedents, but quite in vain, until a prying man named Litakchof unearthed the remarkable tale. And this tale shows that of all imaginable ways of rising to archimandrite's rank, the Most Consecrated Makarius chose the most original.

Only five years ago, the most consecrated was merely Monsier Makarii Gnevushin, layman professor of orthodox theology at Kieff Ecclesiastical seminary. Monsier Gnevushin was what Czar Nicholas calls "sound." That is, he was governmental. He thundered cloudily against liberals, Jews, revolutionaries and atheists, and had a vague idea taht all were the same thing. He backed up heartily the repressions of Peter Arkadievitch Stolypin and cried for more. And his fiery rhetoric exalting the extinct autocracy attracted the favorable attention of Nicholas II.'s court.

And then disaster bell on Russia. A famine in hangmen set in. There were no professionals, because under Sipyagin, Plehve and Durnovo no one was hanged; and when in the summer of 1906 Stolypin started an orgy of hanging the improvised hangmen fell short. Respectable citizens resolutely refused to hang.

Stolypin's recourse was to make terms with convicted murderers to hang revolutionaries, and, as reward, release them. But this, too, failed. Jail birds have a code of honor, and one of its provisions is not to serve the state. Hangmen remained as scarce as roubles. The reactionary newspapers explained that well-disposed Russians should assist by volunteering as amateur hangmen; hanging men, they said, was not half bad when you got used to it. And Theology Professor Monsieur Makarii Gnevushin, as usual, headed the choir and counseled all loyal citizens to help hang the disloyal.

Yet when six Kieff student revolutionaries were condemned to be hanged no hangman was found. For three days their hanging was postponed. They hoped for a respite. But on the fourth a company of soldiers kicked them into the prison yard and bid them prepare for hanging.

And the nangman drew near, a tall, thin hangman of dignified bearing by no means suggesting professional criminality. His face was masked with velvet, his hands were covered with neat gray suede gloves. He hanged five revolutionaries with somewhat amateur hesitancy, but without mistake, and the five Polish revolutionaries met their death like well-behaved revolutionaries should.

And then the extraordinary happened. With the noose already round his neck the sixth victim, a merry, freckled lad of 20, stretched forth his arm and snatched the velvet mask from the enigmatical hangman's face.

Kieff's citizens like sensations. They talked, but their newspapers were forbidden to publish what the talk was about. For a month Monsieur Gnevushin pursued zealously his theological pedagogy and then suddenly disappeared. He reappeared as the Most Consecrated Archimandrite Makarius, prior of Spassky monastery. That was the reward given him for his hangman's fidelity.

And Spassky monastery, famous for 600 years of piety, suddenly grew more pious still. The monks, said the newspapers, groaned under the new prior's iron discipline and ascetic tyranny.

The most consecrated saw visions; he did penance; he flogged himself ruthlessly and flogged his underlings still worse; he sat up praying at night. He cursed women and drink, dismissed the night watchman because his old mother brought him beer and declared that no drop of wine should enter the monastery except for treatment of disease. And the Moscow wine dealers secretly sold the archimandrite so much champagne that they concluded the most consecrated was suffering all the diseases of modern times.

And now the theological professor, amateur hangman and professional monk will have to explain his peccadilloes. Of course the holy governing synod is trying to hush up the scandal and has so far contented itself with fraudulent enquiries. But with the sixty-seven angry husbands and fathers things have gone too far and now a trial of some sort can hardly be put off. Probably it will be perfunctory, for the orthodox church does not punish cruelly and Nicholas II. has a particular affection for pious rogues.

Nothing very serious will happen to the most consecrated. He will not be compelled to act as his own hangman.

A Housewarming.

"I want a dress to put on around the house," said the lady in the department store.

"The science of bugs."

"Then is an entomologist an insanity expert?"

NOTICE OF INTRODUCTION OF ORDINANCE FOR PAVING STREET.

Notice is hereby given that at the meeting of the Mayor and General Council of the City of Atlanta, held on the 8th day of February, 1912, petition of property owners and others was introduced, read, and referred to the Street Committee, asking for the paving of Fifth street between North Jackson street and Bedford Place, with rock and chert and that an ordinance based on said petition will be introduced and considered, at the meeting of the general council to be held at 3 o'clock p. m., on the 19th day of February, 1912, being one of the regular sessions of the general council.

If the ordinance is passed, said portion of said street will be passed and the cost thereof distributed and collected as provided for by the Charter of the City of Atlanta—only one-third thereof being paid out of the City Treasury and the remaining two-thirds raised by assessment, from abutting property and its owners. If there is a street railroad on the street its proportion of the cost will be first deducted and the city pay one-third and abutting property and its owners the remaining two-thirds.

At the council meeting aforesaid, opportunity will be given all persons interested to advocate or oppose the passage of the proposed paving ordinance.

NOTICE OF INTRODUCTION OF ORDINANCE FOR PAVING STREET.

Notice is hereby given that at the meeting of the Mayor and General Council of the City of Atlanta, held on the 15th day of January, 1912, petition of property owners and others was introduced, read, and referred to the Street Committee, asking for the paving of Moreland avenue between Euclid street and Ponce de Leon avenue with bituminous macadam, and that an ordinance based on said petition will be introduced and considered, at the meeting of the general council to be held at 3 o'clock p. m., on the 19th day of February, 1912, being one of the regular sessions of the general council.

If the ordinance is passed, said portion of said street will be passed and the cost thereof distributed and collected as provided for by the Charter of the City of Atlanta—only one-third thereof being paid out of the City Treasury and the remaining two-thirds raised by assessment, from abutting property and its owners. If there is a street railroad on the street its proportion of the cost will be first deducted and the city pay one-third and abutting property and its owners the remaining two-thirds.

At the council meeting aforesaid, opportunity will be given all persons interested to advocate or oppose the passage of the proposed paving ordinance.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

Cotton Made a Sharp Break Early in Session, But Rallied—Closed Strong.

New York, February 13.—A sharp early break in the cotton market, attributable to easy cables, was quickly followed by renewed firmness, and prices made new high records for the movement in the late trading, with the close strong at an advance of from 9 to 14 points, comparing with the final figures of last Saturday.

The market opened steady at a decline of 8@19 points, under heavy general realizing and local selling, inspired by the relatively easy showing of Liverpool over the local holiday. Big trade interests were active buyers, however, checking the decline around the initial figures, and as soon as the rush in selling had spent its course the market steadied. Bullish private advices from the south, claiming a continued active spot demand and firm interior holders, together with the readiness with which the market had absorbed the early offerings, seemed to render shorts nervous, and prices soon rallied from the lowest. At a recovery of 6@6 points, trading became comparatively quiet, and there appeared to be an interval of hesitation, but a renewal of support from strong trade interests started prices upward again in the afternoon, and before the close May sold at 10.60 and July at 10.66, or about 14 points above the closing figures of last week. Last prices were within 2 or 3 points of the best.

Private cables attribute the relatively easy ruling of Liverpool to heavy realizing by the continent in the absence of support or technical conditions rather than to any change in the general situation, and sentiment here was evidently influenced bullishly by the appearance of buying orders in the hands of strong trade interests who are supposed to be already heavily long on the old crop months, and by the bullish character of southern spot advices.

Receipts at all the ports today 67,000, against 66,515 last week and 22,408 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 19,595, against 6,632 last year; at Houston, 15,219, against 4,509 last year and at Galveston 22,059, against 10,028 last year.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, February 13.—Spot cotton firm, 1-16 up; middling, 10½; sales on the spot, 1,000 bales; to arrive, 840; low ordinary, 6 13-16, nominal; ordinary, 7⅝, nominal; good ordinary, 9 1-16; strict good ordinary, 9 7-16; low middling, 9⅞; strict low middling, 10¼; middling, 10½; strict middling, 10 13-16; good middling, 11 1-16; strict good middling, 11¼; middling fair, 11 9-16; middling fair to fair, 11 15-16; fair, 12 5-16, nominal; receipts, 19,595; stock, 292,174.

Cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 4 to 8 points on poor cables. The short side was inclined to be aggressive and bull support was lacking in the early trading. The weather map reflected good rains in the western half of the belt and dry weather in the eastern. Texas has been sending in complaints of late that the ground was rather hard to plow. Selling immediately after the call put prices four to ten points down, the distant months showing more strength than the near. Shorts took profits on this decline and caused a small reaction, prices at the end of the first half hour of business standing 1 to 4 points down on the old crop months and 1 point up on the new, compared with yesterday's close.

Toward the middle of the morning, the ring was given buying orders at several points. Gossip said that the bull clique was operating heavily again. The market immediately responded to the buying and kept on rising right up to the noon hour, with the undertone very firm, although trailing longs were good profit-takers at almost every point advance. At noon the trading months were 11 to 15 points over yesterday's close.

In the afternoon session, the market held very steady and the advance was widened.

At 2 o'clock, prices were 15 to 20 points up.

Dry Goods.

New York, February 13.—The cotton goods markets are strong and buying is more general than it has been in some months. Many retail buyers are operating. Fancy worsteds in men's wear for fall delivery are being ordered more liberally. Jobbers are doing an active house trade.

Wool.

St. Louis, February 13.—Wool steady; medium grades, combing and clothing, 20@21½; light fine, 15@19; heavy fine, 12@15; tub-washed, 27@30.

Boston, February 13.—Activity in domestic wool keeps pace with the demand for the foreign product and holders report a firm market with slightly higher tendency in the finer grades. Transfers of Texas and California stock show an increase.

Leading domestic quotations included Kentucky, Indiana and Missouri; three-eighths, 27; quarter-blood, 27@28.

Scoured basis: Texas fine, 6 to 8 months, 48; fine, 12 months, 53 to 54; fine, fall, 43.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, February 13.—Cotton seed oil was lower early under reports of free crude offerings with lard, but with the refusal of mills to accept lower prices for their output refiners were compelled to enter the market, and this support together with room covering effected a recovery in the afternoon. Spot closed five points lower and futures 1c higher to 1c lower.

Spot—Prime crude, 4.60, nominal; prime summer yellow, 5.45@6.60; do. winter yellow, 5.75@6.25; do. summer white, 5.75@6.10. Futures ranged as follows:

BEARS IN STOCKS FAILED IN EFFORT

Their Attempt to Put Prices Down Made But Little Impression.

New York, February 13.—Professional traders in stocks began the day with an effort to put prices down, but, although the market was somewhat unsettled at the outset, they were able to make little impression on the list. The attack having failed, operations were begun on the other side of the market, and these met with more success. In the last hour buying was conducted confidently on a large scale and prices of the leading stocks were advanced from 1 to 2 points. Union Pacific, Reading, the Hill stocks, the Eries, United States Steel and the Coppers were the leaders in strength and activity.

In attacking the list at the opening, traders reasoned that the heavy selling movement which was in progress when the market closed Saturday would be continued today, the bears having additional ammunition in the January tonnage figures for United States Steel and the unfavorable bank statement, both made known after the close of the market last week. United States Steel gave way to 58¾, the lowest price of the year; the list eased off, but losses were not large, and it was soon evident that effective support was being offered. Prices rallied before the end of the first hour and trading became dull, with only a nominal movement until the sharp advance late in the day.

The upward movement was said to be due largely to covering of short contracts, although there seemed to be indications of renewed accumulation of some stocks. The movement in the Hill group attracted especial attention. Buying of these stocks was influenced by the testimony of James J. Hill before the Stanley investigating committee, implying, in his opinion, the Great Northern Ore property was worth at least $500,000,000. Great Northern Ore rose nearly 2 points early in the day, when the general market was barely steady and the shares of the Hill roads later moved up strongly.

Some of the specialties were heavy, American Tobacco fell back 4 points. The boom in this stock has suffered a definite interruption, it having lost more than 30 points on the reaction which has been in progress recently.

Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis was unusually strong and active.

Although United States Steel showed no continued heaviness as a result of the January tonnage figures, which were lower than the street had expected, the stocks of some of the independent steel companies were. It was reported that the United States Steel Corporation was operating close to 90 per cent of capacity in its steel-making and rolling departments, and about 87 per cent of its pig iron capacity.

The bond market was quiet and irregular. St. Louis Southwestern consols and Erie convertible B's were notably strong. Total sales, par value, $2,678,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Liverpool Cotton.

Liverpool, February 13.—Closing cotton spot good business done; prices 7 points lower; American middling fair, 6.36; good middling, 6.18; middling fair, 5.92; low middling, 5.62; good ordinary, 4.98. The sales of the day were 12,000 bales, of which 2,000 were for speculation and export and included 10,700 American. Receipts, 33,000 bales, including 27,200 American. Futures opened easier and closed barely steady.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, February 13.—A slackening in the demand from Manchester, where the Lancashire spinners hold large supplies of cotton, brought about a decline in Liverpool today of 3 points. This was certainly a surprise to the large local long interest, who are believers in much higher prices. While the Liverpool market was open, the profit-taking abroad caused a decline here of about 15 points, but support was constantly given to the market whenever it became weak. During the afternoon, the same character of buying which has appeared during the advance absorbed all of the offerings, closing the market firm at 12 points higher than Saturday.

Liverpool should improve 10 points tomorrow. We doubt if it will do so well. The buyers tonight were the sellers at the low point on December bureau report. Receipts are very heavy and there is a better demand for fertilizers reported from the south. We also hear of good rains in southwest Texas.

WHEAT DROPPED OVER ONE CENT

Lower Cables and Large Receipts Caused Decline. Corn Down.

Chicago, February 13.—Wheat today suffered the most severe decline in two months. Bearish sentiment became pronounced, owing to continued big receipts and to lower cables. In consequence, the close was 1½ to 1⅝ under Saturday night's level. Corn finished ¼ to ⅜@½ down; oats off ¼ to ⅜@½, and hog products less expensive by 2½ to 7½@10c.

Stop-loss orders made the break in wheat much worse than might otherwise have been the case. Receipts in all directions had furnished a genuine surprise, running about double what they were a year ago. World shipments, too, turned out to be larger than expected, and the decrease in the United States visible supply was disappointingly small. Back of the weakness in foreign markets lay the fact that Argentine exports showed signs of a material gain. There was, also, a report that India promised a bumper yield. Besides the cash demand here and the flour trade at Minneapolis were both slow. A fair demand from commission houses developed on the decline, but the buying served only to give business a steady tone at the close, especially as plenty of moisture southwest seemed to make more and more suspicious the outlook for winter wheat. During the session May fluctuated between $1.01⅝ and $1.02⅞, with last sales at $1.01⅞@$1.02, a loss of 1⅜ net.

Corn values weakened chiefly because of the collapse in wheat. Favorable weather and the generous arrivals acted likewise against the bulls. May ranged from 67⅞@68 to 68½, closing steady at 68¼, a net decline of ⅝@½. Cash grades were weak. No. 2 yelow was not quoted.

Notwithstanding a steady start, oats suffered a setback as a result of bearish feeling in the other grain pits. Support, however, developed after the dip. Outside limits reached for May were 52½ and 52⅝, with the wind-up at 52⅝, just ¼c under Saturday night.

Stockyard concerns took the selling side of provisions, and there was but little disposition shown to buy. Accordingly, the market sagged, with prices in the end 5 to 7½@10c off for pork, and 2½ to 5 down for the other kinds of product.

The Army Canteen.

(From Harper's Weekly.)

There seems to be a possibility that the privilege of selling wine and beer in the army canteens will be restored. The great preponderance of sentiment among officers of the army in favor of its restoration seems at last to have had some effect. As everyone interested knows, the objection to the exclusion of the milder intoxicants from the canteens has been that soldiers who wanted such drinks and could not get them inside the posts went off the military reservations and got much worse drinks in much worse company. To stop that, Mrs. Boole, the president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, says with amusing ingenuousness, "Why not appeal to congress for legislation that will prohibit the sale of all alcoholic liquors within 5 miles of any camp, fort or military reservation?" There is a good reason why not. Congress has no power at present to regulate liquor traffic, or any such matter, on land outside of the military reservations, though it will have such power whenever the prohibitionists can carry the country and amend the federal constitution. There is likely to be delay about that, and meanwhile it is to hope that congress will summon all its courage and restore the wine and beer privilege to the canteens. That will not be an unmixed good, but unmixed goods are scarce, and there is overwhelming testimony that this change will, on the whole, greatly benefit the health and morale of the army.

Turning Beauty Parlors Into Gymnasiums.

Women are beginning to realize more and more that common sense is as We don't have to apologize for wanting to look as comely as possible, for good health, the foundation of beauty, is a potent factor in a woman's life. There is no real beauty without health. The realization of this has changed the entire attitude toward what we are pleased to call beauty culture. Realizing that beauty is a thing of health, we seek it not in the cosmetic jar, but in the health of body and mind, and there is a growing tendency to turn beauty parlors into gymnasiums, writes Margaret Hubbard Ayer, in the January McCall's.

When you go to the doctor and complain of some malady, while he is listening to your tale of woe he looks earnestly at your face. From the condition of the skin and from various lines, sagging, puffiness and so on, in the countenance, he diagnoses to a great extent the condition of the general system. For the face is like a semaphore, continually signaling the necessary in the cultivation of good looks as it is in growing vegetables.

Every woman who is not satisfied with her looks, and by that I mean especially her face, should try and find out what is the meaning of these indications which show so plainly on her countenance, despite the use of face creams and toilet lotions, and should set to work to remedy not the effect, but the cause itself.

I suppose that everyone of you has at one time or another been interested in physical culture. Every year we get physical culture disguised under another name. Last season it was Greek dancing, and I am just waiting to find out what it will be this year; but, whatever fancy name it bears, it will still be the conscious rythmic exercise of the body and limbs, and its results, if practiced after some good system, will be beneficial, not only to the figure, but to the face. Exercising the limbs and body methodically and in the correct way stops a deterioration of the body, upon the condition of which depends the beauty of the face and complexion.

LUCK

The only sort of "luck" that is worth anything is the sort which you can ACHIEVE, not that which "happens" without your initiative. Those who watch and answer The Constitution want ads regulate their own luck.

Wanted, the Earth.

(From Judge.)

Howell—"Did you ever want the earth?"

Powell—"Yes, once, when I was fool enough to let a fellow take me up in his airship."

Consul Horace Lee Washington writes from Liverpool that Mersey salt exports for November, 1911, aggregated 30,746 tons, of which 6,452 tons were shipped to the United States.

A Good Reason.

(From The Baltimore American.)

"Why didn't you marry Miss Gocock you were so much in love with?"

"Because I had to acknowledge when questioned that I could not support her old man in the same style in which she did."

New to Him.

(From Judge.)

After he had tried for a moment to get his key inserted in the keyhole, he stepped back and leaned against the side of the vestibule. Then he scratched his head in perplexity and said:

"It'sh shtrange! I never knew before that we had one of theshe revolvin' doorsh here."

WHY DO IT?

To continue to live in the wrong flat or apartment or house—simply because moving is a bother—is wholly unnecessary self-martyrdom. If that is your situation, the "To Rent" ads in today's paper should become to you, right away, "opportunity news!"

FRANCE IS FIRST IN AERONAUTICS

Fox Hunting By Aeroplane Introduced By Busson.

Unpaid Gas Bill Saves Lives of Aged Couple Who Intended to Commit Suicide. Extraordinary Dishes Feature Banquet of Society.

Paris, February 14.—(Special.)—Almost from the time the Wright Brothers made the first heavier-than-air flying machine France has taken the lead in aeronautics. This is not unusual as from the time of Mongolfier flying has had a peculiar attraction for Frenchmen. In any event France has been, and is the first aeronautic power. Now another flying record has been established here.

Mr. Russon, a noted aeroplanist, the other day followed a fox hunt by the Pau pack. He was flying for forty-five minutes at a height of from 600 to 700 feet, witnessing every incident of the chase.

A short time ago the fashionable thing in Paris seemed to be to commit suicide, but fortunately the craze has now blown over. A commissary of police recently received a letter from an elderly man, begging him to come around and convey the remains of himself and his wife to the mortuary with as little display as possible. The elderly man explained that, having lost all his money in business, and being tired of life, and his wife had decided to go home, and after stopping up all the crevices in the doors and windows, to turn on the gas and go to sleep forever.

Immediately on receiving the letter, the commissary sent a representative to the address in question. The elderly gentleman and his wife received him, and admitted having written the letter, and they admitted also having resolved on suicide the night before.

Their plans, however, had been frustrated in a most commonplace manner. As arranged, they had plugged up the door and windows and composed themselves for death, and then the husband, on turning the gas tap, was disappointed to find that there was no gas there. The fact was elicited that, the gas bill having been unpaid, the company had cut off the supply thereby unwittingly saving two human lives.

Extraordinary Dishes.

Extraordinary dishes figured, as is the custom of such occasions at the annual banquet of the French National Acclimatisation Society, which took place today at the buffet of the Gare de Lyon here. Rare animals, hailing from the most remote lands, were pressed into the service, together with fruits and vegetables quite as exotic, and the guests are said to have thoroughly enjoyed this curious meal. Indeed, the head cook, who had devoted a fortnight to preliminary experiment, was warmly complimented at the close of the banquet by members of the society on the marvelous success that he had achieved, and this fully rewarded him for the skill and attention which he had devoted to by no means an easy task.

A new dish in Paris has been the rage during the past week. It is "Le Blerio au gratin," a pastery in the shape of an aeroplane filled with forced meat.

Trial of Vicomte.

The Paris courts have been busy with the trial of a French nobleman, the Vicomte Emmanuel de Gosson de Barlin, whose history as it came out in the course of the proceedings, is entertaining. The Vicomte Gosson de Barlin comes of an old stock, which traces its lineage back to the eleventh century. The vicomte was accused of the misappropriation of the funds of a brewing establishment to the extent of $55,000.

The origin of the case reveals how his noble family became very democratic in its occupation. His father, deprived of his hereditary estates, had become a commission agent at the Central markets. His business having failed, his only recourse, it is alleged, was to become a conjurer. The son sought to embrace the judicial career and obtained the post of notary's clerk, after which he qualified as a process-server, and secured the office of a "hissier."

It was a process-server that the Brasserie de la Meuse called upon him. The brewery had an account of 37,000 francs with a bankrupt. The Vicomte de Gosson promised to collect the debt. The company gladly advanced him all the money that he required. He drew, it is argued, so frequently on the brewery that before they were aware of it the advances made to him amounted to $55,000. The vicomte had pursued the recovery of the fugitive debt for seven years, and had instituted lawsuits in Belgium and Switzerland, which served as a pretext for drawing on the funds of the company.

The Brasserie de la Meuse made an inquiry on its own account, and considered that it had grounds for lodging an action against the vicomte in the criminal courts.

N. Le More, a Frenchman, aged 24, has just accomplished a journey by camel across the Sahara from Algiers to Timbuctoo, in the French Sudan. His object was to mark out the route for a proposed aeroplane flight across the desert. He was away from civilization for thirteen months, and covered over 5,000 miles. At Ain Salah, which was reached after thirteen days, the traveler met another Frenchman and his wife living in the lonely district. After that the caravan went for twenty-nine days without meeting another human being.

Jailed for Poems.

St. Petersburg, February 10.—A terrible story of an eminent Russian poet and man of science whose reward by a grateful government has been half a lifetime in solitary confinement was told in a trial a short time ago.

A. M. Morosoff, a Russian author and scientist, was put on his trial for a little volume of poems published in 1906, and was condemned to imprisonment in a fortress for one year.

The son of a wealthy land-owner, Nicholas Morosoff passed his childhood in the country, and developed a keen interest in nature studies. At twenty years of age, and while a student in the University of Moscow, he was arrested on a charge of spreading socialistic ideas among the peasants, and was kept in solitary confinement for three years before his trial. In the end he was made one of the defendants in the famous "trial of 193" political offenders, but was released immediately after the trial.

In January, 1881, however, he was again arrested because of his literary activity, and condemned to penal servitude for life. He was at first confined in a solitary cell in the ill-famed fortress of S. S. Peter and Paul. Four years later he was transferred to the "stone sacks" of the terrible Schlusselburg fortress, where he was kept for another twenty-one years.

How Atlanta Grows!

Go around on the edges where you haven't been in some time, and notice how the bungalows are springing up everywhere.

See how the long line of residences is reaching far out into the fields, new streets being opened up everywhere, and the building zone constantly pushed further out. Soon it will be a serious matter to find a desirable building lot in four or five miles of center.

Prudent people who can see a little ahead should provide a home site now. A vacant lot bought now will keep all right until the time comes when it is needed for actual building. We have nice lots at all prices and can make easy terms.

The "Pro Ella" Cross.

In the Island of Ushant—the "Isle of Fear"—there exists a custom probably unknown in any other part of Christendom. When a native dies abroad or is lost at sea, his relatives have a small wax cross made, some seven inches long. This is solemnly taken to the church and presented to the priest, who deposits it in a box, shaped like a cinerary urn, that hangs on the south side of the altar of St. Joseph. This is called the "Pro Ella" cross, and is supposed to stand for the spirit of the dead. These memorial symbols are allowed to accummulate in the box till the next church mission comes round. As these revival services are held only once in every four or five years, the number of crosses may be very considerable. A day is then set apart for their solemn interment. It is the great day, the climax of the mission. The church is draped in black and crowded with a mourning congregation, many of whom break out into loud wailing. The crosses are brought from their urn in solemn procession, a requiem mass is said over them, and then they are carried to the church yard, the iron door of the tomb is unlocked, and they are interred with full honors. Throughout the year hardly a day passes but some pious soul comes to sprinkle the tomb with holy water and say a prayer before it for the dead.

SCHIFF'S WIFE WAS INVOLVED BY VALET'S TALE

NEW TRIAL IS ORDERED FOR CONVICTED VALET

Brandt Was Given 30 Years and Has Served Five—Schiff Says He Was Warned That Brandt Would Spread Stories About Mrs. Schiff if Prosecution Was Pushed.

New York, February 13.—After serving nearly five years in prison for burglary at the home of Mortimer L. Schiff, where he formerly was employed as valet, Folke E. Brandt may be tried again to determine if he was guilty of the crime to which he confessed, and for which he is under sentence to serve thirty years in prison.

Judge Rosalsky, of the court of general sessions, who sentenced Brandt, ordered today the withdrawal of Brandt's plea of guilty and the substitution of a plea of not guilty for a new trial. This action was taken two hours after Justice Gerard, of the supreme court bench, had served decision on an application for Brandt's release on a writ of habeas corpus with the comment that he was "almost convinced" that the trial court had not had jurisdiction in sentencing Brandt on his plea, unsupported by evidence. Brandt had been remanded to the Tombs to await Justice Gerard's decision when Judge Rosalsky ordered the new trial.

Judge Parker Appears for Schiff.

A feature of today's developments was the appearance of Judge Alton B. Parker in behalf of Mortimer L. Schiff, who, he declared, is anxious to have the case sifted to the bottom that "false and infamous scandals" might be proved untrue.

To complicate the unusual court proceedings, Governor Dix, who previously refused to interfere in Brandt's behalf, late today appointed Justice Gerard as a commissioner to hear Brandt's application for clemency, which was regarded as a move to take the case out of Judge Rosalsky's hands.

In granting the new trial, Judge Rosalsky made an impassioned statement of his side of the case, declaring his record on the bench would bear the closest scrutiny. He had been moved, however, by bitter attacks to aid a full and fair investigation of the whole matter. After granting the motion for a new trial, he said he desired some other judge to try the case. The court ordered Brandt brought before him tomorrow for the withdrawal of his original plea.

Parker on Schiff's Attitude.

The attitude of Mr. Schiff as presented by Judge Parker in part follows:

"There has never been a time since this man's conviction that Mr. Schiff would not have injected himself into an application for clemency based upon grounds of contrition and reformation. Instead of that, according to the report, Brandt attempted to gain the sympathy of the governor and other officials by posing as a martyr under the infamous suggestion that Brandt's presence in my client's house was to keep an appointment with one dearer than life itself.

"With an instinct natural to husbands or fathers, my client has felt like resisting the call of civic duty which demanded exposure of charges so vile and outrageous, but he resists no longer. He hopes now for a trial that will enable the public to judge of the prisoner's crime and affording him the opportunity of vindicating his honor and that of his beloved wife."

Long Letter From Schiff.

Judge Parker read a long letter from Mr. Schiff, in which he said:

"The facts are simple. Brandt wrote an insulting letter to my wife, and was at once discharged from my employ. About a month later he entered my house at night and lay in wait for me in a dark room. As I entered the room and before I realized his presence one word had been spoken, he struck me on the head with a heavy tenpin. Near at hand he had a carving knife.

"Thinking I had an armed maniac to deal with, I argued with him, gave him money and got rid of him as best I could, and asked him to come to my office. When he came I had him examined by eminent alienists, as I believed he was of unsound mind. The alienists declared him sane and I caused his arrest.

"I was told that unless I favored leniency to this man he would attempt to spread scandalous stories. I felt it was my duty to my family, as well as to society, to refuse to be influenced by such threats, as I believed the man

MORSE TAKES SHIP FOR SUNNY CLIME

Liner Sails From New York Today for a Cruise in the Mediterranean—Morse and Wife Used Great Secrecy in Boarding the Ship.

New York, February 13.—(Special.) Charles W. Morse, his wife and Harry F. Morse, his son, slipped out of their apartments on Fifty-eighth street tonight and went across the river to board the Hamburg-American Liner Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, which sails for the sunshine of the Mediterranean at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Morse came to town when President Taft commuted his sentence from the federal prison at Atlanta, where he had been since January 1, 1910, on last Thursday, and he was wheeled through the Pennsylvania station in a cloud of smoke from popping flashlights. No one was around to see the Morse family leave tonight.

How Morse Went Aboard.

A big automobile came in the darkness to the Miano apartments at 127 West Fifty-eighth street. Mr. Morse, in his invalid chair, was helped in, Mrs. Morse and her son followed, and the machine whirled downtown, bound for the Christopher street ferry to Hoboken.

At the apartments all inquirers were told that the Morses had gone to Atlantic City for a few days.

The next heard of them was when the hangers on at the Hamburg-American docks at Hoboken saw a man in a wheel hcair being taken from an automobi e and wheeled up to the gang plank for first cabin passengers aboard the big Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, which was all astir with preparations for departure tomorrow morning. With him was a woman and a young man.

No one on the ship would admit tonight that the banker was aboard, and his name was not down on the passenger list. Morse doesn't want any more flashlight experience.

For Mediterranean Cruise.

The Kaiserin is making a special Mediterranean cruise. The twin screw liner, one of the most luxurious of the Hamburg-American ships, stops first at Maderia, then she touches at Gibra tar, then Algiers, and Ville Franche. It is here in all probability, that the Morses will leave the ship for in the sunshine of the Riveria the banker hopes to get back some of his vitality.

It is understood that Dr. A. L. Fowler, who accompanied Morse to this city from Atlanta, is not going with the banker.

It became known today that Morse has been served here in a suit brought by the Assets Realization Company, a corporation which was organized to take over Morse's ho dings after his downfall. The nature of the suit was not disclosed.

GILBERT DEMANDS INCINERATOR NOW

City Must Raise About $200,000 in Order That Garbage May Be Burned During Approaching Summer Season. Committee Active.

"Atlanta must have a plant forthwith with which to dispose of its garbage. The matter has reached a stage when there is nothing else left for the city to do. We built our splendid auditorium through the public spirit of our people; we got a city hall because of the good work of one of our best citizens; we bought Piedmont park when there was no ready cash with which to pay for it. These projects were financed by men who had the Atlanta spirit. There has never been any public improvement more urgently needed at any time in the city's history than a garbage disposal plant. We managed to get through last summer by temporary makeshifts, but we can do so no longer. Will Atlanta be equal to the emergency?"

This statement comes from Dr. W. L. Gilbert, president of the board of health, and it is the sentiment of the special committee which has been appointed to devise plans for a new crematory.

There is only $50,000 on hand, and a garbage disposal plant will probably cost $400,000. It is necessary to raise something like $200,000 for the first payment and the question is how is it to be done.

Committee Holds Conference.

A conference was held Tuesday afternoon between W. E. Dowd, Jr., and the special crematory committee. Mr. Dowd and E. L. Penruddocke are here representing the Heenan Destructor Company, which proposes to erect a garbage disposal plant to take care of all the city's refuse for $400,000. Of this amount at least $250,000 must be raised this year.

The Heenan Destructor is a high temperature incinerator and not only destroys the refuse matter, but does not emit any bad smelling odors, and it is so operated as to be a source of revenue to the city, as the residue can be advantageously used for street and sidewalk paving, it is claimed. Such a plant also generates enough steam power to operate water pumping stations or furnish electric lights.

Amount of City Garbage.

Atlanta collects approximately two hundred and fifty tons of refuse each day. This refuse consists of garbage,

EYES OF KIMMEL CLAIMANT NOT EYES OF GEORGE KIMMEL

St. Louis, February 13.—The Kimmel claimant's eyes are not the eyes of George A. Kimmel, according to testimony given this afternoon by Dr. Meyer Wiener, in the suit for Kimmel's life insurance in the federal court. This testimony was regarded by attorneys for the receiver of a defunct bank of Niles, Mich., as being the most important evidence thus far introduced to prove that the claimant, Andrew J. White, a former convict, is not the missing Arkansas City, Kan., bank cashier.

A second oculist corroborated Dr. Wiener's testimony. Both had examined White in conjunction with two oculists for the defense.

The testimony of Dr. Samuel O. Vanderpool at the former trial of the case was read. Dr. Vanderpool testified he found the claimant suffering from a constitutional disease when he examined him in Matteawan asylum in 1905, and that his mind was affected.

"Do you think," he was asked, "that a man suffering from this disease could think he was someone else?"

"Yes," replied the doctor, "he would be very likely to think so. He might read in the newspapers about a man and come to think he was someone else."

White was not in court today while the oculists were on the stand.

SOCIETY TAKES CHARGE TONIGHT AT AUDITORIUM

All Officials of Auto Show Exhibits Will Be in Full Dress.

OUT-OF-TOWN PEOPLE PREDOMINATED TUESDAY

Large Number of Cars Have Already Been Sold by Exhibitors—Show Is Warmly Praised by Visitors—Movement Now Under Way to Make It Permanent Event.

Out-of-town people predominated at the big auto show yesterday and last night.

The day was scheduled as "Military Day," and while the attendance from Fort McPherson and the various military schools in and near the city was good, it was visitors from out of town who kept the big auditorium crowded almost to capacity during the afternoon and night. The doors were opened at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, but the attendance was rather light until about the middle of the afternoon.

The attendance of so many out-of-town people indicates that there is much interest throughout the entire state in the show, and that the promoters are not dependent entirely upon local support. The local attendance was exceedingly good Monday and it is expected that today—Society Day—will prove especially attractive for Atlantans.

Today Is Society Day.

Visitors to the auditorium tonight will be greeted by a sight not often seen. Every man connected with the various exhibits will be in full dress. Society will be largely represented, and the evening is expected to be the most enjoyable of the entire show. The Kilties band will put on a special program for the occasion.

Manager George is of the opinion that the attendance this afternoon and evening will be the largest of the entire day. Inquiries concerning the program have been frequent and several have desired private box reservations.

For the benefit of out-of-town attendants, 50 cents will be the price of admission until 6 o'clock this afternoon, when the charge will be $1. Hundreds of visitors to Atlanta are expected to attend the show today, and for this reason the admission was lowered.

Feature for Every Day.

Beginning today, there will be a special featture at the show for each and every day. Thursday will be Merchants' Day, and a special part of the program of the big convention has been set apart for the out-of-town people to attend the automobile display.

It is believed that the attendance of Thursday will eclipse that of any other day, with the possible exception of today.

Single-barreled hoodoos are too much, but when they become double and triple and a fellow's in jail to boot—then kicks are certainly justified. The triple hoodoo occurred at the Tower yesterday morning, and put many negroes into a state of panic.

In the first place it was the 13th of the month. Those who were summoned to court looked on their coming trials with dread, and when it was found that there were exactly thirteen to go, consternation reigned supreme. But they had to obey.

Then a funny thing happened. One of the prisoners, Frank Wilson, a white man, was born on the 13th of August, but instead of being bad luck it seemed to be good. He was not tried, and this in itself broke the other 13 hoodoo.

Back at the Tower later, there was more trouble. When the number of prisoners to go out to the gang was counted, there were exactly 13 again. By this time the negroes were sitting around in groups talking, and a hush had fallen on the singing and joking and betting that is usually going on. The jailer was appealed to, and suddenly someone remembered that one of the prisoners had been marked "hold." Needless to say he was held, and right gladly, too, and the last hoodoo was avoided.

MOVING PICTURE OF TAFT MAKING STATE OF ARIZONA

Washington, February 13.—For the first time in the history of the white house moving pictures of an event of national importance will be taken tomorrow, when President Taft signs the proclamation admitting Arizona to the union. The pictures will be taken by an employee of the treasury department and presented to the president. Another set may be made a part of the official records. Although no other moving pictures have been taken in the white house, former U. S. Marshal Abernathy, of Oklahoma, known as "Eat 'Em Alive," because of his reported ability to strangle wolves with his bare hands, once gave a moving picture show in the executive mansion, to the delight of former President Roosevelt and invited guests.

LAUGHS AT STEEL TRUST AS "SCARED TO DEATH"

When It Canceled Ore Leases, But Hill Is Not "Wearing Crepe" Because of Action. Predicts That Competition Will Prevail—Objects to Issue of Watered Stock.

Washington, February 13.—James J. Hill told the Stanley steel investigating committee today that he would "be a first-class angel with red and white feathers in my wings," before he would go into the steel business, and predicted that competition would be the rule long after the present laws were wiped off the statute books.

Mr. Hill's last day of testimony was replete with the epigrams and sage expressions for which he is noted. He said the stockholders of the Great Northern railroad were "not wearing any crepe" because the United States Steel Corporation, "in its fight," had cancelled the Great Northern ore lease.

"You will be in a comfortable position, no matter whether the lease is cancelled or not, won't you?" suggested Chairman Stanley. "You could start a steel company of your own with 400,000,000 tons of ore in the ground?"

Angel With Variegated Feathers.

"I will be a first-class angel with red and white feathers in my wings long before I ever consider going into the steel business," replied Mr. Hill. "I'll be 74 years old my next birthday and I don't mind telling you that I've done about all the hard work I intend to do in life."

"But you did at one time contemplate going into the steel business, didn't you?" Chairman Stanley asked the question, intimating that this was one of the reasons that led the steel corporation to insist upon leasing the Hill ore lands.

"I never did," said Mr. Hill. "Any reports of that kind were untrue."

Just before the railroad builder was excused Representative Beall, of Texas, called his attention to the declarations of E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of the steel corporation to the effect that the day of competition was passed in this country and that the time was at hand when the government must regulate maximum and minimum prices of commodities.

Must Tame Human Nature.

"I think you will have to tame human nature and eliminate all selfish motives that rule human beings and every other form of life before you will eliminate competition," remarked Mr. Hill. "There will be competition just as long as the doctrine of the survival of the fittest lasts, and that will be operating long after all our present statutes have been wiped off the books."

"Do you think then, it would be unwise for the federal government to assume control of business?" asked Mr. Beall.

"I think when the federal government does that it will be a very short step until there will be no federal government," was Mr. Hill's quick reply.

"You think that such government would not be like a republic?"

Chairman Stanley asked if Mr. Hill thought big corporations operating under a new golden rule of business, aided by the government in fixing prices and preventing them from hurting each other, but not preventing them from crushing labor, would aid in holding society together.

Might Last a Week.

"How long do you think this government would last under such conditions?" asked Mr. Stanley.

"Oh, we might last a week," Mr. Hill smilingly replied.

"Then you don't believe that the United States should undertake to regulate business?" Mr. Beall resumed.

"I would lay down the law of right and wrong," said Mr. Hill. "I would limit the power of corporations. I would see that every corporation that started business put all the money in and I would not be jealous on account of the size of the corporation. I wouldn't permit any watering of stocks. I would see that 100 cents on every dollar was put up and that money was on hand to take care of it."

"Well, you tried a railroad combination once, didn't you?" asked Representative Bartlett, referring to the Northern Securities case. "The government didn't let you carry it out and you are still doing a profitable railroad business?"

"Yes, and not making any complaint," said Mr. Hill.

Mr. Beall asked again if the witness had faith in competition.

"You ask me if I have faith," he answered. "I feel like the man whose wife was dying. The minister came and asked the husband if she were resigned. He replied that she had not. I haven't resigned faith in competition. I don't think it is within the power of man to eliminate competition."

"Do you think we can trust competition to deal with our complex business problems?"

"I don't know of any overgrown corporation that established itself in success permanently. The Standard Oil Company came nearest to it of any."

Mr. Hill told the committee that he paid little attention to speculation and did not think that men who made speculative prices in Wall street knew much about actual conditions in mines miles away.

He predicted, taking issue with Commissioner of Corporations Herbert Knox Smith, that the ores in the Hill lease, held by the steel corporation as worth $1 a ton, would soon be worth $1.50 to $2 royalty a ton. He also predicted that before many years pig iron could be laid down in Brooklyn from China for $17 a ton.

When Weyerhauser Made Mistake.

Mr. Hill aroused some interest when he said Frederick Weyerhauser, the lumber magnate, had refused to pay $75,000 for the fee to the Wright and Davis lands, which he afterwards bought as the major portion of the land leased to the steel corporation, and containing iron ore estimated at 400,000,000 tons.

"I think Mr. Weyerhauser made a mistake," said Mr. Hill.

Mr. Hill said he thought it was very important for the steel corporation to get control of all the ore it could.

"And we are not wearing any crape because they have decided to cancel the lease on our ore lands," Mr. Hill observed. "We were not anxious to make that lease."

"You knew that Judge Gary didn't want to make that lease?" asked Mr. Stanley.

"Didn't he?" asked Mr. Hill. "He never told me so—I don't chase after them. Mr. Gary signed it. Some of the directors thought the price was high."

"Wasn't there one far-seeing business man who insisted on it?"

"No."

"Were you ever advised that J. Pierpont Morgan insisted that this lease be made?"

"I never was," said Mr. Hill.

Steel Trust Scared to Death.

When Mr. Hill was asked why, inasmuch as the steel corporation apparently needed ore reserves, it had, nevertheless, canceled the Hill lease, the Great Northern magnate replied:

"I think they were scared to death. I think they lost their nerve."

"The departments of the government have been camping on our trail," commented Attorney Reed for the steel corporation.

Mr. Hill told the committee that the report of the bureau of corporations compiled by Commissioner Herbert Knox Smith on ore values was not worth reading. He said he had gone over part of it and concluded it was of no value.

"Mr. Smith's report may have some facts," said Mr. Hill, "but his conclusions are so far from mine that I could not finish reading it.

"There was a time years ago, said Mr. Hill, "when those entire ore lands would not have brought $1,000,000. That would be no criterion for establishing its present value. Fifteen years ago Mr. Smith had figures fixing the maximum rate of 25 cents a ton."

Mr. Hill said he knew that some people had paid as high as 65 cents a ton on ore leases since the steel corporation went into the field.

"I am here to tell all I know," he said. "I have nothing to conceal. I come with clean hands."

OAKLAND TROPHIES DISPLAYED AT SHOW

These trophies represent the 1911 achievements for the Oakland Company and are twenty-five in number. They occupy the whole surface of a good-sized table and have an intrinsic value of several thousand dollars.

They have been awarded this company for the winning of such events as the Algonquin hill climb, Buffalo sweepstakes 860-mile endurance run, Cleveland News reliability contest and other famous events during the past season.

It is a matter of record that the Oakland out of eighteen events entered last year won fourteen firsts, three seconds and one third.

AUTO SHOW EFFECT IN FIVE STATES

Manager Horton, of United Motor Atlanta Co., Predicts Opening of Wide Field.

Five southern states will reap the beneficial effects of Atlanta's Million-Dollar automobile show during the next few weeks, according to a statement made last evening in the Auditorium-Armory by E. P. Horton, manager of the United Motor Atlanta Company. This is an interesting phase of the exhibition which has not been fully realized, and it is the opinion formed by Mr. Horton after studying the situation here during the first part of this show and of parallel conditions seen after the New York, Chicago and local shows in the north.

Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi and South Carolina will surely open up much more quickly to the 1912 spring season as a result of the exhibition here and the returns from those sections have already confirmed Mr. Horton's early belief. He stated further: "The Atlanta show will serve several purposes, many of them for far greater economic importance than first supposed. Of course it will enable thousands of people to see the new models in a manner to facilitate easy comparison. It will also show the stability of the motor car industry, which, by the way, is the third largest industry in the United States.

"It is my conviction, however, that this great show will again impress the people of our section of the country with the desirability of owning automobiles—the greatest factor ever known in lessening the cost of transportation. With the steady and constant improvement in the roads through the south the people will realize more forcibly than ever that the motor car wil' carry passengers, baggage and merchandise at a lower cost than any other means. The automobiles will be feeders to the railroad lines.

"On Monday morning of this week, for example, our dealers in the various lines made by the United States Motor Company began to arrive, and there has been a steady influx ever since. With them have come purchasers and we have booked orders for cars which will shortly be distributed throughout the south.

"It is for reasons such as these that I believe we are going to reel an opening in all lines of business as a result of this automobile show. The good weather will have its effect, too, and we have reported to our New York office that the splendid outlook reported by our branches in other sections of the country can be certainly duplicated from the Atlanta house."

SOCIETY TAKES CHARGE TONIGHT

the city will be in charge of the program and they are arranging some special attractions.

It is probable that the theatrical stunts will be pulled off late Friday afternoon, but more definite announcement will be made later regarding this feature by Manager George.

Delegates to the Ad-Men's convention will atttend the show in a body Friday.

Saturday will be "Everybod's Day," and quite a number of unusual attractions are being arranged for that day.

Kilties Make a Hit.

While every one is exceedingly pleased with the big display of automobiles and accessories, the Kilties' band is coming in for a large share of attention and praise.

The afternoon and evening concerts have been given close attention, not only by those who enjoy popular band mpsic, but by leading Atlanta musical critics as well, and all unite in the opinion that the Canadian organization is one of the best ever heard locally.

In fact, the show does not lack in special features. Many of the autos are specially designed so as to show the mechanism to the best possible advantage, and the demonstrators are busy at all hours showing the individual merits of the different motors.

The Glidden trophy and the Anderson, S. C., trophy, both won in the Glidden tour by Maxwell cars last fall, are on exhibition at the booth of the local Maxwell company, and has received much attention.

Souvenirs are numerous. Cold cream, samples of various oils, pencils, medals, pins, buttons, note books, illustrated papers and magazines are given away liberally.

Everybody Satisfied.

Without exception all of the exhibitors are well pleased with the attendance to the show and the general results so far attained.

O. R. Randall, sales manager for the J. I. Case Company, who is here during the show, is one of the most enthusiastic out-of-town auto men in attendance. He said:

"I visited the Chicago show every day, and at no time did itt surpass this show only in size. The ehibits are just as good, and the decorations, if anything, are finer.

"Everyone in the south should be proud of this show, and especially Atlanta and Georgia people. Atlanta is keeping up her reputation by not letting any city, regardless of its sizt and location, outdo her."

Already three machines have been sold by the Case people. They were purchased by Ed Howell, of Viena; M. D. Norman, of Norman Park, and G. H. Wight, of this city. The first sale was a roadster and the other ttwo touring cars.

Several other cars were sold Tuesday, but it was impossible to get a complete record of them, as the different ehmibitors failed to make a report to Manager George.

Show an Annual Event.

Already there is much speculation as to whether or not the show will be an annual affair.

Manager George declared that the interest and attendance so far demonstrated very clearly that the citizens, both of Atlanta and of this section of the south, would give liberal support to an annual show.

"Personally, I believe that it should by all means be made an annual affair. Not only is it an education to the people who really want to know all about autos and motors, but it increases the interest in the business to such an extent that there is a direct benefit to every employer and employee in the city. Not only that, but the more autos there are throughout the sttate and the south, the better roads will be, and the success of the farmer depends upon good roads as much or more than any other one thing.

"I have not heard the ehibitors discuss the matter yet, but I presume that they will take it up in the near future."

Kilties' Program.

ADVERTISING TALKS.

ufacturers can afford to take up.

The trouble with most advertising men is that we pay TOO LITTLE attention to beginners—merchants and manufacturers who are compelled to start in a small way.

Coming to New York recently on a train from the South I met a manufacturer who has spent several hundred thousand dollars in advertising, the GREATER PART of which went to general media.

This manufacturer is one of eight men who conducted separate enterprises. These men combined and capitalized themselves in a big way before starting an advertising campaign.

They felt that they should invest largely in advertising and go before the whole country in a general way, thereby INTERESTING DEALERS TO HANDLE THEIR PRODUCTS AND CREATING A DESIRE on the part of consumers to buy them.

THEY DID NOT USE NEWSPAPERS.

Finally they decided to take up communities and territories at a time, working their sales force in these communities while THEY USED ADVERTISING IN THE LOCAL NEWSPAPERS.

The results were instantaneous, and the business commenced to grow immediately.

The amount of money spent in newspapers was much less than in the general media, but they got a foothold in every community they touched and their ADVERTISING INFLUENCED THE CONSUMERS AND ENTHUSED THE DEALERS.

The LOGICAL way to introduce the product of a manufacturer is to BACK UP HIS SALES FORCE in the territory where the sales force is at work with newspaper advertising.

THE LOCAL MERCHANT SHOULD CONCENTRATE, as a starter, in two newspapers if he can not afford more, and keep going in those two newspapers until he sees signs of growth—and then he can spread out.

It is finished in all white except green upholstering, and presents a most striking appearance.

It has a convertible seat arrangement that seats either two or four passengers.

This car is being shown by L. S. Crane, the Pope-Hartford dealer.

TWO COST STANDARDS USED BY THE PACKERS

Chicago, February 13.—Counsel for the government directed their efforts to an inquiry into the test cost and margin system used by Armour & Co., in the packers' trial today. The testimony added another link to the chain of circumstances by which the government expects to show that the big packers employed a uniform selling basis in operating the alleged combination in restraint of trade.

Bernard Remmer, price clerk in the dressed carcass accounting department of Armour & Co. for 20 years, explained the details of the complex system to the jury in response to questions by Government Attorney James M. Sheean.

He said Armour & Co. used two standards of beef cost. The test, or "blank cost," he said, represented actual figures paid for the beef when ready for sale and was sent to the bookkeeping department. The memorandum cost, he said, was the figure sent to the district superintendents and branch house managers as a basis for the selling margin. This figure also is known as the "red" cost.

The government contends that the difference in these two costs amounts to about 2 cents a pound.

SON OF GENERAL POLK PASSES AWAY IN TEXAS

Paris, Tex., February 13.—James K. Polk, Jr., is dead here. His wife resides in Detroit. His death is attributed to acute indigestion.

The dead man was a son of Leonidas Polk, D. D., an Episcopal church bishop of Arkansas and Indiana Territory in 1838, and of Louisiana in 1841. Bishop Polk achieved fame as a member of the confederate army, being commissioned lieutenant general in 1862. He held commands in Kentucky, Tennessee and Mississippi and met his death in Georgia. The family goes back to officers of the revolution. ary war.

OAKLAND HEADS ATTEND SHOW

Four Prominent Officials of Oakland Company Here.

Quite a number of notable figures in the automobile world are now in Atlanta attending the automobile show and among this number are several of the prominent officials of the Oakland Company.

This party is composed of George E. Daniel, general manager; J. B. Eccleston, general sales manager; J. F. Roark, southern representative, and M. D. Stone special representative.

Mr. Daniel was formerly general manager for the American Fiat factory and has just recently formed a connection with the Oakland Company.

He is one of the foremost designers in the country and has been largely responsible for the Oakland Company bringing out a line of the cleverest and most attractively designed cars that have been shown this season.

The three-seated "Sociable" roadster, which has proven quite a "hit" at the Chicago and New York shows, was designed by him.

This car was intended to be on exhibition, but has been delayed in arriving here. It is anticipated that it will arrive during today or tomorrow.

Evidently the impression it has made at the New York and Chicago show has preceded it, for Mr. Roark explains that a number of inquiries has been made concerning it.

All of these gentlemen are greatly impressed with the show and are unanimous in expressing their opinions of it as being one of the best shows outside of New York and Chicago that they have ever attended.

SCHIFF'S WIFE WAS INVOLVED

was a murderer at heart, even if by my fortunate escape he had not become one in fact."

Many Lawyers for Brandt.

Brandt was represented at the habeas corpus hearing by a formidable array of counsel retained by newspapers which claim that Brandt pleaded guilty to an indictment of which he was ignorant and received what they considered an excessive sentence for a first offender.

When argument on the habeas corpus writ was begun Attorney General Carmody presented formal objection, declaring he did not believe the proceedings applicable. He suggested a consultation among the lawyers. Lawyer Towns protested, saying:

"If this is an attempt to befog the case by consultation of the attorneys—an attempt to overshadow an improvident, vile and dishonest act, or an attempt to save some one's face—then I must protest."

A lawyer for the Swedish Chamber of Commerce made appearance as additional counsel for Brandt. The lawyer said he had received a letter from Senator Nelson, of Minnesota, saying he thought Brandt innocent.

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Mortimer L. Schiff, wife of Brandt's former employer and accuser, were in court.

"The arguments have convinced me," said Justice Gerard, "that this court probably has no jurisdiction in a habeas corpus proceeding in this case. However I would rather not decide before consulting with authorities."

GOV. DIX APPOINTS GERARD TO HEAR EVIDENCE IN CASE

Albany, N. Y., February 13.—Governor Dix today appointed Supreme Court Justice James W. Gerard, of New York, as commissioner to hear the application for executive clemency made by Folke E. Brandt, former valet of Mortimer L. Schiff, of New York. Justice Gerard will report his findings to the governor.

Governor Dix explained that he acted upon a telephone recommendation from Attorney General Carmody, who was in New York today representing the state in the proceedings to secure Brandt's release and that he had decided to appoint Justice Gerard before he heard of the decision of Justice Rosalsky to reopen the case. The governor said he thought it strange that Judge Rosalsky, after recommending in writing to him against granting a pardon to Brandt, should decide to grant a new trial.

Friends of the governor were of the opinion that the state would take an appeal from Judge Rosalsky's decision and if necessary bring the matter before the court of appeals.

MARVELOUS WORK ACCOMPLISHED

G. S. Hull Highly Recommends Use of Preparation.

Mr. G. S. Hull, residing at 265 Simpson street, a well-known railroad inspector, is among the hundreds of Atlanta people who are now enthusiastic indorsers of the new tonic, "Tona Vita," the tonic that is having such a tremendous sale in Atlanta at present.

Mr. Hull said: "This 'Tona Vita' has done more for me than all the other medicines I have ever taken. I got the tonic a short time ago and am now feeling better than I have for years.

"Before taking this tonic I was completely run down. I slept badly, had poor circulation and would be very nervous at times. I had little strength or energy, and could hardly be about at times.

"The first few days I noticed a great improvement, in fact, I began to improve after the first dose of 'Tona Vota.' I could hardly believe it myself and thought it must be my imagination. I felt better every day from then on and I am now like another person altogether. I sleep well, eat well and have much more strength. The worn-out feeling has left me, and I am not as nervous as I was.

"This is a marvelous tonic, judging by what it has done for me. I have told several of my friends about it and they are going to take it also."

The specialists who are in Atlanta, introducing the new tonic, are meeting the public at the Jacobs' Pharmacy, Marietta street, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 8 p. m. These specialists state that the success of the tonic here is larger than they anticipated, and that a great many people are taking the tonic here in this city.

While we are meeting callers now each day and hundreds of debilitated people are regaining their health through our tonic, there are hundreds more whom we want to reach before we leave. If all the men and women who are struggling along depressed in mind and body would only take the trouble and time to come in and talk to us we would bring a tremendous amount of happiness to the people of this city. There is little real pleasure in life for an individual who feels continually worn out. Positively, the very first dose of our tonic benefits a man or woman in this condition. •••

ORDER OF THE GARTER TO SIR EDWARD GREY

London, February 13.—Much speculation has been created throughout the British Isle by the almost unparalleled honor which King George has bestowed on Sir Edward Grey, British secretary of state for foreign affairs. The king has nominated Sir Edward to the old and most exclusive order of the garter, in which only members of royal houses and a select few of the highest among the nobility are enrolled, and which many reigning sovereigns vainly covet.

It is nearly 200 years since the garter was conferred upon a commoner under similar circumstances. Only four other commoners have been privileged to wear the blue ribbon during the history of the Order of Knights of the Garter.

The exact meaning of this signal mark of royal favor is known only to the innermost circles, while it unquestionably sets the seals of the king's and the British cabinet's unqualified approval upon Sir Edward Grey's conduct of foreign affairs during the recent momentous years.

BIG CUT IS MADE IN CENTRAL SHOPS

Added Men to Be Dismissed as Extra Work Is Finished.

Savannah, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—Providing that employees of the Central railroad, located at the shops at Macon, Columbus, Cedartown and Albany, concur in the opinions and determinations of officials of the union here, there is every likelihood that the Central railway shops at the points will be shut down for several days, beginning with the first of March, and aside from this condition at least 12½ per cent of the total force now working in all departments, will be, for a time, at least, out of employment. Forty men are to be released.

This was determined at a meeting of department leaders with F. F. Gaines, superintendent of motive power, following a conference held on the subject of reducing the force of men now working for the railway.

Under the agreement between the workingmen and the railway mpany, the employees in the mechanical department are supposed to work for nine hours per day, and six days to constitute a week, but there is a provision in the general contract which allows the railway to cut down the hours to forty-eight per week, with eight hours to constitute a working day.

Among those who attended the conference were T. E. Smith, general chairman; George E. Julien, local chairman; W. H. Childers, of Atlanta, secretary and treasurer, and some of the other officials of the union from Cedartown, Albany and Columbus. The men took the stand that it were better to avoid reducing the force, whereby some forty men would be thrown out of employment here, by accepting the eight-hour, six-day work, but even this will not bring down the costs as a whole to a point where the reduction in expenses necessary can be reached, and a notice is expected by the men of a reduction of 12½ per cent in the working forces in the mechanical departments and a determination to shut down on March 1 unless a difference of $150,000, or one-half of the reduction necessary, will have been realized.

Macon, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—The 2,000 employees of the Central of Georgia shops in Macon today voluntarily agreed to lay off from work for four days during the month of February in order to obviate the nenessity of one-eighth of their number being indefinitely laid off by the company. When it was made known to the employees that on account of the shortage of work it would be necessary for one-eighth of the employees to be laid off indefinitely, a conference was held with Foreman W. H. Fetner and the other officials and it was finally agreed that this could be avoided by the entire shops shutting down for four days. The shop men did not want any of their number to suffer particularly, preferring that the privation should be felt by the entire number.

FEATHERS ON HER SHOES, BUT NONE ON HER HAT

New York, February 13.—The lady of fashion will shun plumage on her hat this year, but will be allowed to display a radiance of feathers on her shoes, according to advices from Paris. A new note of elegance in footwear is declared to be shoes covered with birds' plumage of the most elegant hues, gummed onto the leather. Buckles will be concealed by little pivots of aigrettes or feathers. The price of the new shoes, of course, will be enormous.

DRAGNET IS CAST IN LABOR CASES

Indianapolis, February 13.—Positive assurance came from United States District Attorney Miller's office tonight that the arrest of all the fifty-four men indicted in the dynamite conspiracy cases, was set for tomorrow.

"Arrests may be looked for tomorrow," said Mr. Miller. "The reason why they did not take place today cannot be revealed. It has been the intention right along that when once warrants are ordered as many as possible of the defendants will be taken in the shortest possible time, so that a majority of them will be in custody before any one of them knows who else is involved. But of course there are certain to be some who will not be taken on time. An arrest of one man at Rochester, N. Y., today was probably due to a local condition unknown to me."

Before night tomorrow the defendants apprehended are expected to be sufficient in number to reveal the extent of the plots which the government charges were carried on for six years against iron and steel contractors who maintained the "open shop."

Clarence E. Dowd, business agent of the machinists' union at Rochester, who was arrested at Rochester today, formerly was a national organizer for the International Association of Machinists, with headquarters at Detroit, which was one of the fields of operation of the dynamiters. It was there that McManigal was induced to become a member of the McNamara "dynamiting crew," according to McManigal's confession. It was there also that McManigal and James B. McNamara were arrested in April, 1911, and at the time of their arrest, it is alleged, they were preparing, with the assistance of certain local men, to cause explosions under five bridges and other structures.

Payment for explosions McManigal caused in Hoboken, N. J., was made to him by an agent of McNamara at Detroit in the summer of 1909, the dynamiter declared. More dynamiting in Detroit was perpetrated July 9, 1909.

McManigal, in his detailed statements, is said to have charged groups of men in all the cities in which he operated with having assisted him.

NEGOTIATIONS TO BEGIN FOR TREATY WITH RUSSIA

Washington, February 13.—Negotiations will soon begin for a new treaty with Russia to replace the convention of 1832, recently abrogated, the operation of which will expire at the end of the present year.

Preliminary exchanges have encouraged the belief that any feeling which may have resulted from the denunciation of the old treaty have so far abated as to justify an effort to replace it.

The real difficulty is expected to be encountered in drafting a substitute for the article in the existing treaty regarding rights of travel and residence, which involves the troublesome passport question. It is thought, however, that the state department experts have some idea on the subject which, if acceptable to Russian diplomats, may solve the problem of framing a provision that will fully recognize the unlimited rights of Americans, without regard to religion, to visit Russia, without in any degree compromising the power reserved by the United States to regulate the character of immigration into this country.

HUNTING BURGLAR, HE KILLS HIMSELF

Montgomery, Ala., February 13.—Major Albert C. Sexton, one of the best known public men in Alabama, accidentally shot himself to death in the sitting room of his home at 3 o'clock this morning. With pistol in hand he was hurrying through the room to find a burglar at the front of the house. A rug on which he stepped slipped on the polished floor and he fell, causing the discharge of the pistol.

The pistol ball entered behind his right ear, piercing the brain. He died before his wife could reach him from the next room. The front door of the house was found open and lattice work on the rear porch had been removed. Noise in connection with the operations of the supposed burglar aroused both Major and Mrs. Sexton. Major Sexton took the pistol from under his pillow. The shot followed soon after Colonel A. B. Garland and other members of his family who occupy a part of the house heard the shot and hurried to Major Sexton, whose dead body was found in a pool of blood.

Mr. Sexton is survived by his wife and step-son. As chief clerk in the office of secretary of state for six years, as deputy state insurance commissioner for four years, as an officer of the Alabama National Guard and major of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, Major Sexton had come into touch with every section of the state and was very popular.

PURE FOOD VIOLATORS THREATENED WITH JAIL

New Orleans, February 13.—United States District Attorney Charlton H Beattie is waging a general warfare on violators of the pure food laws, and today Judge Rufus E. Foster made it plain that prison sentences would be imposed in cases against companies which had been before the court on two previous occasions.

"The pure food law must be obeyed in spirit as well as letter," said the court in passing sentence on violators today.

For the second time the Pan-American Manufacturing Company pleaded guilty to misbranding lemon extracts. The court imposed a fine of $100 and costs, and added that a jail sentence would be imposed in event of another conviction.

Although the government made no effort in this case to show the presence of any deleterious substance, the defendant admitted the lack of the proper proportion of lemon in the extract, and the court held that it was a violation of the spirit of the law.

WEARY OF LONG STIGMA HE ASKS FOR A PARDON

New Orleans, February 13.—Weary of the stigma of 23 years' standing of being a fugitive from Louisiana justice, W. B. Paine, who escaped from the state penitentiary where he was sent in 1889 for stealing a horse, has asked the state pardon board to recommend to the governor that he be pardoned. Paine says he was 18 years old when he left the penitentiary and went to Texas and Oklahoma, later marrying and rearing a family at Wewoka, Okla., where he now is a citizen of standing and respectability. The state board received his application yesterday. Paine said his idea regarding a pardon was suggested by reading in a newspaper recently where the governor of Texas pardoned a Missouri man named Hurst, whose case was an almost identical parallel.

FRANCE TO GIVE BATTLE ON LAND, SEA AND IN AIR

Paris, February 13.—Future activity of France on land, sea and in the air was indicated in the discussions today in both houses of parliament of the army and navy budgets.

The trend of the discussion was that France must strongly develop all lines of defense and offense so as to hold her rank among the powers and maintain her alliances, thus exercising an influence in the world of peace.

Senator Alexander Millerand, in the senate, outlined the aviation program, for which from $4,500,000 to $5,000,000 yearly is asked. Fifteen dirigibles, he said, would be constructed, but most attention would be given aeroplanes. This year the army could mobilize aeroplanes divided into 27 squadrons and manned by 344 officer pilots and 344 observers. An aeronautic regiment was also to be constituted, he said.

Both the naval and aviation programs were adopted.

O. T. PATTEN, OF COMER, KILLS DRUNKEN NEGRO

Comer, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) O. T. Patten, who lives just inside the town limits, shot and killed Will David, colored, last night about 8 o'clock. The negro was drinking and went to Mr. Patten's home and was in his yard cursing. Mr. Patten told him to leave, but instead of obeying, the black started into Mr. Patten's house and was shot and instantly killed as he went on the veranda.

No arrest has been made. Mr. Patten is a very quiet man. The negro was a bad character.

EXTENSION PLANNED BY ROME RAILWAY CO.

Rome, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) Proposed improvements on the part of the Rome Railway and Light Company, including an extension in East Rome, a ten-minute schedule for cars, and a transfer station have been brought to the attention of council.

Permission has been asked to put in the necessary side tracks for switches to meet the additional demand. It is also proposed to erect a transfer station on Broad street between Second and Third avenues. A petition to this effect has been presented to council signed by thirty-five citizens, nearly all of the property owners and tenants on that block. The structure is to be of concrete with tile roof and car sheds, so constructed as not to interfere with the view. It is further proposed to extend the car tracks in East Rome from the present terminus at the depot of the Southern railway out through Maple street. These improvements will depend on getting the necessary permission from the city authorities.

Swain's Name Withdrawn.

Washington, February 13.—The nomination of Cornelius P. Swain as United States marshal for Delaware today was withdrawn from the senate. This followed hearings at which wholesale bribery charges in the Delaware election of 1904 were aired.

STATE PRIMARY FOR DELEGATES

Senator Harris Thinks State Convention Will Be Unnecessary.

Substitution of a primary for a state convention in naming delegates to the national democratic convention in Baltimore this year, is the suggestion contained in a letter addressed yesterday by State Senator William J. Harris, of Cedartown, to Chairman W. C. Wright, of the state executive committee.

Calling attention to the action of the state committee providing for a primary in which the people of Georgia shall be allowed to express their preference for a presidential candidate, Mr. Harris says only such delegates should be selected as are favorable to the candidate indorsed by the people at the polls.

Mr. Harris says a convention solely to select delegates to the national convention is expensive and unnecessary. He suggests that the names of all those who want to be delegates to the national convention be placed on the tickets underneath the names of the candidates they wish to support; then the four candidates for delegates receiving the highest vote, underneath the name of the presidential candidate indorsed would be delegates from the state-at-large.

Similarly, two delegates might be chosen from each congressional district. The two district candidates receiving the highest vote in the district would then be delegates from the district in question.

Mr. Harris points out that under a resolution adopted by the national democratic executive committee, delegates to the national convention must be chosen either by a state convention or by primary; they cannot be named by the state committee.

But since the delegates to a state convention are named by the county executive committees, it might be that the convention would be composed of men a majority of whom were against the presidential candidate approved by the people; therefore, Mr. Harris considers the primary the fairer way to make the choice of delegates.

Mr. Harris suggests that many counties would probably hold their primaries on the day set for the primary to indicate a choice for president, thereby killing two birds with one stone.

SPEYER IS ACCUSED OF STEALING $50,000

Lexington, Ky., February 13.—Sigmund H. Speyer, for years confidential clerk in the employ of his cousins, Speyer & Sons, merchants here, who planned to sail from New York for Europe today, will be detained at the pier, charged with grand larceny, if the plans of the firm carry. Jacob Speyer, head of the firm, left today with a warrant for his cousin, who, it was charged, had embezzled sums amounting to $50,000 during the last several years. The Speyers are among the leading merchants of Kentucky.

New York, February 13.—Sigmund H. Speyer, of Lexington, was detained by the Hoboken police today when he attempted to board a steamer about to sail for Europe.

HARD LUCK STORIES TOLD BY VENIREMEN

Savannah, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—There is considerable hard luck in the eastern division of the United States district court if excuses made by prospective jurors to Judge Emory Speer, when he opened court today, count for anything.

Alex Livingston, postmaster at Brookman, in Glynn county, said his wife had stuck a thorn in her hand and was threatened with blood poison. J. F. Hall, a practicing physician of Ailey, said his wife was ill at home with the grippe and probably needed his attention. Kelly U. Williams, of Glenwood, made it known to the court that he had an ill child at home, and he, too, wanted to be right near to run errands and assist his wife in the nursing. J. E. Flanders, of Swainsboro, told the court his son was laid up in bed with a broken leg and needed his attention. Old age was plead by H. B. A. Wallace, of Millen. Harrison Parker, of Millen, explained that he suffered with lung and throat trouble.

All of the men were excused.

JUSTICE REYNOLDS DIES IN SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—Judge Samuel Reynolds, who, for the past thirty years, has been a justice of the peace in the fourth district, died here today. Judge Reynolds was well known in this section of the state, where he had made his home and held office since the civil war.

Judge Reynolds was born at Rose Cottage, near Richmond, in 1833. He spent the early part of his life in that section. At the outbreak of the civil war he entered the service of the Confederate States as a member of the Irish Volunteers of Charleston, and fought during the four years, being wounded and captured several times.

WOMAN SUES RAILWAY FOR DEATH OF HUSBAND

Rome, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) Because her husband, W. S. Lansdell, was run over and received injuries which resulted in his death, on January 30, 1912, Mrs. Lansdell has brought suit against the Rome Railway and Light Company for $10,000 damages.

Charges that the street car was running at an excessive rate of speed and in violation of the ordinance are made by the widow. Mr. Lansdell was 71 years of age and failed to see the car coming. It struck him as he crossed the tracks in West Rome.

Report of Lorimer Probers.

Washington, February 13.—The senate committee investigating the election of Senator Lorimer today agreed to take up, on March 23, consideration of a report to be made to the senate. The committee hopes to dispose of the matter that day. Senate consideration of the case will be prolonged.

"DOLLAR DIPLOMACY" BITTERLY DENOUNCED

New Orleans, February 13.—In a pamphlet issued here today by General Juan E. Paredes, former minister of finance of Honduras, and for years one of the leading officials of that country, the so-called "dollar diplomacy" of the United States state department is bitterly assailed and the reunion of the Central American republic is proposed as "the only logical solution of the political and economic problems" of these revolution-ridden countries.

General Paredes declared that the Latin-American people are suspicious of the American diplomacy as it relates to the republics south of us, and are apprehensive that the United States contemplates annexation.

"Honduras appreciates the good offices of the United States," he says, "but, when we see that under the pretext of helpfulness and co-operation, the United States now is trying to take practical possession of our country to be exploited by New York financiers and promoters, taking from us not only our natural resources and our own money, but our autonomy, too, converting us into vassels and serfs of this new feudal system of Wall street, then our love of country and liberty demands of us to stand firm and united against foreign greed.

"In view of our attitude, the United States will have to come to the open as conquerers if they want to subjugate the Central American states."

SECRETARY FISHER GOES TO INSPECT THE CANAL

Washington, February 13.—A second member of President Taft's cabinet set his face toward the equator today. Following the departure yesterday of Secretary Knox on a trip to Central America and part of South America, Secretary Fisher today left for New York and will sail tomorrow for Panama to make a three weeks' inspection of the canal.

The oldest and the youngest members of the cabinet, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and Postmaster General Hitchcock, are the only heads of department who have not visited the canal, and Mr. Hitchcock, it is understood, may go in the near future.

GIRL SCARED TO DEATH BY BITE OF A PET DOG

New Orleans, February 13.—Brooding over the bite of a pet dog last September, her fear of rabies growing into abject terror, caused the death yesterday of Annie Deris, aged 16, at Charity hospital. She grew hysterical last Thursday, believing that her life was nearing an end because of the animal's bite five months ago. The doctor's diagnosed her case with one word, "Fear."

HE'S RUNNING FOR OFFICE TO HAVE IT ABOLISHED

Greensboro, Ala., February 13.—V. M. Haynes, a wealthy citizen of Hale county, is an active candidate for the office of county treasurer, making the race on a platform unique in Alabama politics. He urges, first, that the office which he seeks be abolished; if this is not feasible, he demands that the salary attached thereto be materially reduced.

Today Mr. Haynes appeared before the commissioner's court here, and, through counsel, held that the court had the right to reduce the remuneration of the county treasurer. He stated that he was mentally and financially able to hold the office, and asked that the salary reduction be made at once. The court disagreed with Haynes.

High School Boys Mutiny.

New Albany, Ind., February 13.—Dubbing themselves "Lincoln rebels," thirty-five boys of the high school mutinied yesterday afternoon when denied a half holiday and marched out of the school. They paraded the streets in single file, giving their yell and were cheered by citizens.

Quaker Giant Is Dead.

Pottsville, Pa., February 13.—Ambrose Moore, the "Pennsylvania giant," is dead at his home near Mount Carbon, of kidney disease. He weighed 525 pounds, was of unusual height and measured more than 5 feet around the waist. His strength was enormous, and he frequently carried a 400-pound barrel of oil on his 3-foot shoulders without great effort. He was 40 years old.

ROBBER CHOKES WOMAN AND MAKES RICH HAUL

New York, February 13.—A frightened woman rushed into an uptown police station today to report that a robber came into her husband's jewelry store on Stanton street shortly before midnight as she was about to lock up for the night and got away with $10,000 worth of cash and jewelry.

The robber said he wanted to "look over some baby rings." Mrs. Mardman showed him several and was about to wrap up one he selected when he drew a revolver, caught her by the throat and locked her in a rear room. A few minutes later she broke out, but the man had escaped with the contents of the safe. Her husband was away at the time.

WHAT A RAILROAD CONDUCTOR SAYS

Mr. H. White, railroad conductor on the Southern from Atlanta to Heflin, Ala., has for some time suffered with stomach and kidney trouble. In his weak, rundown condition his stomach caused him much distress after eating even the lightest foods. He was annoyed with bloating, belching and shortness of breath, and sometimes had dizzy spells. Like most railroad men, he was affected with kidney trouble. He would have to get up several times at night. Had a dull pain across the small of his back. During this time he has used many so-called kidney pills, plasters, etc., without [illegible] condition began to alarm him, his vitality was passing away, he had no ambition, and nothing he took seemed to benefit him in the least. Finally, a friend of his, a brother railroad man who had been using the Quaker Extract for catarrh of the stomach, and who had received wonderful benefits, advised him to try The Quaker Extract. He did, and to his surprise he commenced to feel better after the first day, and today says that Quaker Extract is the most wonderful medicine in the world and he would not take $5,000 for the benefits he has received. He eats anything without the slightest distress; the pains and troubles from the kidneys have disappeared, and [illegible] twenty years younger. Every nerve and muscle in his body is built up and proves that the Quaker Extract which the Health Teacher has introduced at Coursey & Munn's drug store is worth its weight in gold.

Remember, these are the remedies that are curing so many people of rheumatism, catarrh, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder, indigestion, constipation; in fact, they are doing the work others have left undone. Quaker Extract, $1.00 or 3 for $2.50, 6 for $5.00. Oil of Balm, 25c or 5 for $1.00. These Quaker remedies can always be had at Coursey & Munn's drug store, 29 Marietta street. We prepay express charges on orders of $3.00 or over.

CLARK IS PUSHED FOR WHITE HOUSE

Statement to Public by the Missouri Delegation.

Statement Declares That the United Democracy of Missouri Is Behind the Speaker. Alleged That He Brought About Democratic Unity.

Washington, February 13.—The Missouri delegation in congress issued a statement today, featuring the public record of Speaker Champ Clark and urging him as a candidate for the democratic nomination for president. The statement declares that the united democracy of Missouri is behind the speaker.

"Champ Clark," declared the statement, "occupies the foremost place in our party and in the legislative branch of the government. His understanding of national legislation and great national and international problems is probably equaled by few men living. He has always been a progressive democrat."

The statement recited how, as leader of a hopeless minority, Mr. Clark brought about democratic unity and declares he was a commanding factor in the democratic victory in 1910.

EIGHT GOVERNORS URGING ROOSEVELT TO GET IN RACE

New York, February 13.—"I have received a letter from the eight governors, sent to me from Chicago," said Theodore Roosevelt today, "and am giving it my careful consideration. I shall reply to it within a short time, probably within a week. Until that time I can say nothing on the subject."

The eight governors, it is understood, urge Colonel Roosevelt to accept the republican nomination for the presidency. Colonel Roosevelt declined to make public the contents of the letter or the name of its bearer. It is reported, however, that the letter was brought to New York by former Federal Attorney Sims, of Chicago.

HEATH REPORTS TO TAFT ON THE POLITICAL SITUATION

Washington, February 13.—Business is halting because of the feeling of uncertainty as to what congress or the president might do.

If the republican leaders would make a campaign to dissipate alleged false ideas of the attitude of the administration, chances of republican success would be increased.

This was the gist of a report submitted to President Taft today by former Assistant Postmaster General Heath. Mr. Heath investigated political and business conditions in twenty states at the initiative of business men with long lines of credit. He denied the trip was in the interest of Theodore Roosevelt.

Dates for Woodrow Wilson.

Trenton, N. J., February 13.—Governor Woodrow Wilson's speaking schedule for the remainder of February, as announced today, includes the following dates: Thursday, February 22, at Topeka, Kan., at democratic dinner; Saturday, February 24, at Nashville, Tenn., before the Young Men's Christian Association.

OWLS GET INJUNCTION; DRINKS STILL SERVED

The trial of two officals of the Owls Club, charged with violating the locker club ordinance, was postponed indefinitely yesterday afternoon when sounded in police court, owing to the fact that a temporary injunction has been granted the club, restraining the city from interfering in any way with the operation of the club.

In the meantime the Owls continue their locker feature and the serving of drinks in the ordinary way to all members of the organization in the club's rooms in the Thrower building. It will continue to operate until the question is settled, which may take some months if the case is brought to trial, certioraried, and appealed, as the attorneys state they will do if necessary.

The temporary restraining order was signed yesterday by Judge George L. Bell, of the superior court, and the hearing on it will take place before Judge Ellis March 4. If a permanent injunction is denied at that time the cases made against William Wolpert, steward, and L. C. Raoul, secretary and treasurer, will go to trial.

James L. Anderson, of Anderson, Felder, Rountree & Wilson, filed the petition for injunction. A number of points are cited, chiefly constitutional. The petition is directed specifically against the city of Atlanta, Recorder Broyles and Chief of Police Beavers.

JUDGE HILLYER WILL RETIRE FROM POLITICS

Judge George Hillyer, member of the state railroad commission, yesterday announced his retirement from public life, following the expiration of his present term.

Heretofore it has been thought he would be a candidate to succeed himself but he has decided to retire altogether from politics, and in this connection announces that he would, under no cir cumstances consider making the race for mayor of Atlanta, for which his name has been among those suggested.

Judge Hillyer's statement is as follows:

"Acting upon a purpose and inclination long entertained, I desire to say to the public that I shall not be a candidate for re-election as railroad commissioner. It may be that if I were younger I should entertain a different view; but I have nearly two years to serve out the unexpired part of my present term; and I do not think it would be wise for me to seek the addition of six years more after the two years have expired.

"And while I am about it, I beg to say also that my name has been mentioned in the newspapers and very frequently to me in person, on the streets and about the city, as to being a candidate for mayor of Atlanta. I shall also decline being a candidate for mayor of Atlanta, and will adhere to the purpose of retiring to priate life after my present term as railroad commissioner has expired.

"But under all circumstances, I will continue to feel the deepest interest in public affairs, and as a citizen do all I can, when opportunities may offer from time to time for the public good."

The Report on Stephenson.

Washington, February 13.—When Senator Heyburn sought today to obtain unanimous consent to vote on next Tuesday on the elections committee's report exonerating Senator Stephenson, of Wisconsin, Senator Lea of Tennessee objected. Mr. Lea [illegible] that the report of the minority not been completed and added when it was ready he [illegible] to the naming of a [illegible] read the report by Friday.

BEAMING SMILE OF TAFT ECLIPSES ROOSEVELT GRIN

The Roosevelt grin is still in evidence, but it is of the "grin and bear it" brand.

For today, when the republicans of Georgia assemble in convention, the Taft machine is ready to crush any Roosevelt sentiment that may arise, and the Roosevelt faction hasn't enough strength to holler for help.

Georgia's G. O. P. assembles at noon at the Orpheum theater. It will assemble over two hundred strong, each county being allowed two delegates for each representative in the lower house of the legislature.

In that devoted band there may be those who see the safety of the nation and a four-year tenure in postoffices and other pieful places in the renomination of the Sage of Oyster Bay, but there will not be enough of them to make a respectable outcry when the name of the editor of The Outlook is uttered by their prize speaker.

On the other hand, the adherents of the present president are well organized. When the republican mass meetings were held about a week ago the Taft broom swept Georgia with the precision and effect of a vacuum cleaner.

Here's the program for the convention:

Walter Johnson, Henry S. Jackson, Henry L. Johnson and B. J. Davis will be named delegates from the state-at-large, all staunch Taft adherents.

Ironclad instructions will be issued to the state delegation to vote for William H. Taft.

Walter Johnson will be named state chairman. As aforesaid, Johnson is one of the most loyal of the Taft wing.

A new state committee will be chosen. It will have seventy-five members, all Taft.

ARM PULLED FROM SOCKET LABORER DIES AT HOSPITAL

His arm pulled from the socket by a machine in a cotton factory, H. J. Harris, aged 53 years, died yesterday afternoon in the Grady hospital after suffering for a week.

Harris was working with a machine known as "the picker" i nthe Fulton Bag and Cotton mills. In some manner his fingers were caught in the drum and before they could be extracted his arm was being rapidly drawn into the machinery. Trying to withdraw the limb, he pulled strongly and cried for help. Before assistance arrived or the machine could be stopped, the ram had been drawn into the machinery up to the shoulder and pulled from its socket.

Harris was rushed in an ambulance to Grady hospital, where, from the time of his arrival, it was announced he had no chance for life.

He resided at 728 East Fair street, and is survived by his wife. The body was removed to the Barclay & Brandon chapel, and later will be carried to Grayson, Ga., for funeral and interment.

MACARTHUR MAY ACCEPT REGULAR SUPPLY PLACE

That no definite decision will be made by Dr. Robert Stuart MacArthur as to whether he will accept the call to the Baptist Tabernacle until his arrival in Atlanta to attend the Bible conference is the opinion of the members of the congregation.

In a communication received by S. C. Callaway, chairman of the board of deacons, yesterday from Dr. MacArthur, dated New York, the Baptist divine states:

"I do not see my way clear ever again to accept a pastorate in the full sense of the office. As I said in my letter from London, I might take a position as a regular supply, and even take the title of 'acting pastor.'"

ORDINANCE PLANS CITY INSPECTORS OF METERS

Further action by the city council is expected on the matter of rates paid in the city for electric and gas lighting next Monday afternoon when Councilman C. C. Mason introduces an ordinance creating the office of inspector of electric light and gas meters. Mr. Mason says the purpose of his proposed ordinance is to give the consumers the right to have their meters inspected by a legally constituted authority if there is any dissatisfaction with the charges made.

Body of Bertolette.

Wilmington, Del., February 13.—Announcement was made today that the body of Commander L. Calvin Bertolette, United States navy, who died of yellow fever at Guayaquil, Ecuador, while in command of the United States gunboat Yorktown, will be buried at Arlington cemetery, near Washington. John S. Bertolette, of this city, brother of the late commander, was informed by the navy department today that the body will arrive at New Orleans February 20 and be taken by train to Washington.

THIEF TAKES CLUE FROM SANTA CLAUS

Athens, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) A burglar who climbed to the roof of a small stone house on Broad street, clambered up the cleats nailed on the shingles, tore away the chimney to make a hole through which to enter, swung down from the rafters and rifled a cash drawer—this is the record of the unique house-breaker whom the Athens police are seeking.

The total "swag" he got for his pains was 9 cents in pennies and an old battered watch. The store was occupied by M. M. Pledger. The windows and doors were barred over batten shutters. The chimney was a stove flue stack, and was not hard to knock over. The masons are today rebuilding the stack.

MAD DOG MASTERED BY UNARMED NEGRO

Savannah, Ga., February 13.—Catching a mad dog with his bare hands after the animal had bitten a little girl, Davis Sharperson, a negro carpenter, today chained the animal to a post and stood by until a policeman arrived and killed it.

The negro's brave act probably saved several other children from being bitten and several were in the dog's path on their way to school. The condition of the wounded child, the daughter of Dr. George M. Norton, is not believed to be serious.

State Dinner at White House.

Washington, February 13.—President and Mrs. Taft gave the last state dinner of the winter season tonight in honor of the speaker of the house of representatives and Mrs. Clark. Among the guests were former Speaker Cannon, former Vice President Levi P. Morton and Mrs. Morton, Robert T. Lincoln, son of President Lincoln, and Mrs. Robert T. Lincoln.

HE MAY SOON RETIRE

THE RIGHT HON. H. H. ASQUITH.

ASQUITH TO QUIT POST OF PREMIER

Early Retirement of Liberal Expected—Lloyd-George May Be Successor.

London, February 13.—Among members of the house of commons here for the re-opening of parliament tomorrow the rumored retirement of Herbert H. Asquith from the premiership was today the chief subject of conversation. Not much surprise would be caused if the premier in a short time relinquished his office and accepted a peerage. It is pointed out that while he has not held the position of premier very long, as compared with some of his predecessors, his tenure has been marked by the greatest political agitation.

During the last few years Mr. Asquith has afied perceptibly. Besides, the expenses of holding the position of premier is exttremely great and Mr. Asquith has a large family.

Even among members who have taken part in the campaign against Sir Edward Grey, it is agreed that their opposition was to a great extent due to their desire to prevent him becoming the premier because they are against his foreign policy. It is even suggested that the formation of the Persian committee which recently received W. Morgan Shuster, the ex-treasurer genueral of Persia, was really part of this campaign, as most of the committeemen were pronounced supporters of David Lloyd George.

Joseph Martin, liberal member of parliament for the East St. Pancras division of London, who formerly was prominent in Canadian politics and now is one of the leaders of the exttreme radical wing in the commons, said in an interview today that there was no doubt that the majority of members of the house of commons would view with keen disappointment the elevation of Sir Edward Grey to the premiership. Mr. Martin was of opinion that a majority of the liberal members favor Lloyd-George.

"It must be remembered that politics here are entirely different from politics in the United States and Canada," Mr. Martin continued. "There the party would be consulted before the appointment of a premier, and if he were unpopular a big row would be raised. Here the government does things without consulting its supporters, and even if an unpopular man were to be made premier, the party would think long before upsetting the government."

King George presided this morning at a meeting of the privy council, approving of the speech from the throne, which is to be read at the opening of parliament tomorrow.

The session which opens tomorrow promises to be a momentous one on account of the three important measures—home rule, the disestablishment of the Welsh church and manhood suffrage—all of which the government is pledged to carry through. Any one of these measures would, a few years ago, have been considered ample work for the whole session.

An autumn session is assured, and many all-night sittings will be necessary in order to complete the legislative task before December, unless something occurs in the meantime to bring about a general election, which the unionists are already forecasting.

SHUSTER'S STAFF SOUGHT BY PERSIA

Detention of Twelve Americans Has Been Ordered by Government.

St. Petersburg, February 13.—The Persian government has telegraphed orders to the municipal officals at Enzeli and Resht, instructing them to detain F. E. Cairns and the eleven other Americans who formerly composed the staff of W. Morgan Shuster, the ex-treasurer general of Persia, according to a dispatch received by The Evening Vremya today from Teheran.

M. Mornard, who succeeded Mr. Shuster as treasurer general of Persia, telegraphed from Teheran, January 29, to the Belgian minister of finance at Brussels, "denouncing the extraordinary disorder in which he found Persia's fiances and," according to The Gazette de Bruzelles, "citing facts of grave importance."

Mr. Shuster, in an interview in London, replied:

"My office never handled any cash even for the payment of salaries. All the accounts were passed by the imperial Persian bank, whose books prove the honesty of the American administration."

GREAT ISSUE OF BONDS ORDERED BY DIRECTORS

New York, February 13.—Directors of the St. Louis Southwestern railway today authorized an issue of $100,000,000 of first terminal and unifying 5 per cent bonds. A special meeting of stockholders has been called for April 17 to authorize the new bond issue, which will be appropriated for refunding and retirement of certain underlying bonds and equipment obligations and the acquisition of valuable terminals at St. Louis, Gray's Point and Fort Worth. The initial allotment of this bond issue will be for $7,500,000.

British Cabinet Changes.

London, February 13.—Earl Carrington today resigned the office of lord privy seal. The Marquis of Crowe has been appointed to succeed him. Lord Pentland resigned as secretary of state for Scotland and Thomas McKinnon Wood, under secretary for foreign affairs, has been appointed to the office. The Marquis of Crowe has decided to retain his portfolio as secretary of state for India.

AUTO TRADE IS PICKING UP 28 LICENSE TAGS REQUESTED

Twenty-eight automobiles were sold in Georgia Tuesday, at least that is the number of license tags and numbers for cars sold by Secretary of State Philip Cook for the day.

Seventeen of these were sold right in Atlanta, evidently as a result of the impetus given the trade by the automobile show. Eleven others were ordered by mail.

On Monday the sale of numbers amounted to twenty-two.

That means big business for the automobile dealers, and if it will keep up that way it is all they could ask.

HENRY JONES KILLED UNDER DUMMY ENGINE

Macon, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—A dummy engine at the Cherokee Brick Company turned over this afternoon late, instantly killing Henry Jones, the engineer, and badly injuding his assistant. An inquest will be held tomorrow to fi the responsibility for the accident.

'PRESENT MONETARY SYSTEM CRIME AGAINST PROSPERITY"

---J. L. Laughlin

"Our present monetary system is a crime against business prosperity," said Professor J. L. Laughlin, of the University of Chicago, in his address to the Southern Merchants' convention at the Capital City club last night.

"At the first hint of financial stress," continued Professor Laughlin, "at the very time when business men are most in need of credit facilities, the banks call in their loans, refuse credit and pile up their reserve for every possible device."

Professor Laughlin's subject was: "How Currency Reform Will Be Helpful to the Merchants of the South," and in his treatise of this subject he showed that the modern banking system now in use in European countries causes banks to lessen instead of increase the probability and certainty of panic once it set in. Were such a system employed in the United States, he showed, many money stringencies which now trouble the country from time to time would not only be avoided, but would be rendered all but impossible.

Great Crowd Present.

The banquet given the Merchants' convention by the Atlanta Merchants and Manufacturers' association was the largest ever held in the Capital City club. The spacious grill rooms of the lower floor were completely taken up by the immense crowd, and even then an overflow was noted, which was competed with by providing tables set apart in the private club rooms.

From 8 o'clock until 9:30 a general hand-shaking took place between strangers and asquaintances, and by the time the banquet call was given every one knew every one else in attendance, and at their respective tables no one sat next to a stranger.

The banquet was a tempting one in eight courses. In point of preparation it was excel ent and in point of service it was incomparable.

The speech of Professor Laughlin was received with much applause.

Professor Laughlin's Speech.

Professor Laughlin said in part:

"Our present monetary system in its actual working is a crime against business prosperity," said Professor Laughlin. "At the first hint of financial stress, at the very time when business men are most in need of credit facilities, the banks call loans, refuse credit and pile up their reserves by every possible device. This course vastly increases the business tension, accentuates panic.

"To relieve the situation, exactly the opposite course should be followed. Reserves should be paid out and loans increased, as happens under similar circumstances in those European countries that have modern banking systems. Our banks are not to be blamed for following their present course. They are forced to it by our rigid reserve requirements, which compel them to keep a certain proportion of their funds on hand in cash. No matter how legitimate or how urgent the requirements of their customers, the banks must sacrifice them or be sacrificed themselves. It is the banking system and not the banks that is at fault.

"Similarly, the very times when actual wealth is present in the greatest quantities and the most useful forms, when our vast crops are being harvested and moved to market, when prosperity should be most abundant and most widely diffused, are the very times when money rates are highest, and money or its equivalent, credit, is most difficult to obtain.

"The blame for this rests not with the local banker, nor with any bank. It lies with our inadequate banking system which puts a premium on credit whenever there is a general demand for it.

Send to Financial Centers.

"When the local bank has surplus funds on hand that are not required by the business needs of its own locality, it can find employment for them only by sending them to the great financial markets such as New York, where, under our present system, they are employed very largely in stock speculation, and where their very presence acts as an encouragement to speculative operations.

"On the other hand, when the local bank finds that the legitimate business requirements of the community which it serves, demands more funds than it has available, it can obtain these funds from the big institutions in the financial centers, only as a favor and not as a right, no matter how excellent the security which it has to offer.

"If conditions in the financial market are unfavorable, it cannot secure even the return of its own funds on deposit with the banks of the reserve cities, as thousands of small banks in all parts of the country discovered to their sorrow in 1907. This is what I mean by saying that we have a system of feudal dependence of our smaller financial institutions upon the larger.

The Central Bank.

"Since the working of our present competitive system has resulted in an undesirable centralization of credit in the control of a few big banks in the big cities, the only alternative systems open to us are the central bank under private or government control, as operated in several European countries, or a co-operative system by which all the banks of the country will act together to provide the currency and the credit facilities required by any section at any time.

"We of the National Citizens' League prefer the co-operative system as more truly American, and we believe it can be worked out through the medium of a National Reserve Association in such a way as to insure equal terms and equal facilities to all banks, large or small, in whatever part of the country they may be located.

Through the agency of the branch associations located at convenient points, it will be possible for any bank at any time, on presentation of good commercial paper, to secure the rediscount of that paper on reasonable terms and to obtain by that means a supply of currency which it can place in its reserves or loan out as the needs of its particular community may require.

National Reserve Association.

"A National Reserve Association will wipe out the rigidity of the banking reserves which now makes it difficult for you to get credit on legitimate commercial paper to tide you over a bad season. It can do this because it is a co-operative association of all the banks, like a nation-wide clearing house, by which the capital and credit of the whole country are brought to the aid of any section in need. In hard times a bank can satisfy any legitimate needs of its borrowers because it can have any good commercial paper rediscounted at the National Reserve Association and can count the proceeds as part of its resources.

"The plan is primarily in the interest of the borrowing planter, farmer, merchant and business man, rather than in that of the lending bank.

Quality of the Paper.

"Under the National Reserve Association plan the power of a bank to serve the public will not depend upon its cash reserves at any moment, but upon the quality of the paper it carries. This means that no merchant or business man need ever fail or go into liquidation because of inability to get a loan on good commercial paper. Nor need any bank ever fail that has good commercial paper to offer for rediscount.

"To my mind the placing of emphasis on the quality of the loan, rather than on the percentage of money reserves is the most important development in our banking history in fifty years. It will have a permanent influence in elevating the standard of banking for generations to come."

BOYCE WAS SHOT WHILE RUNNING

Eyewitness Tells How Aged Texan Was Killed by Mrs. Sneed's Husband.

Fort Worth, Texas, February 13.—The trial of John Beal Sneed, accused of having murdered A. G. Boyce, Sr., was halted this afternoon just as Sneed had been called to testify in his own defense, because of the sudden indisposition of Special Prosecutor Hanger. Court was immediately adjourned until tomorrow morning. Mr. Hanger's illness, it is stated tonight, is slight, and the trial will proceed tomorrow with Sneed as probably the last witness for the defense. A number of witnesses have been reserved by the state to testify in rebuttal.

Henry Bowman, brother-in-law of Sneed, and E. D. owers, eye-witnesses to the killing of Boyce, were the on y witnesses heard today. Efforts were made during the cross-examination of Bowman to show that the last shot fired by Sneed entered Boyce's back. Bowman could not say that this was a fact, but was certain that Boyce attempted to run when Sneed opened fire.

Powers testified that as Sneed approached Boyce, the latter exclaimed, "There's the —— —— now." Boyce was rising from his chair when Sneed began shooting, Powers asserted.

In answer to another question, Bowman said he did not recollect that he and Sneed had discussed who were the best criminal lawyers in Texas, on the train to Clayton, N. M., Friday before the killing.

"Did not you say that if you ever got into trouble, you would hire Con Johnson?"

Mr. Johnson, who is one of the defendant's attorneys, objected to the questions being pursued further.

"You say that you never heard Sneed make any threats against Captain Boyce; did not you testify before the grand jury that he felt hard toward Captain Boyce?"

"I can't recall saying that," Bowman answered.

The attorney then read from the grand jury testimony of Bowman, his answer to a question from a member of that body, asking why Sneed should feel hard toward Captain Boyce, to which the witness, at that time, replied, "because of the part he had taken in the matter."

PANAMA REVOLUTION PLANNED IN NEW YORK?

Washington, February 13.—Correspondence intended to prove that the Panama revolution had been planned in New York and Washington was produced today before the house committee on foreign affairs by Henry N. Hall, of The New York World. The committee is investigating incidents connected with the acquisition of the Panama canal zone by the United States.

Mr. Hall put in evidence letters and cablegrams alleged to have passed between Dr. Amador and Mr. Arango, Panama officials, prior to the revolution. These, he contended, sustained his assertion that the war was inspired in the United States. He also quoted from correspondence said to have been procured from the confidential files of the navy department, but which was withheld from congress under President Roosevelt's orders, which he said threw light on the navy's activity in the warlike preparations.

The witness created a mild sensation by declaring that copies of the state department's secret code could be bought easily in Paris. This declaration was answered later by Assistant Secretary of State Huntington Wilon, who said that the old cipher codes undoubtedly could be bought there, but that since the time of which Hall was treating the code had been twice changed.

MADERO WANTS KNOX TO PAY VISIT TO MEXICO

Mexico City, February 13.—President Madero expressed himself today as pleased that Secretary of State Knox may include Mexico in the itinerary of his Latin-American trip.

"His visit will be a source of satisfaction," said the president, "since he then will have the opportunity of learning more of this country, its advancement and the method of government. He will be able to learn for himself the true situation which, as I have said, is improving."

Edward Moore Stumbles Into Heated Fluid Intended for Hog.

Thomasville, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—While attempting to scald a hog just killed in a vat of water yesterday afternoon, Edward Moore, a prominent farmer of this county, stumbled and fell into the boiling water. His whole body was submerged, but he managed to keep his head above the water.

The Nuremberg output is about one-fifth of the entire German toy product, which is about $25,000,000 per year. Of this total about $20,000,000 is exported, going to every country of the globe.

Five-Year-Old Joseph Johnson Tumbles From Tricycle Into Kettle.

Albany, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) Joseph Johnson, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Johnson, prominent residents of Albany, was horribly burned late yesterday when he fell into a kettle of boiling water in the back yard.

An old negro woman was washing and the kettle was half full of boiling water when the child fell from his tricycle, landing in the vessel. His body went down into the water, only his legs and arms remaining outside. The old negress flew to his assistance and dragged him out just as he collasped.

He was terribly burned about the hips and walst. While his condition is serious, it is believed he will recover.

rubbish and ashes. It is known that this refuse, when burned in a modern high temperature incinerator, will generate about one-fifth as much steam power as the best coal. Coal costs the city over $2.50 per ton, delivered, and over 50 cents per ton for labor. This means that there is nearly $150 lost each day the city postpones installing a modern incinerator.

The steam power developed by the proposed incinerator could be used by the waterworks department with no complications and at a very small expense for electrical transmission machinery. The city would thus receive the direct benefit each day in the decreased coal consumption at the pumping plant. This revenue would be more than sufficient to pay for the interest on the investment necessary to install the incinerator and to cover the sinking fund necessary to retire the notes at the end of the life of the plant.

The clinker which results from the combustion of refuse in a modern high temperature incinerator is similar to blast furnace slag, and would have a sufficient value for paving the dirt alleys to more than cover the cost of operation. From these two sources of revenue the city would more than pay all the overhead charges necessary to erect a modern plant.

Would Be Sanitary Method.

The installation of a modern incinerator would permit the city to dispose of its germ-bearing refuse in the most sanitary method known to science and the system will be entirely self-supporting, not only in paying its running expenses, but in amortizing the investment, the capital for which is so badly needed.

It is estimated that a modern refuse incinerator of sufficient capacity to destroy all the waste cast away by the city would cost $400,000 complete with electrical machinery to transmit the power generated by such a plant to the waterworks pumping stations.

The special committee from the board of health is carefully considering all these points and will be ready to receive the report from the chief of construction in regard to plans and specifications which he is preparing.

As soon as the report is received bids will be asked from all the concerns which install incinerating plants. When the bids have been opened the question of financing the proposition will be put up to the mayor and council.

BUYS TEN THOUSAND TYPEWRITERS.

Telegraph Company, Adopting Progressive Methods, Gives Order That Breaks All Previous Records.

The recent order of the Western Union Telegraph Company for ten thousand writing machines is the largest purchase of its kind in business history—one that breaks all records.

This enormous single order goes to the Underwood Typewriter Company and will be followed by requisitions for additional thousands in the near future.

The telegraph company believed that the efficiency of the service could be greatly increased by the use of writing machines and would make the telegraphic result positively legible.

The proposition of purchasing the machines was put up to a committee some months ago. This committee took into consideration, not only the necessity for the purchase of typewriters, but the practical and mechanical merits of all machines. The result was a report to the company in favor of the purchase and the adoption of the machine just ordered. Within a year every telegram, and particularly the day and night lettergram received over the Western Union wires, will be typewritten.

The wholesale purchase of typewriting machines, although not in such large numbers as the Western Union order, is along a line adopted by several large mercantile houses during the past year. These companies bought the machines for bookkeeping purposes.

Many people are not aware of the fact that the new method of bookkeeping allows the making out of several different kinds of bills and an insertion on the page of a loose-leaf book, all in one operation.

The opening up of these new fields of activity and the adaptability of the machine to all kinds of work is the reason for the constantly increasing business of the company which secured the contract. ***

CHICAGO'S CHINA TONGS AGAIN ON THE WAR PATH

Chicago, February 13.—Mock Chun, a Chinese carpenter, was shot and killed by Neg Hong in a store of Louis Sing in South Clark street tonight. The police said the murder marked a renewal of hostilities between Chinese Tongs that may spread.

Chun came to Chicago several months ago from Philadelphia, where he was an official of the Hip Sing Tong. Just before he died he said Hong was a member of the On Leon Tong and that Hong had followed him from Philadelphia to Chicago.

Hong, who escaped, was accompanied by four others when he entered Sing's store. Attorney Edward F. Dunne, Jr., son of former Mayor Dunne, counsel for the Hip Sing Tong, arrived at Sing's store shortly after the murder and took charge of the search for Hong.

Life on a Modern Battleship.

(Captain Albert Gleaves in The Scientific American.)

A battleship comprises a community of approximately one thousand men, in which a centralized and automatic government prevails. The division of labor, exercises and drills, the rules that govern the hours of eating, sleeping and recreation, are the last words in routine and organization. Every man has his place and number, and there is not an article on board, from a torpedo to a water breaker, that has not its alloted space. Order and system are paramount and the very atmosphere breaths of discipline.

The head of this community of sea people is, of course, the captain. In battle his station is in the conning tower, and under his hand are all the latent Titanic forces of power, guncotton and steam, which may be released only at his bidding. In matters of administration he is judge and jury, and daily at the mast the delinquents are brought before him; he listens to the evidence, and there is no law's delay in his judgments. He messes alone, and his life for the most part is a solitary one.

The wardroom mess is presided over by the commander or executive officer, and is composed of the staff officers and the lieutenants. And merry times they have when the rigid discipline of the day's work gives place to postprandial relaxation of the evening. Then there are the junior officers' mess composed of midshipmen, and also the mess composed of warrant officers, those men of the rank and file who by faithful service have become gunners, boatswains and machinists. The service today is unconsciously working out new traditions that will be handed down to the coming generation of sea folk.

Forward of the mast there is a big household, which requires $75,000 a month to care for, clothe and feed in their 10-million dollar home. Nearly all trades are represented in this little kingdom of the sea: Tailors, shoemakers, photographers, jewelers, barbers and musicians; for the most part a man is allowed to ply his trade so long as there is no interference with his military duties. Regular prices are established by the captain, and as there is no competition, each has a large clientele.

The galleys have the best possible system of cooking, supplemented with electric potato peelers, electric meat choppers and electric dish washers. The bakery provides bread at all times instead of hard-tack, which was formerly supplied, and furnishes seven hundred loaves daily; there is a laundry, which has a fine equipment of machines run by electricity, and is handled by sailors who are excused from all other work except battle and fire stations; a cold storage with a capacity for provisions for one month for the entire ship's company, and a hospital or sick bay, well lighted and well ventilated, which is in a comfortable part of the ship. The hospital contains a sick ward proper with bunks for a score of patients, the isolation ward and the operating room. The last is fitted with every convenience known to modern practice, including an adjustable operating table and a sterilizing plant.

Every battle ship has a branch postoffice in charge of sailors appointed by the captain, which is under the same [illegible] tions that govern the shore stations. A complete telephone system connects all parts of the ship, and is supplemented by voice pipe communication, which is used principally in action. There is also a wireless installation, and officers as well as the operators are encouraged to become proficient in its use.

It is not all work on board ships; there is some beer and skittles. Smokers are a feature of life on board and there is nothing like the quarter deck of a battle ship for the mise en scene of a wrestling bout, a boxing match, a song and dance, juggling, slack wire performance or any other stunts for which there is ample talent in a crew of one thousand men. Then the tops of the turrets are crowded with the bleachers and officers and crew gather together around the improvised ring.

In the evening after supper, when the band plays, the men dance and sing or gather around the turrets and "gam" until 9 o'clock, when it is pipe down and all hands must turn in. Sometimes there are moving picture shows on the quarter deck; the films are all carefully selected and as each ship passes its to the next, there is a great variety in the fleet. Those of dramatic and romantic character are the most popular and always draw applause. Recently on one ship, when thirty miles at sea, butterflies blown off by the land breeze had fluttered around the ridge ropes and lifelines all day; but the finishing home touch was given at night during one of the moving picture shows by the chirping of a cricket hidden somewhere in the cork fenders.

FRIENDS OF THE WOMEN WORKING FOR SUFFRAGE

Trenton, N. J., February 13.—Senator Gebbard introduced in the senate this afternoon a concurrent resolution amending the state constitution as to provide for woman suffrage.

Annapolis, Md., February 13.—Advocates of woman suffrage, 600 or 700 strong, attended a legislative hearing today on the pending bill referring to the electorate the question of whether women shall be permitted to vote.

London, February 13.—At a suffrage demonstration held here tonight James Ramsay MacDonald, socialist and labor member for Leicester, declared that the labor party would use every particle of its influence to secure adult suffrage at the coming session of parliament. The party, he added, was even prepared to turn out the government if it refused to pass the bill.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE GOES INTO OHIO CONSTITUTION

Columbus, Ohio, February 13.—Equal suffrage is provided for in a proposal which was adopted by the suffrage committee of the Ohio constitutional convention tonight. Sixteen of the twenty-one members of the committee voted to report the proposal to the convention with a recommendation that it be made a part of the new constitution.

SOUTHERN MAN FOR KENTUCKY

Frankfort, Ky., February 13.—"It is the sense of this house that in the future in the selection of a candidate for president of the United States, the qualifications of any prospective candidate should not be prejudiced or ignored because he is a citizen of a southern state of the union."

This is the conclusion of a resolution adopted this afternoon by the Kentucky house of representatives. It follows the recital that "the last presidents of the United States from the south were James K. Polk, in 1844, and Zachary Taylor, in 1848," and that "every thought of sectionalism in the minds of the people has passed away with the generation in which it existed."

The resolution was introduced by Representative S. W. Forgy, of Todd county, who said he was not acting in behalf of any candidate or prospective candidate. The resolution provides that copies be sent to the governors of all the states with requests that each house of repreentatives consider it, and another to the clerk of the national house of representatives, so that it may be presented there.

GETS DEATH WOUND AVENGING INSULT

Montgomery, Ala., February 13.—As the result of a shooting affray between S. E. Beasley, a switch engine foreman of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, and Victor O. Hicks, a liquor dealer, which occurred this morning about 7 o'clock at a boarding house at 15 South Hull street, Hicks is at a hospital with a dangerous pistol bullet wound in his right shoulder and Beasley is held at the police barracks.

It is alleged that the shooting was the result of alleged derogatory remarks about Hicks and a woman boarding at the same house, which Hicks believed emanated from Beasley. The former will probably die.

TAFT IS CONSIDERING SUPREME COURT PLACE

Washington, February 13.—Consideration of an appointment to the vacancy on the supreme court bench, unfilled since the death of Justice Harlan last October, occupied much of President Taft's attention today and tonight it was said that the president had reached no decision.

Kansans interested in United States Circuit Judge William C. Hook saw the president or communicated with the white house, and a delegation of Pennsylvania lawyers, introduced by Representative Moon, had a long conference with Mr. Taft, at which they urged the appointment of United States Circuit Judge Buffington, of Pittsburg.

Friends of Secretary Nagel would not admit tonight that the president had eliminated him from consideration.

COMMANDER OF SLOCUM REGARDED AS SCAPEGOAT

New York, February 13.—Captain William Van Schaick, who commanded the Slocum at the time of the disaster to that vessel, and was recently pardoned after serving a term of imprisonment, is to spend his declining years on the farm where he was born.

A committee of men who believed the captain had been made a scapegoat, set about raising a relief fund, and has announced that $5,620 was contributed. Captain Vain Schaick asked that it be invested in the farm in Putnam county where he was born, saying he would like to end his days there. The committee has made arrangements for taking over the farm. There will be a balance of about $1,500 which will be given to the captain and his wife.

SUGAR CONFERENCE DIFFERS ON ONE POINT

Brussels, Belgium, February 13.—The international sugar conference has reached a decision on all points with the exception of one of secondary importance. All the powers agree to renew the convention for five years on the same conditions as governed the previous convention and to authorize Russia to export an additional 150,000 tons during the current year and 100,000 additional in subsequent years.

The only outstanding point is how the second 100,000 tons is to be apportioned. This is left to Russia, Germany and the powers directly interested to settle. The result will be made known at a plenary meeting of the conference on February 26.

Pensions for Confederates.

Frankfort, Ky., February 13.—Pensions of $10 a month for indigent and infirm confederate soldiers in Kentucky are provided for in a bill which unanimously passed the senate today. Widows of soldiers to whom they were married later than 1890 will not benefit. The measure now will go to the house.

Stomach in Your Vest Pocket

Trial Package Sent Free to Prove It.

When your stomach's overworked—and the average person's stomach is overworked a good part of the time—take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and give the stomach a week or a month off. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do more than assist digestion—they actually digest the food themselves, because they contain only the natural elements of the digestive fluids.

"I've Got It Right Here. You Never Catch ME Without a Box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in My Vest Pocket."

Coated tongue, bad breath, heartburn, belching, flatulency, bloat—all the symptoms of digestive troubles disappear quickly when these tablets are used. They are not a cure for anything but dyspepsia and kindred complaints. But they have brought relief to more sufferers from digestive diseases than all the patent medicines and doctor's prescriptions put together.

The stomach does the heaviest work of any of the bodily organs, yet it's the one we treat with the least regard. We eat too much of the wrong kind of food at any time. The patient stomach stands such treatment as long as it can and then it rebels. You get notice of the rebellion in the shape of the gases and pains caused by undigested, fermenting food.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will put the stomach right again in short order, and enable you to eat what you want when you want it. Carry them around with you; they are an actual substitute for a weakened, "all-in" stomach. They act in a hurry when you want relief; they act quickly, promptly, safely and naturally in digesting your food, just as Nature does herself; they bring the stomach back to normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold and recommended by all druggists at 50c and $1.00 a box. If you would like a trial package we will send you one, free, on receipt of your name and address. Write to F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Luisa Tetrazzini has a personality that is at once transparent and delightful. She is as simple as a child and as happy. She is frankly stout, without the least effort to conceal or change the fact.

She is openly in love with the good things of life—with beautiful clothes and jewels and wealth. She is as naive in her enjoyment of admiration and a tactful compliment as a school girl would be. And she always is laughing. One cannot recall her vivid personality without that sudden, brilliant smile that ends always in a ripple of laughter as merry and carefree as a child's.

And her gift of song? Why one never thinks of her that way, anymore than one thinks of a nightingale as gifted, or a mockingbird possessing a genius. Tetrazzini sings because she cannot help it. It was inevitable that she should be an opera queen, for this old worl of ours is never cheated out of a voice that it really wants to hear. But if she had not discovered her own genius and if no one else had discovered it, one cannot even remotely imagine that she would not have sung.

The diva's mother was a singer of genius, her father was a musician, and all of her sisters have really beautiful voices. Madame says that one of her sisters, the wife of Maestro Campanini, would have been one of the greatest singers of her day if her domestic tendencies had not been so strong.

Tickets are now on sale at the Cable Piano Company and at Phillips & Crew's, under Music Festival Association auspices.

TETRAZZINI,
Who will sing in Atlanta soon.

SUES FOUR COMPANIES FOR STORE INSURANCE

Jake Goldberg filed suit against four fire insurance companies in the Fulton superior court Tuesday. The suits all arose from the destruction of Goldberg's store at 350-352 Decatur street by fire on September 22, 1911. The amounts sued for total $4,500. Payment has been refused by the four companies.

He had the store insured by the Provident Washington Insurance Company for $1,500 on September 13, 1911; by the Phoenix Insurance Company for $1,000 on September 12, 1911; by the Globe & Rutgers Fire Insurance Company for $1,000 on September 1, 1911, and by the Exchange Underwriters for $1,000 on August 24, 1911, he declared in his suit.

NEGRO WILL WORK YEAR FOR 30 CENTS AND BOARD

Harry Harris is going to do one year's work for 30 cents and his board. To make matters worse he has never and never will receive the 30 cents. He is young, 26 years old, and strong as any man of that age.

The extremely low wage and the long term of service is due to Harry's action while he was said to be under the influence of liquor. Witnesses said he sold a half pint of corn whiskey for 30 cents, which he was to be paid "next Saturday."

The young negro was tried in the city court of Atlanta Tuesday afternoon. Various witnesses proved the sale, and it was alleged that Harry was in the habit of selling liquor. This Harry denied.

The jury found him guilty, and the judge gave him $150 or twelve months.

LOST OYSTER CUSTOMERS; NOW SUES FOR DAMAGES

That the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company did him $5,000 worth of damages in reporting that he had no telephone, thereby causing him to lose many customers to whom he sold large quantities of oysters, was alleged by P. B. Glinn in a suit filed in the Fulton superior court Tuesday morning.

Glinn declared he had a telephone put in his residence, 494 Piedmont avenue, and thereby added many customers to his list. About a month later, about October 15, when, he said, the oyster season was in full blast, the telephone company told many of his customers he had no phone, thereby causing him to lose their trade. Therefore he begged $5,000 damages.

Here Is a Bargain

Our usual discount on Salesmen's Samples is 25 per cent.

We will sell these two lines at 35 per cent. discount, net 60 days. These shoes are packed in bulk and tied together in pairs.

It is just the right season for retailers to sell these Oxfords, and a wide-awake merchant can stimulate his spring trade by buying these samples and selling them at factory prices, and at the same time make more than 50 per cent. profit.

in our warehouse; good, clean and up-to-date (no seconds or damaged goods).

Styles and quality at the top, and prices at rock bottom.

Out of this enormous stock we have a few small lots, which we sell at bargain prices each season, incident to change of styles and lasts, and NOW HAVE on the floor about one hundred cases only of these small lots, which we will sell at bargain prices to move them immediately.

Each of these lots are of the well known standard SHIELD BRAND quality, and will be sold at bargain prices, because the lots are too small to send samples on the road.

If you want to make some money, don't overlook this opportunity.

See them and you will be convinced.

HIS PATIENT DEAD WHEN HE ARRIVED

Physician Holds Taxicab Company Responsible for His Poor Health.

Lost while on the way to the bedside of a dying patient, forced to wander through the dark, over and under fences, across gullies, crossties and other obstructions, all the while suffering mental and physical suffering and anxiety, is the tale of woe told by Dr. E. VanGoldtsnoven in a suit for $10,000 damages brought against the Taxicab Operating Company Tuesday evening.

He alleges he was called to the bedside of Mrs. Charles M. Gallmard, at the corner of Gordon and Inman streets, on the night of November 14, 1911. He called a taxicab, and after riding a long distance the chauffeur stopped and informed the doctor that he was lost and that the doctor must get out and find his way as best he might, the suit declares.

The doctor alleges that upon being made to leave the taxicab he found himself in a strange part of the city. The street was narrow, he graphically describes it, and flanked on either side by deep gullies. The night was very dark, and while suffering intense mental anxiety he crossed torndown fences and on hands and knees crawled over dangerous holes and ditches, crossties and other obstructions.

At last, said he, an electric car was found and he found he was at the end of the Magnolia street car line. When he arrived at the home of his patient he found her dead. He declares that since that time he has been an invalid.

ATHENS BAR ATTENDS MRS. BRAND'S FUNERAL

Lawrenceville, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—The body of Mrs. C. H. Brand, who died in Baltimore Sunday morning, was brought to Lawrenceville this afternoon for interment. The funeral party came over from Athens in a special car and, in addition to the family, consisted of the entire bar of Athens.

Mrs. Brand was one of the most popular women ever raised in Lawrenceville and practically the entire town turned out to the funeral. All the business houses closed during the service. Judge Brand is also very popular here and the fact that he so recently buried his father turned all hearts in sympathy to him in the loss of his wife. The floral offerings were the most magnificent ever seen here.

Rev. E. L. Hill, of Athens, and Rev. J. M. Harris, of Lawrenceville, had charge of the service at the grave.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ASKED IN CONFERENCE

A resolution will be introduced at the next meeting of the city council requesting the Chamber of Commerce to appoint a special committee to confer with a council comittee on the installation of a municipal electric lighting plant.

Alderman James R. Nutting and Councilman Aldine Chambers will offer the resolution and it will doubtless be adopted by council.

The electric light committee of council meets Thursday afternoon and at that time consulting engineers will be asked to submit bids for furnishing the city with plans and estimates for a lighting plant.

The committee will hear a report from the city attorney on whether or not the Georgia Railway and Electric Company is reserving one duct in each of the underground conduits in use by the company. If this is not being done the city attorney will advise the committee what legal steps can be taken by the city to compel the company to provide such a duct.

LOWER CHEMICAL TARIFF MEANS GREATER REVENUE

Washington, February 13.—The democratic chemical tariff bill, made public today by the ways and means committee of the house, is expected to increase the government's revenues by $3,530,840 over those of the present fiscal year, although the reduction of ad valorem duties proposed is about 31 per cent.

Principally the measure increases duties on perfumes, fancy soaps and other luxuries and lowers the duties on drugs and materials in common use.

The democrats will caucus on the measure tomorrow, and it probably will be introduced in the house on Saturday.

"There is a general reduction in the duties on chemical products, but an increase in revenue. We have taken articles now on the free list and made them share taxation for revenue purposes only. The articles transferred to the free list amounted in imports in 1911 to $283,643 and produced revenue of $38,691. The articles taken from the free list and made dutiable amounted in imports in 1911 to $41,667,000.

"The result to the chemical schedule is an estimated increase in imports for the first year of $96,743,000, compared with $48,869,000 in 1911. The estimated duties under the new bill would amount to $16,101,000, as compared with $12,570,000 under the Payne act of 1911. There is an average decrease of 31½ per cent ad valorem, the equivalent ad valorem duty in 1911 being 25.72 compared with 16.64 for the first year of operation of the new bill."

Hoboken, N. J., February 13.—Following the trial by the faculty of thirty-seven members of the sophomore class at Stevens institute, charged with hazing freshmen, it was announced today that the entire sophomore class, numbering 100, has voted in secret session to go on strike if the hazing incident results in the dismissal of any of their fellows. The result of the faculty trial has not yet been announced.

TRAGEDY OF NICOTINE IS TOLD BY DR. KENNEDY'S TWO-FORS

If Dr. J. P. Kennedy, the city's health officer, is discovered smoking two-fors and his cigars look like stuffed cornshucks and smell like dried collard leaves it is because the genial and economical doctor has been the victim of a cigar tragedy.

A short while ago he went to Cuba on official business and while there bought a carefully selected box of fine Havana cigars worth 25 cents per in any first-class cigar store. He not only spent hours in choosing the best brand of the genuine Havana article, but he handed over to the Cuban manufacturer $25 worth of good American coin. Then he nursed that box as a miser would his treasure of gold, slept with it on the ship, or kept it by him while he ate. Arriving on American soil he paid the custom duties and once more depleted his roll by several dollars.

While stopping in Key West he stepped into a warehouse to dash off a short epistle to a friend, and, having his precious box of cigars with him and there being no convenient writing desk, he used it as a support for his scratch-pad. Through with the letter, he placed it in an envelope which he addressed and stamped, and then went out to mail. For the next three or four hours he became so delighted with his inspection of Key West's many attractions that time passed rapidly and he thought of nothing else except the joy of a day in the balmy atmosphere of the jumping-off place in Florida.

Not until he was homeward bound on the train did he think again of his dear box of Havanas. Alas, he had left them in the warehouse where he had written his letter and from that time to this he has heard naught of them. They have probably gone up in smoke long ago, to the delight of some lucky Key Wester.

So Atlanta's health officer is now trying to even up with his bad luck by smoking two-fors, which he says are not at all equal to his lost Havanas, but perfectly wholesome and just as valuable for fumigation.

HE IS A GREAT SMOKER.

NO EXCUSE FOR GILDED YOUTH WITH MERRY WAR OF TAXIS ON

With the announcement of the installation of a second taxicab service by the Atlanta Baggage and Cab Company Tuesday, yesterday another Richmond announced himself in the field, and wars and rumors of taxicabical strife hover over the city to the entire elation of those persons who have the price of public motors.

A. L. Belle Isle, of 4 Luckie street, is the latest person to declare that people of Atlanta wishing to be hauled a short distance by means of gasoline can be accomodated by him.

The typical taxicab model will not be employed by the Belle Isle concern. Mr. Belle Isle has seven comfortable touring cars, which he will use in the short distance service, and will charge a flat rate for them. He believes that he can better conserve the comfort of the riding public in this way. His service will be installed immediately, as his cars are already on the spot.

Then, too, the Atlanta Taxicab Company, which operates the one line now doing business, is not going to ie idle. This company is preparing to meet the rivalry and at its annual meeting Tuesday planned a comprehensive scheme, whereby twenty new cars can be added to the ten now in service in the briefest possible time. F. J. Cooledge was re-elected president of the company, which the annual report showed on a firm financial basis.

It was decided that an effort be made to obtain a ruling of the railroad commission on allowing taxicabs to have stands in the plaza at the Terminal station in order to give passengers the privilege of using the more modern method of transportation from station to hotel or home.

With three taxicab companies in the field, the gilded youth of Atlanta is becoming alarmed. No more can the excuse be given for walking the girl to the theater, "all the taxis are taken." No more can he plead, "that one's too old for any pleasure." With three lines operating there will be plenty of them for all Atlanta. They will be new enough for the most fastidious.

But to others, slaves of the taxicab habit, the war comes as a refreshing shower. In the competition, he sees himself bowling over the streets for hours and having the price of breakfast in the morning. He sees the installation of services that fail to compel him to stick his feet out of the window when there are two others in the machine.

And the taxicab people—well, they all see how they are each going to win out.

BARNES AND MARBUT ATTEND LAST MEETING

Commissioner Lee Barnes, of the sixth ward, and Commissioner Arthur Marbut, of the third ward, attended their last meeting of the board of police commissioners last night. The terms of both expire before the next meeting.

On motion of Commissioner George Johnson a rising vote of thanks was extended to both commissioners for their work during their terms of office. Both Mr. Barnes and Mr. Marbut made short speeches of appreciation.

HURT BY GIRL AUTOIST, WING SUES HER FATHER

Charging that George B. Morris was negligent in allowing his 19-year-old daughter to operate a powerful motor car, John D. Wing has filed suit against him on three counts for $5,000 each in the Fulton superior court.

Mr. Wing alleged that he was crossing Sixth street at the junction with Peachtree, when Miss Morris struck him with her car, badly injuring him. That Mr. Morris was negligent in allowing his daughter to operate the car, that she had no license and therefore was not eligible or capable to operate the car, are charges made by Mr. Wing.

STRIKE IS CAUSED BY COST OF LIVING

Boston, February 13.—The fundamental cause of the textile strike at Lawrence is the high cost of living, in the opinion of Governor Foss. In a letter to Representative Oscar W. Underwood, democratic leader of the federal house of representatives, made public tonight, Governor Foss urges the immediate removal of the duties from foodstuffs and other necessaries of life. The letter says in part:

"I am, as governor of this commonwealth, endeavoring to adjust a most disastrous strike among the textile operatives of this wool manufacturing section, which already involves 30,000 operatives. Back of whatever local causes there may be for this strike, the fundamental cause is the high cost of living, from which the working people of all sections of the country now suffer, due in part to the present excessive tariff.

"The present strike in Massachusetts will be settled within the state, but the high cost of living can only be remedied by the prompt action of congress, and until congress acts the working people in this state and throughout the country can hope for no permanent relief.

"I believe that only by an immediate removal of the tariff on foodstuffs and other necessaries of life can congress reduce the cost of living and avert the rapid spread of these industrial disturbances."

Negro Hunter Shot.

McDonough, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—Late Monday afternoon while a crowd of negroes were out hunting rabbits, three miles north of McDonough, John Brown shot Will Kimsey in the left shoulder, the latter dying a short time after from the effects of the gun shot wounds. It was reported to have been an accident, but Brown was arrested and placed in the county jail to await an investigation by the April grand jury. All the parties were negroes.

The Body Is a Fat Factory

When a man or a woman grows fat and huge, flabby layers of this worthless flesh makes them miserable, it is a certain sign that somewhere within the organism of that man or woman there is something radically wrong. The healthy man or woman digests all that is good in food and throws off in a natural manner all that is bad. This is what the digestive juices are made for. When these juices are weakened or too powerful they can not get the good things out of the nourishment we eat, and hence they turn into the blood that which makes fat. It is very simple to correct these juices in a fat person. This secret has been demonstrated in the famous Marmola Tablets which now have such a tremendous sale. They reduce fat at the rate of 12 to 15 ounces a day. They correct the faulty juices and give to the body the very nutrition it needs. They remove fat in a natural manner, but they do it so quickly as to be almost beyond belief. You do not have to diet or exercise and you may eat what you will. These little tablets are the result of a demand on the part of the public for a form of the famous Marmola prescription that will permit a fat person to carry his fat reducer with him at all times, so that each meal will add no more fat to his body. Marmola Tablets are sold by every druggist, or you may write the Marmola Company, 287 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., and a case will be sent you privately by mail. The price of Marmola Tablets is 75 cents everywhere.

ANGIER MAY GET REINSTATED SOON

Report from Washington Says He Will Be Reappointed.

Washington, February 13.—(Special.) It is reported in Washington, on what is believed to be reliable authority, that E. A. Angier will be reinstated as second United States district attorney at Atlanta. It has been impossible tonight to secure any confirmation of the rumor.

Up until a few months ago, Mr. Angier was assistant district attorney for the northern division of Georgia. He had served the government in this section for many years and in many positions, as one time being district attorney.

The request from Washington for his resignation came as a surprise to him and to his numerous friends in this state. He at once asked that he be given a hearing before the president, so that he might learn what charges had been preferred against him, and secure an opportunity to answer them.

During the time that President Taft was spending a short vacation in Maine, a number of friends of the executive were interested in behalf of Mr. Angier.

He was asked last night about the report, but said that he had no information of any action in the matter.

RAINY AND WARMER, SAYS THE FORECASTER

Rain and warmer is the prediction for Wednesday, and it is probable the mercury will not be lower than 36 this morning. The rain should arrive about the middle of the day. No more cold weather is expected for several days.

AND THE FIRE DID THE REST.

"Country inns are terrible bores—most of the time," remarked the Gopher reminiscently.

"One young gentleman found it extremely exciting, however, not long ago, while another was entertained. It all came about through one of these open fireplaces—blazing logs and all that sort of thing, you know.

"The hotel was old and the room was cold in spite of the fire. The canny boy jumped into bed and pulled the cover up. The other decided he'd warm his pajamas, and accordingly fastened them to the mantel with a book, the while he was occupied in other matters.

"Suddenly he perceived his friend laughing. Growing suspicious, he turned—and found one leg of his beloved pajamas had disappeared in flames. He's still mad because his friend didn't tell him about it."

ROOSEVELT WON'T RUN, ACCORDING TO DR. HILL

Lansing, Mich., February 13.—Dr. John Wesley Hill, of New York City, pastor of the Metropolitan temple, lifelong friend of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, strongly indorsed the administration of President Taft in a speech at the Ingham county republican convention here tonight. There was no doubt in his mind but that the president would be elected for a second term.

"I believe that Theodore Roosevelt is a man of his word," said Mr. Hill, "and when he declared that under no circumstances would he be a candidate he believed that the precedent established in this country should be observed. I believe that he meant what he said and that no amount of influence can cause him to break the vow he made to the American people."

IRON COMPANIES SEEK LOWER FREIGHT RATES

William A. Wimbish, an Atlanta lawyer, who is well known throughout the south, has been chosen by the independent iron companies of the south to prosecute a complaint before the interstate commerce commission for a reduction of the rate on pig iron to Ohio river points and places beyond.

The task is an unusual one, and reflects much credit upon Mr. Wimbish's ability. There are fifteen of the independent companies in Alabama and Tennessee, and it was at a meeting of representatives, held in Birmingham, Ala., that Mr. Wimbish was selected.

A $1 reduction in the $3.25 rate from Birmingham is desired by the independent iron companies in order that they may compete with iron companies in the north. Some time ago southern railroads raised the rates.

ARIZONA'S GOVERNOR INAUGURATED TODAY

Phoenix, Ariz., February 13.—Preparations for the installation of Arizona's first state governor tomorrow were completed tonight. Governor-elect George W. P. Hunt, Mrs. Hunt and their daughter, Virginia, arrived today. Tomorrow at noon Mr. Hunt will walk to the capitol with a few friends and take the oath of office. Chief Justice Edward Kent will read the oath. The new governor will review a military parade. His party will include William J. Bryan. A salute of 48 guns will be fired. The inaugural ball will be held in a public street at night.

Dr. Birckhead Resigns.

Baltimore, Md., February 13.—Announcement was made tonight of the acceptance by Rev. Dr. Hugh Birckhead, of New York, of a call to become rector of Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal church of this city. Dr. Birckhead at preent is rector of St. George's Protestant Episcopal church, New York city, of which J. Pierpont Morgan is a member. He will succeed the late Rev. Dr. Houston Eccleston, who died some time after being run down by an automobile last March.

Kent to Quit Congress.

All the Tone-quality of the $200 Instruments in this one at $59

The Offer:

We agree to deliver to any address in Atlanta one of these Grafonolas, together with an assortment of 12 double-disc records (24 selections) to be selected by us, or by you if you prefer.

The machine and the records will be sent on three days' free trial to any home in the city.

So confident are we that the instrument will please even the most critical, that we agree to refund all money paid by any purchaser who may not in every way be satisfied with the instrument.

This is the first offer of this sort we ever made. We do it now because we intend either to place a Grafonola in every home in Atlanta, or at least give every householder in Atlanta an opportunity to own one.

The Instrument:

This beautiful Grafonola "Favorite," the first instrument of this latest improved type to be offered at anything like its price, is probably the best that its price will ever buy. It seems pretty clear that the limit has been reached. As a musical instrument, it is all that any musical instrument can be, and all that those costing $200 can claim to be.

The cabinet is built of the choicest mahogany (or of beautiful quarter-sawn oak) polished like the costliest piano.

The "Favorite" plays any size of record—three at one winding, and can be rewound while running, the motor being a powerful triple-spring drive, absolutely silent and always positive and reliable. The tone arm leads the sound waves from the reproducer into the sound chamber, where it is amplified and poured out through the front, subject to reduction in volume by the partial or complete closing of the double doors. The start-and-stop lever is combined with a speed regulator lever, all in handy reach. The turn-table stands above the top of the cabinet when the lid is raised, admitting easy access to the record and needle.

The Records:

The outfit of records we have selected from the best selling and most popular of all classes, and includes the famous Sextette from "Lucia" and the equally famous Quartette from "Rigoletto," which ought to be extremely interesting to any of your friends who own talking machines and have paid $13 for those two selections alone. You are at liberty to make your own selection of records if you prefer.

It is an instrument that any man, of any means, may be proud to own and use for a lifetime.

In addition to those 24 selections, we will give you, free, one of our "Demonstration" double-disc records, which everybody admits is worth at least sixty cents of any man's money. All of these records are guaranteed to be superior to all others in tone, in surface and in durability.

They will outwear any other make of records almost two to one.

SILVEY BUILDING PLANS ARE MADE

Six-Story Structure Will Be Completed By Fall.

Although definite steps have not yet been taken, it has been announced that the John Silvey & Co.'s building to be erected on the lot on Marietta street adjoining the First Presbyterian church, in all probability, will be completed and occupied by the fall of 1912.

This statement was made yesterday by William Speer, of the Silvey firm. The proposed structure will be six stories in height, will be constructed of the finest material and will cost in the neighborhood of $60,000. Each of the six floors will be occupied by the Silvey company, now doing business in the Silvey building on Edgewood avenue, just off Peachtree street.

The plans have not been drawn, but the architects who have them in charge, say that preparations will be completed within sixty days, at which time work is expected to begin.

The lot fronts on Marietta street 100 feet, and has a depth of 200 feet. The building, as proposed, will occupy only 50 feet front space, and will be 150 feet deep.

NEGROES OF VIRGINIA TO PROTEST TO TAFT

Petersburg, Va., February 13.—Leading colored business men of the state tonight in conference here in which was denounced the "lily white" policies of the republicans of Virginia, decided to send a delegation to Washington Saturday to protest to President Taft against denying colored republicans representation in republican councils and conventions. Not an officeholder was present at the conference. Among the speakers were W. H. C. Brown, banker; P. B. Young, editor of Journal and Guide; Dr. G. Jarvis, all of Norfolk, and Rev. L. L. Downing, of Roanoke.

FORTY YEARS IN PEN FOR HIGHWAY ROBBERY

New York, February 13.—Forty years in Sing Sing prison was the punishment meted out today to Edward Smith, 28 years old, by Judge Fawcett in the county court in Brooklyn after a jury had in ten minutes convicted him of highway robbery and assault. This is said to be the most severe sentence ever imposed in a like case in Brooklyn. Smith was found guilty of beating Professor Frank W. Meissinger, a Brooklyn music teacher, and robbing him of $17 only six weeks after he had been released from prison for a similar offense. He was characterized by Judge Fawcett as "an habitual criminal."

FIRST LIEUT. POWERS DEAD BY HIS OWN HAND

Manila, February 13.—First Lieutenant J. Reynolds Powers, Eighth cavalry, killed himself while his regiment was proceeding from Camp Stostenburg, at Guaga, province of Pampanga, to take part in the maneuvers at Luzon. The reports of Lieutenant Powers' death are meager, and it is not known whether the killing was accidental. Six thousand troops will participate in the maneuvers, which will begin tomorrow.

MERCER GLEE CLUB RECALLS MEMORIES OF OTHER DAYS

The Mercer University Glee Club gave a most creditable performance to an enthusiastic audience at the Baptist Tabernacle last night. Each number on the program was roundly applauded, until an encore was given. The ensemble work of the singers was especially good, as wel as the solo and quartet work.

Perhaps the selection most heartily enjoyed was an encore toward the end, "John, Can You Tell Us?" It was a little bit of humorous song that enlivened the whole program, which in general was composed of more or less reflective, sober pieces.

The quartet, composed of Messrs. Carver, Lee, Hurlburt and Rodgers, rendered "The Rosary" and "Annie Laurie" excellently. The grave digging scene from "Hamlet" was given with fine dramatic effect by the reader of the company, J. G. Hart.

Vocal solo, "King of the Winds," David—G. R. Hurlburt.
"Sunset," Van de Water—Glee Club.
Quartet, "The Rosary," Nevins—G. L. Carver, E. P. Lee, G. R. Hurlburt, W. S. Rodgers.
"Jemima's Piano," Crowley—Glee Club.
Reading, "Grave Digging Scene," Shakespeare—J. G. Hart.
Octet, "Mrs. Casey's Boarding House," Parks—Scarboro, Pool, Hawkins, Newton, Howell, Powell, Lane, Lester.
Intermission.
"Who Killed Cock Robin?" Scott—Glee Club.
Vocal solo, "Maytime," Speaks—G. L. Carver.

CHARLES E. POWELL,

"Comrades in Arms," Adam—Glee Club.
Serenade, Colyn—Glee Club.

PROPOSED THAT STATE FIX PRICES OF FERTILIZERS

Hazlehurst, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—Dr. S. W. Johnson, delegate to the State Farmers' Union, has written the following card to the farmers of Georgia:

"You are passing through a crisis now that has swept away all of the profits that should have been yours from the crop of 1911. You bought guano at fabulous prices, and in many instances paid 100 per cent profit to the guano manufacturer for his product and in this you have no redress, as there is no longer competition in the prices of guano, by reason of there being a trust formed among guano manufacturers against you. The reason for this, in a large measure, is that farmers are not organized for their common good. It is said that you cannot organize the farmer wherein he will stick. There are many reasons offered why this is true, if true at all, the main one of which is the large and independent farmer thinks that all he is called on to do is to take care of himself and his business. He does not stop to think that the guano trust is a blow at his business as well as the small farmer. Again, he thinks it too small a thing for him to go around attending meetings of the Farmers' Union. Another reason he has is there is a class of politicians who are ready to charge him with having a political ax to grind. These and many other smaller reasons cause him to stand in his own light.

Should Stand Together.

"There is another class of fellows that do not join, or do not stick after they do join, because they do not see great hunks coming to them right now. To the above class of gentlemen, when you feel and see that you are being robbed by guano trusts in the spring and cotton gamblers on Wall street in the fall, it is time to lay down all these little petty prejudices and join the Farmers' Union, and stand together for mutual protection. This organization must live and prosper as a great bulwark to our great agricultural interest in the United States, to build up her rural educational system, her public highways and many other things that make a great country and a great people. But grant that it is true that we will never be able to organize all of the farmers into one compact body, then the question may be asked, What are we to do? Or where are we to turn for relief?

"We for many years stood the oppression of a railroad monopoly in this country until the burden became so heavy that we began to seek relief through legislation, both state and national, and as a result we have a fine system of state and national railroad commissions that are in a great measure controlling these great public utility corporations in the interest of the people.

To Offer Resolution.

"Having been elected to represent Jeff Davis county in the State Farmers' Union that convenes at Macon, Ga., on the 14th day of February, I will introduce the following resolution in said convention:

"Resolved, by the Farmers' Union of Georgia, assembled at Macon, February 14, 1912, That the next general assembly of Georgia pass a bill or a resolution, as the conditions require, to create a committee of citizens in part and in part legislators to make a rigid investigation as to the cost of the manufacture of all brands of guano or fertilizer, and the cost of the various plants engaged in the manufacture of said guanos and fertilizers, and after this information has been reliably obtained that the commissioner of agriculture be empowered by law to affix the prices of said guanos to the farmer, with a reasonable profit, to the manufacturer, after considering the cost of the manufacturing plant, the costs of all products and all labor used in the manufacture of said guano or fertilizer, and the cost of any other items of expense incurred in said manufacture.

"The guano manufacturer must be reckoned as a public utility corporation, and should be dealt with as such, as their trade is with the most defenseless people in the world, and if there is any people in any line of industry who should be protected by the strong arm of the state, it should be the farmers and agricultural enterprises."

HUGE STOCK DIVIDED BY OIL CORPORATION

New York, February 13.—Officials of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana announced today that the increase in capital stock from $1,000,000 to $20,000,000 will be given to stockholders as a stock dividend if the recommendations of the directors are approved by the stockholders at the annual meeting on March 7 at Whiting, Ind. The present holders of one share of Standard Oil of Indiana stock will receive twenty-nine new shares of stock. Holders of fractional shares will proportionately share in the distribution of the new stock.

"OLD AGE, A CURABLE DISEASE," DECLARES T. HARRY GAZE

"Perpetual youth is a scientific possibility, and old age is a preventable and curable disease," was the somewhat startling statement of T. Harry Gaze, editor of The Life Culture Magazine, in his lecture Tuesday afternoon at the Universalist church, under the auspices of the Atlanta Psychological Society.

Mr. Gaze's subject was "A Scientific Study of the Subconscious Mind." He said in part:

"The subconscious intelligence is that department of the mind which presides over the so-called involuntary activities of the body. It is constantly at work tearing down and reconstructing the body. It is influenced by our thoughts and suggestions to a wonderful degree. When the subconscious mind is sensitized by intense emotions, the suggestion of ever increasing life, health, strength and youth can be so deeply impressed upon it that it rebuilds the body to correspond with these desirable ideals. A new body can be built to order, and according to the highest ideals of the mind. The fountain of youth lies within each mind."

Mr. Gaze will give a free lecture at the Carnegie library under the auspices of the Atlanta Psychological Society at 8 o'clock tonight on the subject, "How to Live Forever, or the Secret of Eternal Youth."

MARATHON CARS FRESH FROM FACTORY SHOWN IN ATLANTA

Models of the new Marathon cars, fresh from the factory at Nashville, Tenn., have reached Atlanta and were viewed by scores yesterday in the show rooms of E. D. Crane & Co., 46 Madison avenue.

The Marathon people believe they have turned out in the south a better car for the price than is being built in any city of the north. Mr. Crane, the state agent of the company, was anxious to have the models exhibited at the Atlanta auto show, but a delay in their arrival prevented this, and they are being displayed in his own quarters. However, automobile enthusiasts have not been slow to call at the show rooms and admiration of the models has been freely expressed.

Among the callers was R. L. Ellis, of Asheville, N. C., agent for the Marathon at that place. He journeyed all the way to see the new cars. F. J. DeLaney and C. W. Ellis, of Greenville, S. C., agents for that state, were also at the Crane office.

The models shown are the L 30, a handsome five-passenger car, which sells for $1,200; the L 30 Roadster, which sells for $1,000, and the Model K 20 Roadster, which sells for $685. All of these models are handsome in design and built for durability and service.

How to be Certain of Curing Constipation

Prejudice is a hard thing to overcome, but where health is at stake and the opinion of thousands of reliable people differs from yours, prejudice then becomes your menace and you ought to lay it aside. This is said in the interest of people suffering from chronic constipation, and it is worthy of their attention.

In the opinion of legions of reliable American people the most stubborn constipation imaginable can be cured by a brief use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You may not have heard of it before, but do not doubt its merits on that account, or because it has not been blatantly advertised. It has sold very successfully on word of mouth recommendation. Parents are giving it to their children today who were given it by their parents, and it has been truthfully said that more druggists use it personally in their families than any other laxative.

Letters recently received from Mr. J. N. Catlett, Commerce, Ga., and Mrs. Rose Garvin, Ridgeville, S. C., are but a few of thousands showing the esteem in which Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is held. It is mild, gentle, non-griping—not violent, like salts or cathartics. It cures gradually and pleasantly, so that in time nature again does its own work without outside aid. Constipated people owe it to themselves to use this grand bowel specific.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 468 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

Beyond that	1.50
First three rows in balcony	1.50
Back of that	$1.00 and .50
Second balcony	.50

Matinees.

Beyond that	1.00
First three rows in balcony	1.00
Back of those	75c and .50
Second balcony	.25

While the identity of king of the "Kirmess" is still a mystery and is puzzling everyone who is interested in the gorgeous spectacle, the first words from the Merry Monarch have come to The Constitution.

The edict given under his hand and seal is as follows:

"We, the royal ruler of 'Kirmess,' do ordain that every subject shall be merry; let there be mirth within our realm; let there be hilarity galore; let all be glad and happy during our reign.

"During this revelry let money flow like water; let it flow in an unceasing stream into the coffers of the realm. This is our will; this is the law of 'Kirmes' land.

"He who fails to regard our proclamation shall perish; he shall be drawn and quartered, his estate seized and the proceeds given to charity.

"The clemency of the throne will be embalmed and entombed for the period of the festival and to none will mercy be extended who are found sad and mirthless.

Conventions Forgotten.

"Conventions are to be unknown during the glorious days of our reign and our general subjects may disport themselves as merrily as the members of our own royal family and attendants. Let none of our courtiers or maidens appear in somber dress; let merry colors rule; let the fantastic creep into the design and pattern of our habiliaments; let nothing be staid or conventional.

"To our loved subjects, who are not of our court, let this be law. There shall be no favor shown to him who fails to buy of the goods offered him at 'Kirmess' affairs, nor to him who stays in his castle and mourns or who hoards his tithe.

"And in especial we call our subjects' attention to our worthy ballhoo clerk, who is to tally the votes of our subjects on the various dances. Let none refuse to give him votes. It is our will that all our loyal people shall exercise the franchise which we, in our munificence, have seen fit to grant them. For each vote on the popularity of the dances our clerk will collect ten farthings. All who refuse to vote often shall be exiled from 'Kirmess' land for a year and a day.

"In the end, let this be a merry carnival, let us tether the sorrows at home and bring the joys to rule with us.

"(Signed) REX 'KIRMESS' PRIMUS."

Many Boxes Taken.

Among those who have taken boxes for the Kirmess performances are Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mrs. T. S. Lewis, Mrs. Samuel Inman, Mrs. Marion Jackson, Mrs. Kate Cox, Mayor Winn, Mrs. Robert Maddox, for Saturday matinee.

The box holders for Saturday night are Mrs. John Murphy, Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mrs. Frank Inman, Mrs. Floyd McRae and Mrs. Henry Jackson, Mrs. Henry Johnson, Jr., Mrs. William A. Speer, Mrs. John Little, Mrs. Thomas Meador, Mrs. W. S. Witham, Mr. Joseph Gatins, Jr.

For Monday matinee, Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mrs. Morris Brandon, Mrs. Edward Brown and Mrs. J. M. High.

For Monday night, Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mrs. Samuel Inman and Mrs. M. Frank.

Mrs. Charles Sisson, chairman, requests that all box holders will call at the box office where they will find the box tickets with their names.

A number of boxes are still to be had for each performance.

Appeal for Automobiles.

An appeal has been made for automobiles for the use of the children who are to take part in the Kirmess parade Friday night. It is requested that machines will be sent to the old Capital City Club Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock. All who are willing to lend their machines will please 'phone Mrs. Marshall Eckford at West 435.

Those who have already offered their automobiles for the occasion are Mrs. W. A. Wimbish, Mrs. Frank Inman, Mrs. J. L. Dickey, Jr., Mrs. Samuel Inman, Mrs. W. A. Speer, Mrs. Robert Maddox, Mrs. Henry Jackson, Mrs. Joseph Rhodes, Mrs. T. S. French, Mrs. E. D. Kennedy, Mrs. John Murphy, Mrs. Richard Elliot Miller, Mrs. J. N. McEachron, Mrs. H. P. Broughton, Mrs. W. B. Disbro and Mr. J. W. Jones, Mrs. Frank Dean, Mrs. Edward Ansley, Mrs. Thomas Lumpkin, Mrs. J. C. Mason, Mrs. Arnold Broyles, Mrs. Montgomery Francis, Mrs. Floyd McRae, Mrs. E. H. Connally, Mrs. W. C. Jarnagin, Mrs. Junius Oglesby, Jr., Mrs. Joseph Regenstein, Mrs. J. D. McCarty, Mrs. Morris Hirsch, Mrs. M. R. Hirsch, The United Motor Company, Mr. W. O. Jones, Mr. S. C. Starke, Velie Motor Company.

Kirmess Rehearsals.

The entire Kirmess cast will rehearse at 8 p. m. tonight in the old Capital City Club ball room. At 12 o'clock the Spanish dance and at 1 p. m., the Roumanian dance will rehearse. The Garland girls rehearse at 11 a. m. No rehearsals will be held in the afternoon on account of the children's ball.

Mrs. Yorston to Sing.

Mrs. Carthew Yorston will contribute to the brilliant musical program which will be given at the Valentine tea at the Georgian Terrace hotel this afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. She will be assisted by Dr. Zoepffel-Quellenstein and by the Spanish orchestra under the direction of Signor Tovar. The program is a choice and exquisite one, and the proceeds of the entertainment will go toward the fund being raised for the mountain children at the Florine Holt school at Mathis, Ga. The purpose of the tea is to help raise a fund of $1,000 necessary to build a little schoolhouse. Communications on the subject may be sent to Mrs. Lamar Rutherford Lipscomb, director of the school, care of the Georgian Terrace hotel.

To Mrs. Inman's Guests.

In compliment to Mrs. Frank Inman's guests, Mrs. Hugh Sanford and Mrs. Joseph Gaut, of Knoxville, Mrs. Linton Hopkins will entertain at luncheon Friday and Mrs. Howard Bucknell will give a matinee party Saturday, these affairs to be bright events in a week of gayeties occasioned by the visit of these two popular young matrons.

Last night a theater party was given for Mrs. Sanford and Mrs. Gaut, and today Mrs. Henry Inman will entertain at luncheon at the Georgian Terrace, followed by a matinee party to see "The Fortune Hunter," her guests to include Mrs. Sanford, Mrs. Gaut, Mrs. Frank Inman, Mrs. Ben Lee Crew.

Mrs. Hugh Richardson will entertain at 5 o'clock tea this afternoon at the Georgian Terrace and a party has been arranged for tonight at the Valentine ball.

Kirmess Notes.

Kirmess preparations are going on with a rush during the few days that are left before the first performance at the Grand Saturday afternoon. Scores of tickets have been sold for every performance of the four and there are a number of good ones left. The price is from 25 cents to $1.50 for the matinees and from 50 cents to $2 for the night performances.

Candy will be sold during the two days of the Kirmess and Mrs. J. J. Lynch, who is chairman of the candy committee, asks that all who want to contribute good home-made candy send it to her at 86 Ponce de Leon avenue.

Many of the school children of Atlanta will get a chance to see the Kirmess on Saturday afternoon and night and a special plea will be made by the ladies in charge for the school authorities to let out school an hour earlier than usual on next Monday so that the girls and boys may have an opportunity to attend the Monday matinee.

The ball for little folks which F. M. Agostini is to give from 3 to 6 o'clock this afternoon is the talk of all the boys and girls in the city and from present indications the ball room of the old Capital City Club building will be crowded for the full three hours.

The Experience of Two Girls Here Related For The Benefit of Others.

Rochester, N. Y.—"I have a daughter 13 years old who has always been very healthy until recently when she complained of dizziness and cramps every month, so bad that I would have to keep her home from school and put her to bed to get relief.

"After giving her only two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound she is now enjoying the best of health. I cannot praise your Compound too highly. I want every good mother to read what your medicine has done for my child."—Mrs. RICHARD N. DUNHAM, 311 Exchange St., Rochester, N.Y.

Stoutsville, Ohio.—"I suffered from headaches, backache and was very irregular. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and before I had taken the whole of two bottles I found relief. I am only sixteen years old, but I have better health than for two or three years. I cannot express my thanks for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had taken other medicines but did not find relief."—Miss CORA B. FOSNAUGH, Stoutsville, Ohio, R.F.D., No. 1.

Hundreds of such letters from mothers expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for their daughters have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY GIVEN MR. JOHN E. MURPHY

Mrs. John E. Murphy entertained at an elegant dinner party last evening the occasion in celebration of Mr. Murphy's birthday, and a surprise to him, and in compliment to her brother, Mr. Joseph Gatins, of New York, who is in the city.

The guests invited at 8 o'clock were received in the drawing room and later dinner was served in the ball room on the third floor. Here the decorative scheme was beautiful and presented the idea of a spring garden. From thickly set garlands of smilax and foliage there hung the purple tinted wistaria, while over the woodwork on the white framed mirror there was the same garlands over which showed the blooms of the pink and purple tinted morning glories. The electric lights had flower shades, and under the bower of flowers and lights thus formed were the different tables at which the guests were seated, each table decorated in spring flowers.

At the center table the flowers used were in lilacs and pink roses, the delicate tints of both expressed in the detail decorations on the table. At another table the spring jonquils were used, their gold lights reflected in the candle shades in the cakes and bonbons. Rose-colored carnations made radiant another table, with the appointments all in the same color, and the fragrant narcissi ornamented the fourth table, which was entirely in white and green.

There was an orchestra which presented a bright musical program, and after dinner many toasts were proposed to the guests of honor, who responded in happy vein. Many of the guests brought gifts, to which they attached good wishes, the gifts including almost everything from toy drums to miniature trolley cars, all accompanied by verses suggestive of the St. Valentine season, and provoking much merriment.

Mrs. Murphy wore an elegant toilet in coral pink satin, the corsage embroidered in corals and crystals. She was assisted in entertaining by Miss Gatins, who wore a white satin gown embroidered in crystals and trimmed in lace.

Marist Orchestra.

The Marist college orchestra is to furnish the music in the forthcoming big Marist show to be given in the college auditorium next Tuesday afternoon and evening.

This orchestra is probably the youngest musical organization in Atlanta, having been formed only last October. During the past few weeks it has appeared in public on several occasions and its excellent playing has called forth the highest encomiums.

Much of its success is due to the efforts of its able director and organizer, Rev. Father Dubois, S. M., who formerly directed the orchestra of All Hallow's college, Salt Lake City, Utah.

It is composed of the following members:

Rev. L. Dubois, first violin and director; Sergeant Lloyd, snare drum and chief musician; Sergeant Sugarman, second violin; Coroporal Hubert, bass drum and assistant chief musician; Rev. D. F. Sullivan, pianist; George E. Manning, first cornet and librarian; Judge Fowler, second cornet; Joseph McCarthy, second violin; J. Bradshaw, second violin; William A. Manning, solo violin; E. Hubert, bass horn; Rev. N. Wilhelmy, clarionet; William Browne, trombone.

Valentine Party.

Mrs. Preston Arkwright will entertain at a very delightful valentine party Thursday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock in the Sunday school room of the First Methodist church, in compliment to the members of the Junior League of the Home and Foreign Missionary Society, of which Mrs. Arkwright is manager.

The Sunday school room, which is circular in shape, will be elaborately and beautifully decorated with flags of the different nations, and many large red and gold hearts and palms and ferns. Each alcove will represent a valentine, the central one being red and white with various colored ones on either side.

Miss Henrietta Massenling will tell to the young guests in her own charming way the story of St. Valentine. Miss Mary Barnwell wil give a short sketch of the splendid results being accomplished by the junior society in their different fields of work. Children in the costumes of each country will illustrate Miss Barnwell's interesting talk. Representing these countries will be Miss Jenette Johnson, Indian Territory; Miss Annie Armstrong, Brazil; Miss Elizabeth Shewmake, Cuba; Miss Madeline McCullough, Korea; Miss Ethel Powers, Mexico; Master Leonard Trenary, Africa; Master Preston Arkwright, China, and Miss Dorothy Arkwright will be a maid from Japan.

And to represent the home work will be a little one from one of the day nurseries.

There will be music and refreshments after the program.

Assisting Mrs. Arkwright in entertaing will be some of the young girls who are members of the society. The mothers of all of the children are also invited.

For Mrs. Stringfellow.

Mrs. Frank Spain will entertain at bridge this afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Stuart Stringfellow, who has recently come to Atlanta to make her home.

The guests will include a number of those who were Mrs. Stringfellow's friends when she was Miss Annie Nash, and Atlanta was her home.

To Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. Ernest Williams, of Lynchburg, Va., who is visiting Mrs. Porter King, was the center of a group of ladies having tea on Monday afternoon at the Georgian Terrace, Mrs. H. E. Harman being the hostess of the occasion.

Valentine Social.

There will be a valentine social at the home of Mrs. T. B. Rice, 248 Stewart avenue, on Friday evening, February 16, at 8 o'clock, given by the ladies of the Tenth Ward Club. All residents of the tenth ward are cordially invited.

CHANGED HER APPEARANCE

Friends Living Only Two Blocks Away Did Not Recognize this Lady and Refused to Speak to Her.

Atlanta, Ga.—"Some of my friends, who live only two blocks from me, did not know me when they met me on the street the other day," writes Mrs. Mattie Christopher, of this city.

"I look so much better now, than they ever saw me. They were surprised, and asked me to excuse them for not speaking to me.

I told them I felt better too, and that it was all due to Cardui, the woman's tonic.

I had suffered for 20 years with female trouble, which, at times, was so bad that for six weeks I would go on witnout seeing anything.

I will always praise Cardui for what it has done for me."

Follow a more natural course and take Cardui, the woman's tonic.

It will enrich your blood, build up your constitution, and make you look better and feel better as it has been doing for other ladies during the past half a century.

Get a bottle from your druggist. He sells and recommends it.

Valentine Dinner-Dance.

Dinner will be served promptly at 8 o'clock tonight at the Driving club, this feature to introduce what promises to be one of the most brilliant balls of the season.

Over three hundred reservations have been made, and the large company will include quite a number of visitors.

When Your Hair Turns Gray

When a woman's hair turns gray, the world expects her to step back from the lime light. Active and abreast of the times she may be, with a wide experience, but—she has grown old and gray headed. Fortunate, indeed, is the woman whose hair retains its color through her forties.

But what of the woman whose hair begins to fade, maybe as early as 25 or 30, the woman in the midst of the active business world? "We don't want old women!" She feels it all around her.

Don't let your hair turn gray. But be careful. Very few hair stains are absolutely pure and harmless. There are some reliable preparations; our Robinnaire Hair Dye is one. Made here in Atlanta, in our own laboratory, and we guarantee it to be pure and positively non-injurious to either hair or scalp. It makes the hair soft and keeps it in fine condition, and no one can detect that a hair stain has been used. It is not a vulgar bleach or artificial coloring. It is a natural restorative that puts back life and color into the hair. No one need hesitate to use it. Non-sticky and does not stain skin or scalp.

No woman need have gray hair undesired. But don't pull out the white hairs, two will grow in immediately for every one you pull out. Use Robinnaire's Hair Dye at once, and don't let people call you old. It is prepared for light, medium and dark brown and black hair. Trial size, 25c, regular large size, 75c, postpaid. Debutante Luncheon.

A beautiful occasion yesterday assembling the debutantes was the luncheon given by Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., at the Capital City club, in compliment to Miss Katherine Harvey, of Kansas City, the lovely guest of Miss Cobbie Vaughn.

The handsomely appointed table seating the party of twenty-six, had as its centerpiece a heart-shaped mound of Killarney rosebuds. The candles were embossed with pink roses, and the ices were served in dainty pink rose cups. The place cards were valentines, and all the little details of appointment were prettily in harmony with the prevailing spirit of youth and beauty.

Miss Harvey, who is a young woman of unusual presence and charm, wore a becoming gown of flame-colored satin veiled with brown chiffon trimmed with sable, and her velvet hat was trimmed with the same fur. Miss Vaughn wore a green velvet gown and a black hat with plumes.

Mr. Davey's Lecture.

An interesting occasion of this evening is the lecture which John Davey, the great expert on tree culture and tree surgery, delivers at the Atlanta Woman's Club.

The lecture will be at 8 o'clock and will be under the auspices of the lecture section, of which Mrs. Linton Hopkins is chairman.

Mr. Davey has a national reputation not only for the knowledge which he possesses regarding "our friends," the trees, but for his ability to express that knowledge in lecture form.

He is brilliantly interesting and instructive.

The lecture will be free, Mr. Davey's present tour south being that he may bring the message of how to treat and take care of the trees to this section where they meet with ruthlessly careless treatment.

Great Need of Text-Books for the Settlement Night School.

Mrs. Henry H. Tucker, chairman of the educational committee, requests that everyone interested in the settlement high school contribute the money to purchase or donate the following books:

Ten Conn's Physiologies.
Ten Reed's Word Lessons.
Ten Fields' United States Histories.
Ten Reed & Kellog Grammers.
Two dozen Lee's Second Readers.
One and a half dozen Lee's Readers.
Fourteen Young Americans for Little Americans.

The chairman can be reached before 10 o'clock every morning over Bell telephone Main 4712-J. Mrs. Henry H. Tucker, chairman educational committee.

Rives-Chamberlain.

Mrs. E. E. Rives announces the engagement of her daughter, Kathileen, to Mr. W. G. Chamberlain, of Covington, Ky., the wedding to take place at an early date.

To Visitors.

A beautiful entertainment yesterday in compliment to two lovely visitors was the luncheon given by Mrs. Frank Inman to introduce her guests, Mrs. Joseph Gaut and Mrs. Hugh Sanford, of Knoxville.

Thirty-five ladies enjoyed an elegant hospitality, and the house was attractively decorated for their reception, with handsome foliage plants and carnations in their several colors. In the dining room the table centerpiece was of Richmond roses, and the silver candlesticks burned red candles under silver lace shades, while all the details of appointment were in red and silver.

Garland Girls.

Y. W. C. A. Notes.

The class in expression, under the direction of Mrs. G. B. Franklin, met Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. This is one of the largest and most enthusiastic classes that are now being conducted at the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Daisy E. Eckert, general secretary, will conduct her Bible class at the factory of Nunnally & McCrea Wednesday at noon.

The Y. W. C. A. Bible class will meet at the association rooms Wednesday evening at 8:45 o'clock.

Chicken and Dressing.
Rice and Gravy.
Creamed Potatoes.
Candied Yams. Baked Beans.
Waldorf Salad.
Home-made Apple Pie. Fruit Salad.
Cranberry Sauce.
Coffee, Tea, Hot Chocolate, Sweet Milk and Buttermilk.

Bridge Luncheon.

Miss Carrie Peabody entertained delightfully at bridge yesterday morning in compliment to Miss Jennie D. Harris and her guests, Miss Manning and Miss Wilson, and to Miss Louise Buttolph, of Columbus.

Miss Emogene Thorn and Miss Wilson won the prizes, silk stockings, and the game was followed by a delicious luncheon.

Afternoon Bridge.

Miss Georgia Watts gave a pretty card party yesterday in compliment to Miss Natalie Taylor, a bride-elect, and to Mrs. Charles H. Rhoades, of Kansas City, the guest of Mrs. Edgar Dunlap.

The house had effective decoration in palms and red carnations, and the valentine idea was prettily carried out in score cards and other details.

Miss Haverty's Luncheon.

Miss May Haverty gave a pretty luncheon of ten covers yesterday at the Capital City club in compliment to two charming visitors, Miss Fitzpatrick, the guest of Miss Katherine Lovette, and Miss Burke, the guest of Miss Bessie Brady.

The table had as its centerpiece a tall cut glass vase of Killarney roses, and smaller vases of pink sweet-peas, with glass chains festooned from one to another completed a pretty central theme of decoration. The place cards were rose valentines.

Miss Haverty wore a becoming gown of blue crepe embroidered in gold, with a black picture hat. Miss Fitzpatrick wore a smart costume in black and white. Miss Burke wore a royal blue satin and her hat was trimmed with white plumes.

Musicale at the Settlement Home.

The musicale given at the Settlement Home last Thursday evening in the interest of the night school, under the direction of Mrs. Henry H. Tucker and her committee, was a splendid success.

Mrs. G. B. Franklin, in her most charming manner, gave "Flossie of the Wash Tub" and the "School Entertainment."

The ladies' quartet rendered very beautifully two selections, as did Mrs. Eula Hunter and Mr. Webster. The Wesley Memorial orchestra also contributed to the pleasure of the evening.

Misses Terrell Entertain.

A pretty affair of yesterday was the afternoon tea given by Misses Nora, Annie and Sarah Terrell in compliment to their attractive guest, Miss Helen Crooks, of Meridian, Miss.

Their home in Decatur had an effective decoration in ferns and meteor roses, and red and green were the colors repeated in dainty details of hospitality. Delicious refreshments were served from the dining room, and there the table was picturesque in red, its centerpiece of roses.

Miss Nora Terrell was becomingly gowned in white satin draped with point d'esprit, and Misses Annie and Sarah Terrell wore becoming white gowns. Miss Crooks wore a lace gown embroidered in gold.

For Miss Chapman.

Mr. and Mrs. John McGaughey entertained Tuesday evening at their home at a heart party in compliment to their guest, Miss Kate Chapman, of Buford, Ga.

As each guest entered they were handed a heart card and a valentine, by which partners were chosen for the contest.

The prizes were won by Mrs. H. K. Chapman and Mr. Joseph Brightwell.

After the game delicious refreshments were served in the dining room, where the table had for a centerpiece a cut glass vase, filled with pink carnations.

The ices and cakes were in the shape of pink hearts.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Connally, Miss Ethel Austin, Miss Ruth Chapman, Miss Kate Chapman, Mrs. A. Pouncey, Mrs. Nat Dulce, of Belton, Ga.; Mrs. W. B. Brogdon, of Buford, Ga.; Mr. Sam Chapman, Mr. Joseph Brightwell, Mr. Cecile Greer and Mr. Woolley.

Maccabee State Rally.

A state rally of the Ladies of the Maccabees will be held at 12 West Alabama street on Thursday and Friday, February 15 and 16. A large delegation of ladies from the different hives throughout the state is expected to be present on this occasion and the ladies of the local hive have under the efficient management of Mrs. Helen L. Bunt, a prominent Maccabee leader, worked hard during the past few weeks to perfect themselves in the beautiful ritualistic floor work.

Miss Bina M. West, supreme commander of the L. O. T. M. of the World, will be the guest upon this occasion and her visit is looked forward to with much pleasant anticipation, as it will be her first visit to Georgia in her official capacity.

Heath-Aldred.

Mrs. D. T. Heath announces the marriage of her daughter, Ida Eula, to Mr. Clarence Jefferson Aldred on Sunday afternoon, February 11, at the Central Baptist church, Dr. Robertson officiating.

JERSEY LABOR LEADERS CALL ON GOV. WILSON

Trenton, N. J., February 13.—Officers and members of the executive board of the New Jersey State Federation of Labor called upon Governor Woodrow Wilson today and discussed pending legislation, in which labor organizations are interested. Later the federation representatives adopted resolutions indorsing the governor's attitude with respect to organized workers.

The preamble sets out that "information has reached the workers of New Jersey that efforts are being made to place his excellency, Governor Wilson, in a false position as to his attitude toward organized labor." Sixteen laws passed in 1911 and signed by Governor Wilson are then cited as being of vital interest to wage-earners.

The State and the Fool.

(Robert Sloss, in Harper's Weekly.)

Many still look upon the village drunkard, the village idiot, the half-witted bound girl, with indulgent tolerance. If the reader wishes to understand what a menace to society all these are, let him read R. L. Dugdale's thin little volume, "The Jukes."

Even medical inspection as at present constituted in our public schools is inadequate to detect and remedy these borderland states. Consider the case of Albert. He is a large, strong boy of 17. His physical development is about normal for his age. He talks fluently, reads well, and writes a good, flowing business hand. In a good many business houses it would be rather easy for Albert to get a position on the ordinary tests that are applied to youths. But he could not keep it. He had been through the seventh grade in the Philadelphia public schools, and his teachers considered him ready to be promoted to the eighth grade. He uses large words and many of them. He talks about nouns and phrases and that sort of thing. But his parents noticed that, at the age of 17, Albert did not know enough to take care of himself when alone in the city, and they sent him to the training school at Vineland, where he came very near passing all the tests of mentality given him till he came to that of the Binet formboard. This consists in placing certain formed pegs in the holes which fit them. A boy of Albert's age should have done it the first time in about 15 seconds. It took him 48 seconds, and he gave himself away badly by repeatedly trying the oval peg in th oblong hole, the square in the hole for the cross, and the diamond in the hole for the triangle. This test shows more quickly than any other the mental status of a child, and, all things considered, the training school was obliged to put down 17-year-old Albert as of a mental status of nine years.

On St Valentine's day the bachelor girl always has someone to remind her that she is an old maid.

Little Items of Georgia Cities

James Cowart Announces.

Waycross, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—James Cowart, who has headed the Ware County Farmers' Union for a number of years, announced today for representative, subject to the summer primary. His is the first formal announcement for representative. Several others are expected before the week ends.

Heads Exchange Bank.

Waycross, Ga., February 13.—(Special.—N. P. Jenrette, of Floral City, Fla., formerly of Blackshear, has been elected president of the Exchange bank, of Waycross, to succeed W. H. Buchanan, resigned. Dr. Buchanan gave up the position because his other business interests demanded more time than his bank duties allowed. Mr. Jenrette is a well-known banker and will doubtless prove an active addition to the business men of Waycross. He is the second bank president Florida has furnished Waycross within as many years, L. J. Cooper leaving Tampa to accept the presidency of the First National bank in 1911.

To Superintend A., B. & A.

Waycross, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—A. Mortiz, trainmaster for the Atlanta and West Point at Montgomery, has been chosen superintendent for the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic to succeed G. C. Smith, who tendered his resignation several weeks ago. Mr. Smith goes to Brunswick shortly to engage in business. Mr. Mortiz will have headquarters at Fitzgerald.

W. W. Dykes Announces.

Americus, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—Announcement this morning of the candidacy of William W. Dykes for judgeship of the city court of Americus insures a spirited contest for that office, William M. Harper having announced already. Mr. Dykes was formerly representative from Sumter in the legislature and stands prominently at the Americus bar. Five candidates are likewise announced this morning for county commissioners, three to be elected, and that contest will be interesting likewise. Opposition has developed for several of the county offices and a heated campaign is progressing.

Date for Bond Election.

Americus, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—March 20 was named at last night's meeting of council as the day for an election to be held to decide whether the city will issue bonds to the amount of $60,000 for the establishment of a municipal electric light plant and the installation of water meters throughout the city. The local lighting company and citizens interested therein financially and otherwise will fight the proposed bond issue for a municipally-operated plant and a warm contest is assured.

Harp Shot by Negro.

Americus, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—In a general altercation among negroes on the Simmons plantation near Americus Roy Harp, superintendent of the plantation, was shot through the arm by a negro, while Albert Johnson, colored, an innocent bystander, was shot dead. There was a row on among the negroes and Harp was attempting to quiet it by wresting the pistol from the negro creating the trouble. In this attempt he was accidentally shot through the arm, the bullet producing a painful wound.

Rev. S. G. Hutton Called.

Fitzgerald, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—The First Presbyterian church of this city, which has been without a pastor for several months, yesterday extended a call to Rev. S. Gordon Hutton, his pastorate beginning with the service yesterday. Rev. Hutton comes from Gotha, Fla.

Preparing for Shriners.

Fitzgerald, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—Fitzgerald is already making preparations for the visit of the Shriners on Tuesday, February 27. Visitors are expected from all parts of the United States, and everyone is interested in giving them a royal welcome.

Baptist Church Under Way.

Fitzgerald, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—The new $25,000 Baptist church is well under way, the first dirt being shoveled out by the pastor, Rev. T. M. Calloway, and members of the church. Among those wielding the spade were: Mrs. E. J. Dorminy, Mrs. D. B. Ware, Mrs. L. Kennedy, Mrs. J. B. Seanor, Mrs. J. E. Mercer, Mrs. C. A. Johnson, Mrs. M. W. Garbut, Mrs. M. M. Stephens and little Gladys Stephens.

Essay Subject Announced.

Athens, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) The subject for the annual prize essay contest by the public school pupils of Georgia for the Daughters of the Confederacy winnings has been announced—"The Battle of Shiloh." It is believed that fully 2,000 Georgia school boys and girls will enter this year to win the prize for the best essay on this great battle of the war between the states.

Five Conventions in Athens.

Athens, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) Next week there will be no less than five conventions in Athens. The first district meeting of the Knights of Pythias, H. B. Bible, of Lavonia, president; the Kibla Temple ceremonial, James W. Austin, of Atlanta, presiding, and Rev. Russell K. Smith, of Atlanta, in charge; the sixteenth division meeting of the Odd Fellows, A. B. Carter, of Athens, district deputy, and the division meet of the I. O. O. F. encampments, C. A. Von der Lieth, of this place, deputy grand patriarch.

Dr. Hill's Anniversary.

Athens, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) Rev. Dr. E. L. Hill, who came to the First Presbyterian church here from Eufaula, celebrated today the fifth anniversary of his assuming the pastorate of this congregation—one of the largest and wealthiest in the state. An average of one new member a Sunday for the entire five years has been the showing of increase in membership. A six-thousand-dollar debt has been paid off the church, a handsome new manse bought, Lane chapel built, three missionaries are supported in the foreign field, an assistant pastor for home mission work is paid, and much more than $50,000 has been raised for all purposes in the five years' time.

To Dine Bishop Nelson.

Rome, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) The laymen of St. Peter's Episcopal church will give Bishop Nelson a supper at the Cherokee hotel next Saturday night at 8 o'clock. All the male members of the church are invited. The bishop and others will give interesting talks at the time.

Hog Cholera in Butts.

Jackson, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—Hog cholera has infested Butts county and is doing a great deal of damage throughout the county. The planters of the upper section of the county have lost hundreds of hogs within the last ten days as the result of the contagion which started in that section. One farmer alone has lost forty hogs from the disease since the 1st of February. He valued his hogs at several thousand dollars and the loss falls heavily upon him. The disease is said to be spreading rapidly and the state agricultural department has been appealed to for a supply of serum with which to check the epidemic.

Funds for Rabun Gap.

Cuthbert, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—The Stonewall Jackson chapter, U. D. C., of this city celebrated Lee's birthday yesterday with a silver tea, at which a nice sum was raised for the Rabun Gap school, which is being fostered by these organizations of the state.

Committee Meets Saturday.

Cuthbert, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) Robert L. Moye, chairman of the county exective committee, has called a meeting of this committee to meet in Cuthbert next Saturday for the purpose of fixing a date for the county primary election. Already numerous candidates have announced for the several county offices and others are to follow. The county treasurer's office seems to be most in demand, six already having announced as candidates.

CONGRESSMAN HOUSTON WON'T ENTER PRIMARY

Nashville, Tenn., February 13.—Congressman W. C. Houston, of the fifth Tennessee district, issued a statement today declining to enter the democratic primary arranged for April 27 by the democratic committee of that district. He says the primary is without legal restrictions, and will be held by men chosen by J. C. Beasley, his opponent. He also objects to the primary on the ground that voters who participate in it are pledged to support candidates named in another primary.

Mr. Houston does not state in his declination to enter the primary whether he will run independently.

WILSON SUCCEEDS WHITNEY HUBNER

Resignation of Philharmonic Orchestra Conductor Accepted with Regret.

W. Whitney Hubner, well known in Atlanta's music circles, has resigned the position of conductor of the Philharmonic orchestra of the Atlanta Musical Association. The action was taken January 29, but was not accepted until recently, on account of vigorous efforts being made to retain Mr. Hubner, who retires on account of ill health.

He will be replaced by Mortimer Wilson, the renowned musician and composer, who will be in Atlanta throughout the present season.

In behalf of the board of directors of the Atlanta Music Association, Francis H. Knauff, secretary of the organization, has written a letter to Mr. Hubner, expressing the great regret felt because of his resignation, and stating their sorrow because of conditions compelling its acceptance.

SEEKING EASY MONEY HE LOSES WHAT HE HAD

The "con" man, his accomplice and the poor lad from the country were all present in the city court of Atlanta Tuesday morning. The principals were all colored.

It was the old, old tale of the pocketbook and the big bill, too large to be changed by the villain. The negro boy had just come to town. Invited to take a near-beer he accepted and immediately became confused.

He and his new-found friend stepped outside the saloon and just at that moment another man picked up a ladies' pocketbook, containing, the "con" man told the victim, a one hundred dollar bill. The victim was told a man around the corner would change it, but lacked $10 of the whole amount, therefore the victim "came across" with the ten, for which he was to receive $30. The man who went after the change never came back. The new friend also disappeared.

Two days later the "con" man was discovered, and on Tuesday he received a gift of $200 or 12 months from Judge Calhoun. The country boy, like all cases that are really true, came out in the rear after all, for he was out his $10, out his railroad fare from home when he came to prosecute the guilty man, and did not even receive witness fees.

FAILED TO MAKE GOOD AND BLEW OUT BRAINS

Dallas, Texas, February 13.—Walter Warren, who came here about a week ago from Los Angeles, blew his brains out in a local hotel here today. On the table in his room was this note:

"I have tried to make good here and failed. Perhaps I can make good there. W. W."

Warren's business card had printed on it "Walter Warren, Los Angeles, Cal., Investments."

Robert J. Collier, president of the Aero Club of America, has gone to Panama with a biplane, two expert aviators and a photographer, and will try to cross the isthmus in an aeroplane.

CONSCIENCE-STRICKEN WOMAN SENDS TAFT A DOLLAR BILL

Washington, February 13.—A conscience-stricken woman of White Flat, Texas, has sent to President Taft a dollar bill, because a few years ago she successfully used a dollar's worth of cancelled postage stamps. She refers to the Biblical injunction to make restitution four-fold, and adds that she will send the other three dollars later. She also wrote that she hoped to meet the president in heaven.

SERIOUSNESS NEEDED EVEN BY HUMORISTS, SAYS BANGS

"You may take it from me," said John Kendrick Bangs, who lectrued in Atlanta Monday night, "unless a writer can express himself as well in serious words as when writing a purely humorous article, he will never achieve any lasting fame. There must be some intellectual content, not merely fooling and funning. In 'The Idiot,' I have tried to express some sensible propositions, so much so that I fear a good many people have wondered why he was called 'humorous' at all."

The black, bright eyes of the "salubrity" now visiting Atlanta sparkled. "A little story coming from North Carolina will illustrate this. A village child there answered to the name of 'I-Oi-Ot.' His mother, being question-'I-Di-Ot.' His mother, being question-name, replied, 'I read a book once about a fellow they called "The I-DI-Ot," and he was aiways so cheerful, and good-natured, I just thought I'd name the boy after him.' Her pronunciation may have been at fault, but she had the idea.

"Now, that Mark Twain is gone, I think Dunne and George Ade are the logical men as his successors. Both men know the value of the implanted idea, which unconsciously the reader imbibes."

Our Prices and Plans

Attractive to Business Men

This is proven by the rapid strides of our business and the number of transactions that we have with business men who carefully consider before they purchase property.

Our plans are clean cut, based upon accurate business principles carefully figured, and assure against loss or dissatisfaction.

Our diamonds are as cashable as a certified check at any time within one year of purchase, as we guarantee to buy back at ninety cents on the dollar. We also take back our diamonds at full purchase price in part payment on larger stones at any time and allow in addition any meantime advance in price, as we think this gain belongs to our customers.

This means that you can wear a hundred-dollar diamond a whole year at a cost of less than a dollar a month, or that it is worth a hundred-dollar bill to you whenever you want to gratify your taste for a larger diamond, and that you receive the benefit of any advance in values.

Isn't it gratifying to be constantly assured of the value of your property?

Quality and weight, prices really the lowest, all in plain figures from which we never vary, is doubly assuring and argues contented possession.

Our prices are figured without regard for the profit of a single sale, but to make satisfied customers and to realize from the greater amount of business.

Our plans for deferred payments are offered for those who may not want to pay all cash. You can own a nice diamond upon payment of 1-5 down and divide the remainder into as many as ten monthly notes.

Our Diamond Book No. 7 goes into careful detail and is full of valuable information. We want you to have it—free upon request.

ARRESTS BROTHER AFTER TWO YEARS

Lengthy Deliberation Causes B. B. Smith to Charge L. W. Smith With Theft.

Macon, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) "I thought the matter over for two years and then decided that, inasmuch as a crime had been committed, the law should be vindicated," stated B. B. Smith, a prominent Houston county farmer, in explaining today why he had issued warrants against his brother, L. W. Smith, of Macon, charging him with the theft of some fertilizer and with stealing several head of cattle.

L. W. Smith is in the Bibb county jail at present, serving a three-months' sentence for violating the state prohibition law, but will be released tomorrow. He will be immediately served with the warrants issued against him today by his brother.

Farmers Gather in Macon.

Macon, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) The leading farmers of Georgia, hundreds in number, will gather in Macon this week as the result of the meeting here of three different associations. Tomorrow the executive committee of the Georgia State Agricultural society, comprising 33 members for every section of the state, will convene in annual session, presided over by President John W. L. Brown, of Cartersville. Thursday the annual convention of the Georgia branch of the Farmers' union will meet, with probably 300 members here. President R. F. Duckworth, of Union City, will preside. On the same day representatives, mostly the presidents and secretaries of twenty county fair associations will convene for the purpose of organizing a State Association of Fairs, designed to promote their mutual interests. All meetings will be held in the auditorium of the chamber of commerce.

Negro Chauffeur Is Shot.

Macon, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) Ed Burgess and Harry Daniels, negro chauffeurs for two of the most prominent families of the city, engaged in an altercation in Orange street this morning, with the result that the latter is now at the city hospital with three bullets in his body. He is expected to die. The shooting took place in front of the Navarro flats and caused great excitement.

Mrs. J. E. Crossland Dies.

Macon, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) Mrs. Mary R. Crossland, formerly a resident of Macon, died this morning at the home of her son in Louisville, Ky., after a brief illness. She is survived by the following children: James E. Crossland, Louisvile, Ky.; Mrs. Walter Adams, of Florida; Mrs. R. V. Nottingham, of Macon; Mrs. James Phillips, of Macon, and Judge Dan Crossland, of Albany. She was the widow of the late J. E. Crossland, who was one of the leading planters of south Georgia, and for many years a resident of this city. The body will arrive here tomorrow afternoon at 3:45 o'clock and the funeral and interment will be held at Rose Hill cemetery.

People's Bank Opens.

Macon, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) The People's bank, on Pine street, a new banking institution, designed to accommodate the poor people of that section, and backed by Macon's leading capitalists, will formally open in the Happ building tomorrow morning.

Master Printers Organize.

Macon, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) On March 27-28 a state-wide association of master printers of Georgia, to be known as the Georgia Printers' Cost Congress, will be organized at a convention in Macon, which is expected to be attended by several hundred printers. Preliminary plans were perfected at a meeting today of twenty printers from various parts of the state. Those from Atlanta were C. P. Byrd, S. A. Kyser, J. W. Aldridge, W. O. Foote, R. C. Darby and W. R. Bean.

Old Reservoir to Go.

Macon, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) The water board has decided, in response to petitions, to dismantle the old water reservoir on Orange street, one of teh landmarks of Macon. It was erected many years ago at enormous expense, but it is now merely an encumbrance and in the way. The work will begin in a few days.

WIREGRASS MEN MEET IN ALBANY

Albany, Ga., February 13.—(Special.) Southwest Georgia's big "get together" meeting, the first of its kind ever attempted in this section of the state, will begin tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The forenoon meeting will be followed by afternoon and evening sessions, the latter taking the form of a banquet in the Guards' armory, on the top floor of the city hall.

Many of the most prominent business and professional men in southwest Georgia will attend the meeting, and more than a dozen will deliver addresses. Every county and all the important towns in the southwestern part of the state will be represented, and a permanent organization will be formed. Among the prominent Georgians who will speak at the morning and afternoon sessions are W. G. Cooper, secretary of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; W. E. Aycock, of Moultrie; W. H. Schroeder, of Atlanta; Herbert C. White, of DeWitt; W. W. Banks, of Tifton; St. Elmo Massengale, of Atlanta; E. B. Adams, of Albany, and John W. Greer, of Tifton.

The speakers at the banquet will be John A. Davis, president of the Albany Chamber of Commerce; Fred J. Paxon, of Atlanta; Judge J. Hansell Merrill, of Thomasville; Hon. W. L. West, of Valdosta; W. C. Vereen, of Moultrie; W. A. Winburn, vice president of the Central of Georgia railway; Colonel John E. Donalson, of Bainbridge; E. A. Nisbet, of Americus, and H. T. McIntosh, of Albany. Mayor H. A. Tarver will act as toastmaster.

The meeting has been called for the purpose of bringing the towns and cities in the southwestern section of the state into closer relationship, and by maintaining an organization such as will be formed tomorrow, seek to promote the agricultural, industrial and other interests of the section.

PRISONER ACQUITTED; WITNESS FOUND GUILTY

Savannah, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—Acquitting the prisoner, but finding the witness guilty of malicious prosecution, was the unusual action of a judge of the superior court today. Deputy Game Warden C. W. Barber, Jr., was on trial on a charge of attempting to murder Charles R. Greene, a city fireman, by shooting at him when an arrest was made January 9. Greene and his companion, G. E. Davis, were caught hunting without a license and a few days later they plealed guilty in the city court.

As a retaliatory measure, Greene swore out a warrant against the deputy game warden, charging him with attempting to kill him. Barber had witnesses to swear that all he did was to draw his revolver when he made the arrest west of the city, and that he did not draw his revolver until the young men had tried to escape by running.

Greene showed considerable feeling against the prisoner, who is a duly authorized deputy game warden and has a license to carry a pistol. The prosecuting witnesses admitted they were out hunting in violation of the law.

There was no charge of malicious prosecution against Greene, but the jury evidently wished to put its disapproval upon the proceeding with an emphasis, so the verdict was written as follows: "We, the jury, find the defendant not guilty, and find the prosecutor guilty of malicious prosecution.

RAILROAD MUST PAY LARGE FINE

Five thousand dollars is the size of the fine which the Wadley Southern must pay the state, under a decision of the state supreme court rendered yesterday in the case of the Wadley Southern Railroad Company against the state.

The Wadley Southern is owned by the Central of Georgia. This road refused to accept freight shipments from the Macon, Dublin and Savannah at Rockledge, a junction point, destined for consignees at Adrian, unless the freight to Rockledge was prepaid.

Now the same requirements was not made when freight was shipped around by the Central of Georgia to Wadley, and by the Wadley Southern direct to Adrian, and the merchants of Adrian entered a protest to the railroad commission, declaring this to be an unjust discrimination.

The commission ordered the Wadley Southern to accept freight for Adrian and other points from the Macon, Dublin and Savannah on the same terms on which it accepts it from the Central at Wadley. This the Wadley Southern refused to do, and the governor ordered suit brought against the company for the penalty of $5,000 fixed by the law of 1907.

In the superior court of Jefferson county the contention of the Adrian merchants and the railroad commission was sustained and the fine was imposed. The supreme court has now affirmed this decision and the Wadley Southern must not only pay, but must in future accept freight shipments tendered by a competing line on the same terms as those on which it accepts it from the Central of Georgia, which owns it.

Fruit Rate Order Blocked.

Washington, February 13.—On application of the Florida East Coast railway the commerce court today granted a temporary injunction restraining the interstate commerce commission from enforcing its order reducing freight rates on citrus fruits and vegetables to Jacksonville and other basing points in Florida.

JUDGE ADJOURNED HIS COURT AND THRASHED HIS INSULTER

Midland, Texas, February 13.—Recalling the days of Roy Bean, the famous justice of the peace, who a number of years ago was known as "all the law west of the Pecos," Judge J. H. Knowles, of the commissioner's court here, today laid aside his official dignity long enough to hold a fistic battle.

During the session, Judge Knowles presiding, made an assertion regarding a previous ruling of the court. Inasmuch as the commissioner's court is a county tribunal of considerable importance in the county, comments on its rulings are not to be lightly made, even by the presiding justice. So thought Commissioner Jule Driver, who was present. No sooner had the offending remark been made than he rose and exclaimed:

The court did not hesitate.

"This court will stand adjourned," announced Judge Knowles, "until I whip the man who just now called me a liar."

Then it happened. Those who witnessed the fight say the judge scored the greatest number of pugilistic points. A few minutes later the judge reconvened court, fined himself for fighting and paid the fine. The court then went back to work and its dignity was not further ruffled.

WHITE "TRUSTY" IS SHOT AND KILLED BY NEGRO

Savannah, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—John A. Hodges, a white convict "trusty," who was shot Sunday night at Baker's crossing, on the Isle of Hope car line, by Jesse Beach, colored, died today.

Hodges was sentenced to the chaingang some time ago for the theft of goods from Cohen Hester. At the time of the shooting Hodges and Cohen Belber, another "trusty," who had just left the convict camp, walked to Baker's crossing. The two men encountered several negroes, one of whom—Harvey Hargraves—tried to pick a quarrel with Hodges. Becoming impatient with the darkey, Hodges pushed him into the ditch. The men left the crossing but after clearing the negro settlement on the way back to the convict camp at the Brown farm, Beach, it is alleged, ran up behind Hodges and shot him.

Beach is now in jail charged with murder.

William Heys, Americus.

Americus, Ga., February 13.—(Special.)—Telegrams received in Americus announce the death of William Heys in St. Louis, where he has been engaged in business during the past eight months. Mr. Heys died of pneumonia. In response to telegrams announcing his illness his mother had hurried from Americus to his bedside, but arrived a few hours after his death. Mr. Heys left Americus last summer for the west and has since been employed there. The remains will be brought to Americus tomorrow.
